Scheme Unjustified, Tugwell Admits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—How the New Deal has constructed rural resettlement projects on which the government will lose many millions of dollars—their cost ranging as high as $20,548 per family—is shown by the testimony of Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, resettlement administrator, contained in the printed hearings of the senate appropriations committee on the 2 billion 400 million dollar 1936 deficiency bill.

Prof. Tugwell was questioned at great length in connection with the $56,864,955 rural resettlement program—that phase of his activities which consists of constructing housing projects for part time farming, full time farming, and suburban resettlement. He admitted reluctantly that there could be no justification for the family unit cost, in some instances, and a table which he inserted in the record listed nine such projects as "financially unsuccessful."

No Justification, Admits Tugwell.

Outstanding in the list of "financially unsuccessful" projects is one at Sioux Falls, S. D., which will accommodate thirteen families at a total cost of $267,124, or $20,548 a family.

"What is the justification for setting up projects where the family unit cost is as high as it is there?" asked Senator Frederick Steiwer [Rep., Ore.].

"I do not think there is any, sir," Tugwell replied.

"Are those families brought on that project on some theory of repayment?"

"They cannot possibly repay that cost."

Second Highest $11,143.

The second highest family unit cost on the "financially unsuccessful" list is $11,143 for the Tygart valley, W. Va., project designed to accommodate 170 families at a total cost of $1,894,300. The third highest is $10,370 for the Arthurdale, W. Va., project, one of those in which Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt has taken such an interest. Arthurdale is to accommodate 165 families at a total cost of $1,711,200.

Redhouse, W. Va., also is high on the list, with a family unit cost of $6,790. Originally intended to cost no more than $2,500 per family, its total cost was $1,018,948, and it accommodates 150 families. Other projects on the "financially unsuccessful" list are:

Project.	Total cost.	Families.	Unit cost.
Jersey homesteads	$1,570,061	200	$7,850
Piedmont homesteads, Georgia	423,296	50	8,460
Wolf Creek, Ga.	293,011	30	7,960
Wood Lake, Tex.	630,542	100	6,305
Bosque Farms, N. M.	724,122	74	9,796

Cannot Be Liquidated.

This table was accompanied by a footnote, reading:

"Financially unsuccessful, from the point of view of costs and the possibility of self-liquidation. The interests of homesteaders are being guarded by enlargement of the agriculture enterprise, the inducement of enterprises to establish themselves at the site and furnish employment, the formation of coöperatives for local processing of farm products, and in like ways. The investment cannot, however, be liquidated in its entirety."

Dr. Tugwell explained to the senators that he did not originate these projects, but inherited them from the old federal emergency relief administration, under Harry L. Hopkins, and the subsistence homesteads division of the Public Works administration, under Harold L. Ickes. He defended the undertakings, however, even the one at Sioux Falls, with its family unit cost of $20,548.

"An Excuse for Relief."

"I might say that it has been carried on—I think there is an excuse for it, you understand—largely as a relief work job," he said.

When questioned about Arthurdale, with the third highest unit cost, Tugwell's general counsel, Lee Pressman, explained that a vacuum cleaner factory was erected there by a private concern, but that Controler General McCarl ruled that the resettlement

HOTEL MURDER CLEWS HUNTED ON SOUTH SIDE

The police were tracing down several clews last night as they bent every effort to solve the mysterious murder of Mrs. Mary Louise Trammell, 24 years old, who was beaten to death on Saturday in a room at the State hotel, 553 South State street. The determination of the investigators to find the slayer was heightened because the crime was the third of its kind in Chicago in the last few months.

Slayer's Weapon Is Hunted.

The implement wielded by Mrs. Trammell's assailant has not been found. The nature of the wounds on her head indicates it was a heavy object, perhaps a brick such as was used by the attackers of the two other women slain here recently.

One of these two murders—that of Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, a young night club hostess—also is unsolved. Mrs. Castle was beaten to death in her room at the Devonshire hotel, 19 East Ohio street, on June 29. Her son, 7 years old, who lay in bed beside her at the time, said the assailant was a "dark man."

The other woman slain under similar circumstances was Mrs. Lillian Guild. She was fatally beaten in the former Y. W. C. A. hotel, 830 South Michigan avenue, on May 14. Thomas Starr, colored, confessed to this murder and was sentenced to 199 years imprisonment.

Hunt Slayer on South Side.

Mrs. Trammell's body was found on Sunday afternoon by her husband, Thomas, a dining car steward on the Grand Trunk railway, on his return from his regular week-end run. The police search for the slayer centered last night in south side gambling houses and cabarets.

The hunt was launched after William Schumacher, another guest in the State hotel, told of frightening away a colored prowler whom he surprised on a fire escape last Thursday night. In his flight the man dropped a note book and a laundry ticket.

The note book, filled with policy game numbers and race horse data, supplied a possible clew to the prowler's haunts in gambling houses. The laundry ticket was traced and revealed a name believed to be that of the man sought.

Suspects Are Questioned.

A colored cabaret girl told police she had met a man of this name in a south side night spot. Six other colored persons were questioned and police details were placed at the laundry and in the vicinity of gaming houses and cabarets.

Meanwhile finger print experts of the bureau of identification were examining a water pitcher and a flat iron found in Mrs. Trammell's room in search of other clews. A blood stained print was discovered earlier on the bed where she lay but it had been smeared and was of little value in the investigation.

VOTERS SWEEP QUEBEC LIBERALS FROM POWER AFTER 39 YEAR RULE

QUEBEC, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Union Nationale party, with a slogan "reform," swept into power in Quebec province tonight.

It won an overwhelming victory in the provincial elections to end the 39 domination of the Liberal party in the provincial legislature.

Premier Adelard Godbout, who succeeded Louis Alaxandre Taschereau last June, lost his own seat. Many members of his cabinet also were defeated including Lucien Dugas, speaker of the house; Wilfred Gognon, minister of commerce and industry, and Stuart McDougall, provincial treasurer.

The Union Nationale party, according to returns at midnight, won 75 seats. The liberals carried 15 constituencies in the 90 member house. The standing before the election was Liberals 48 and opposition 42.

The defeat was the first suffered by a Liberal administration in Quebec since the turn of the century. Since 1897 the province had been consistently Liberal.

The Liberals campaigned under the slogan "Keep the farmers on the farms." The Union Nationale retorted: "Reform!"

RAIN, LIGHTNING STORM SWEEPS CHICAGO AREA

Heavy thundershowers fell early today in many parts of the Chicago area, bringing more welcome moisture to city gardens and suburban farms. The rain was accompanied by a severe electrical storm, and the fire department responded to four reports of buildings struck by lightning. These were at 3017 Seminary avenue, 2306 North Latrobe avenue, 2135 Grenshaw street, and 2144 Washburne avenue.

The Seminary avenue place is an old 3 story residence owned by Adolph Wolf, who has lived there for 60 years. Three families were driven out by the fire and the loss was $2,000. Damage was slight at the other places.

The showers were heaviest in the central and southern parts of Chicago and south and west suburbs, with the north shore district receiving only a light fall.

Police Pursue Chico—Armed with Bananas!

Unless something is done pretty quickly about Chico, the dignity of the River Forest police department is going to be permanently impaired. The Chico detail in the suburb was increased to six men yesterday, but in spite of two-way radio cars, gas guns, and other modern crime fighting devices, Chico was still making monkeys of the cops.

Force and strategy alike have failed. Police Chief Carl Soderlin said there has been some talk of calling in the G-men, but he has hesitated at this drastic step.

"We're afraid they'd kill Chico, he explained, "and if we ever catch him we can use him as a first baseman on the police ball team."

How Chico Got Away.

Chico is a small monkey. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Heidecke, 147 Thatcher avenue, River Forest, bought him several months ago as a pet for their small daughter. On Friday, while Mr. Heidecke was cleaning his cage, Chico made a successful bolt to liberty.

Since monkeys are among the animals who come under the current rabies ban in Cook county, the police were notified at once. Policemen Walter Gray and Charles Wilson were told to restore Chico to his cage. They found Chico in a crab apple tree. When Gray tossed a crab apple at the little beast, Chico caught it and sent it back with force and accuracy. Whether because Chico was a smaller target or because he is a better marksman, the police came out second best in the exchange of missils.

With the Greatest of Ease.

When they attempted to close in, Chico skipped gayly to an electric light wire, swung through a couple of trees, and vanished—with the greatest of ease.

Thereafter the principal trafic on the two way police radio system consisted of citizens' reports on Chico's whereabouts, followed invariably by confessions from squad members that the malefactor had eluded them again. Irate citizens called the police to complain that Chico was rapping on their bedroom windows at unearthly hours.

By yesterday Chico's appearances were the signal for a gathering of all the youngsters in the neighborhood. Since some person has taught him to make gestures of derision with his thumb, his subsequent dealings with the police have done little to increase the dignity of the men sent to apprehend him.

The police sought to tempt him with bananas. He took the fruit, retreated swiftly up a tree, and pelted them with the skins. Now every squad car in the suburb is carrying a consignment of fruit along with its tear gas and other lethal weapons.

Mrs. Heidecke brought forward a new stratagem yesterday afternoon. She soaked some food in wine and left it near Chico's abandoned cage. The police are waiting breathlessly for the curse of drink to lay their foe low.

GOV. OLSON RETURNS TO ROCHESTER CLINIC FOR MORE TREATMENT

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Gov. Floyd B. Olson late today was taken by airplane from his summer home at Gull lake, near Brainerd, to Rochester, where he again went under the care of Mayo clinic physicians who had treated him for a stomach ailment.

"Gov. Olson returned from his home at Gull lake at 6:47 p. m. today," said a bulletin. "His condition is not critical. Further operation is not contemplated. He returned here because facilities at his Gull lake home are inadequate for treatment."

Clinic physicians, who declined to permit use of their names, later said, however, that the governor's illness "could be termed very serious."

The governor was dilerious shortly after being taken to his room, but recovered soon. Physicians refused to comment on a report that a blood transfusion was planned Tuesday to build up the governor's strength.

Released from the hospital nine days ago, Gov. Olson had been at his Gull lake summer home since then. He had been at the hospital following an operation for insertion of a tube into his stomach as a step in the treatment of the stomach ailment for which he underwent an exploratory operation Dec. 29 and later took radium treatments.

Reliable sources state the governor had experienced difficulty in assimilating nourishment through the tube in his stomach.

Wire, Nails, and Glass Diet Fatal to Farmer

Litchfield, Ill., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—John Bauer, 53, New Douglas farmer, died yesterday. He underwent an operation recently for removal of 260 pieces of wire, nails, glass, from his stomach, swallowed in a suicide attempt.

Woman Pays, Say Teachers in 'Hug' Firing

It's still the woman who pays—at least in the Union Ridge school district out in Norwood Park. This was the assertion yesterday of two of the school teachers dismissed in the now famous case of the principal who was penalized for holding.

The principal, Charles O'Hearn, 38 years old and a bachelor, resigned after a session with the district school board at which charges first were made that he had hugged three women teachers. Since then Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, has refused to renew O'Hearn's teaching certificate, and residents of the school district, at a community mass meeting, have protested Superintendent Puffer's action.

Yesterday two of the teachers, Miss Larinda Cleary, 5033 Maypole avenue, and Miss Clarabelle Lindsay of DeKalb, told their story. They charged that the school board, of which Herman Russeau is president, used third degree methods on them.

Anonymous Writer Starts Row.

The whole affair started when someone circulated an anonymous letter in the school district, charging that Principal O'Hearn had taken a commission on some school photographs. The charge was quickly denied by the photographer who took the pictures, but Miss Cleary, Miss Lindsay and Miss Mary Hammond, 6600 Gunderson avenue, the third teacher in the school, weren't told of that.

They were called before the board and questioned at length. Not knowing exactly what the questioning was about except that it concerned O'Hearn, they said, they mentioned that the principal had occasionally put his arm about them when chatting.

"We were called to the school house and kept there from 8 until 11.30 o'clock in the evening," explained Miss Cleary. "We were questioned one by one, guarded like prisoners, and had questions fired at us so fast we never had time to answer them. The attitude of the board was that one of us had written the letter, and they wished to learn which one.

View Board as Hostile.

"We were honest about it and told how O'Hearn had put his arm around us. Then they said they would call a town meeting, and the letter and our statements would be read. The board's attitude was that it was on O'Hearn's side, and the town meeting was meant to subject us to humiliation."

The three teachers were dismissed, after O'Hearn had admitted demonstrating a fatherly attitude toward Miss Cleary and Miss Lindsay by putting his arm around them. He denied those of Miss Hammond, who is somewhat older than he, and the two other teachers.

"The board brought me a transcript of the hearing, and said that the three teachers had been dismissed for insubordination," said Superintendent Puffer. "I asked them what they were going to do about O'Hearn. They said they had been young once themselves, and that they didn't intend to do anything about him. He resigned, however, and he will not be reinstated. So far as I am concerned, the charges against him are proved."

SPANISH REBELS DIE IN PRISON FIRED BY SHELLS

SAINT JEAN DE LUZ, France, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The story of how 500 screaming rebel hostages held by government forces burned to death at Bilbao in a warehouse fire started by shells from a rebel cruiser was told here tonight by sailors of the German destroyer See-Adler.

Hundreds of others, the sailors said, were burned horribly, but were being given treatment with all the medical supplies the destroyer carried which were left with authorities at Porto Galete—the water front district outside Bilbao.

The fire was started by explosive shells from the rebel battleship Espana which over the week-end blew up huge gasoline storage tanks after heavily shelling the port.

Trapped in Warehouses.

Earlier attempts by rebels aboard the cruiser Almirante Cervera to shell the storage tanks were prevented when the defenders lined up the rebel hostages in front of them so that the attackers would have blown up their own men with a direct hit. The Cervera steamed away. A rebel plane later the same day attempted to bomb the tanks but its marksmanship was faulty.

When the Espana demolished the tanks Saturday it could not be learned whether the government defenders had again lined up hostages around them. The prisoners used as the human wall were brought from prison ships and presumably were imprisoned in dock warehouses which were made a wall of flame by the exploding gasoline. Refugees tonight reported that the entire Bilbao water front still was in flames.

TWO ARMIES LINKED

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CACERES, Spain, Aug. 17.—The Nationalist [Fascist] insurgent armies of Gen. Francisco Franco and Gen. Emilio Mola have won the battle of Estremadura [western Spain], but the civilian armies of Madrid have lost more than the province.

The series of bloody skirmishes which culminated Friday in the capture, with subsequent slaughter of defenders, of Badajoz, strategically important center on the Portuguese frontier, linked up the two insurgent capitals of Burgos and Seville by a secure corridor along the marches of the west and the two armies can now join for a combined attack on Madrid.

Rush to Counter Attack.

Realizing too late their loss, the Madrid chieftains today threw battalion after battalion of workers' militia against Merida and Badajoz in an attempt to dislodge the rebels. Prepared for the counter attack, the rebels engaged the republicans in perhaps the bloodiest battle of the month old civil war.

The real story of the fight in the west, however, was written in blood on the ancient cobblestones of Badajoz and something of even greater importance was learned by THE TRIBUNE correspondent at first hand.

It was the repetition of the lesson already demonstrated at Somosierra and Alta de Leon passes in the Guadarrama mountains north of Madrid that the discipline and organization of the rebel forces is certain to triumph over the incoherence of the armed mob in Madrid.

Fight Without Leaders.

The loyalist militia is now well armed, it has adequate man power, and the fighting spirit of the men cannot be denied. But it does not seem to have any strategical brains to direct its movements and certainly lacks executive machinery for carrying out big scale movements.

The battles in this region furnish decisive proof of this statement. Though Badajoz had been menaced for a week, Madrid took no effective steps to ward off attack. When one of Gen. Franco's columns under Col. Castejon finally entered Merida Tuesday, Badajoz was doomed because its main line of communication with Madrid was cut.

Then and only then did the Madrid command awake to the necessity of doing something. Accordingly Friday, at the same time Castejon's men were storming Badajoz, Madrid launched a desperate counter attack at Merida, hoping thus to raise the siege.

Two civilian columns, one 1,500 strong and the other 4,000 strong, both highly motorized and including artillery, cavalry, and aviation, with the spear tip of the Madrid shock troops, the pick of the workers' militia, attacked Merida Friday morning. It was probably the best armed and most efficient military force that Madrid had yet put in the field, and considering the scale on which most of the battles of the civil war have been fought, its strength in man power was enormous.

Had these two Madrid columns been sent five days earlier, Col. Castejon might never have taken Merida and consequently Badajoz—at least not without awaiting substantial reinforcements. By Friday morning, however, Castejon's rear guard had dug itself in behind solid defensive positions and the Madrid offensive was shattered against them.

Two Leaders Executed.

MADRID, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Two ringleaders of the unsuccessful Montana barracks revolt here July 20, Gen. Joaquim Fanjul and Col. José Fernandez de la Quintana, died before a firing squad today. They fell with their hands clasped. They were informed after last midnight of the sentence of a court martial. Earlier Gen. Fanjul, a 56 year old widower, was permitted to marry.

Government agents in Madrid quietly seized jewelry worth 2,000,000 pesetas [$363,000] and religious objects from the residence of the ex-minister of education, Eduardo Callejo. Another 2,000,000 pesetas' worth of religious art and allegedly incriminating documents were found in the home of the former chaplain to ex-King Alfonso.

Warships Shell Fort.

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Rebel forces attacked Irun and San Sebastian by land and by sea tonight with one column of the insurgent troops holding newly won intrenchments just outside Irun and another column locked in battle with government soldiers near Alza, only four miles from San Sebastian.

The rebel battleship Espana, a 16,000 ton vessel with 12 inch guns, at the same time directed a naval bombardment at Fort Guadalupe beside Irun. The Espana was joined in the shelling by the rebel cruiser Almirante Cervera and the destroyer Velasco. The Cervera's six inch guns were believed to have scored a direct hit on the strategic bridge over the mouth of the River Bidassoa on the highway linking Irun and San Sebastian. Fort Guadalupe had been shelling rebels at Oyarzun. The three warships then moved down the coast and shelled San Sebastian during the evening.

Prisoners Slaughtered.

The rebel attack on Irun and San Sebastian evoked mass executions of rebel hostages held by the loyalist government defenders, in bloody retaliation. Government firing squads mowed down the rebel prisoners in job lots, carrying out an ultimatum delivered to the rebel forces when the naval attack appeared imminent. There were thought to be approximately 1,200 hostages held at Irun and 700 at San Sebastian.

Irun and Fuenterrabia were in utter darkness tonight as the power plant which services them both is at Enderlaza and in rebel hands.

Rebels Claim Mallorca.

SEVILLE, Spain, Aug. 18.—[Tuesday.]—(AP)—Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, one of the Fascist rebel leaders in southern Spain, asserted in a radio broadcast early today that insurgents had defeated loyalists on the Island of Mallorca, killing several hundred government troops. All the other loyalists who landed to invade the Balaeric Islands in the Mediterranean were captured, De Llano declared.

[Earlier Madrid had claimed a landing party of 500 under Capt. Bayo held a large portion of the Mallorcan coast.]

BOY INJURED IN FALL.

Jack Palazzolo, 10 years old, 2846 Van Buren street, was injured critically yesterday when he climbed a power line pole in an alley near his home, touched a live wire, and fell 20 feet to the ground.

White Terror Grips Granada; Draw Lots to Name Victims

BY JAY ALLEN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 17.—If in Malaga—held by loyalists—it is a Red terror; in Granada it is a white terror.

And it is raging. On the authority of two friends, trained observers with no political bias, I can state that the rebel military controlling Granada every night and morning draw by lots the names of Republican and Socialist prisoners to be shot in reprisal for government air raids.

"Trucks thundered up Alhambra hill every morning and night past the hotel," my friends told me. "From the windows we could see civilian prisoners handcuffed and under armed guard. The trucks would go on up to the cemetery past the Alhambra. They came down empty save for the guards.

To Death by Dozens.

"Sometimes they would carry 30 or 40 men. The day the Washington Irving hotel was bombed, the papers announced that 18 prisoners were shot in retaliation. The unofficial figure was 60. The average, morning and evening, is about ten. No favoritism was shown between Republicans, Socialists and Syndicalists [all supporters of the Madrid Popular Front government]," my informant told me.

With government planes bombing Alhambra hill, there seemed some slight justification. Two cannon were mounted in the Alhambra itself during the rebel bombardment—opposite the hill of Albaicin where the Popular Front forces held out for three days. Troops and machine guns occupied the famed towers of Comares and Damas, part of the palace of Moorish kings.

There were no anti-aircraft guns in Granada, but two light field pieces were mounted in front of the Washington Irving hotel, which was headquarters for the Fascist [rebel] military.

Refused to Buy an Ear.

An American who was talking to one of the Moroccan Foreign legionnaires suddenly found himself offered a human ear for one peseta [13 cents]. It was a bargain, but he turned it down.

Hundreds of Republican sympathizers in Granada, fearing arrest, joined the Fascist militia, hoping some day to be able to make their own use of the guns they were given.

The first day of the rebellion [July 18], when the masses fought in Granada streets, my friends saw a hearse that had a capacity of 20 bodies make 26 trips to the cemetery. They set the dead, excepting victims of the white terror, at over 1,000.

Americans who were evacuated from Granada told of a party of French students, out of funds and unable to get credit at rooming houses, who were daily insulted by rebel officials because of the sympathy Premier Leon Blum of France has been showing Madrid.

REPORTS AMERICAN VESSEL FIRED ON BY SPANISH SUBMARINE

Boston, Mass., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The master of an American freighter reported today how ten days ago his vessel had been boarded by Spanish government forces from a submarine after a shot across the bows gave the order to heave to.

In from Mediterranean ports, Capt. W. W. Kuhne of the American export liner Excambion told officials of the line here:

"On Aug. 8, while off the Spanish coast north of Cape Sabinal [near Almeria], we were hailed by a submarine. We gave the ship's name, our port of departure, and our port of destination. We proceeded on our course, but were followed by the submarine, moving about us in an unintelligible way.

"After two hours a shot was fired at us by the submarine," continued the master. "We slowed down and then I ordered our vessel stopped, as a gun crew aboard the submarine was preparing to fire on us again. A fishing boat near by went over to the sub, then came alongside of us with a boarding party. We threw over a rope ladder and an officer and four men came on board. They were all heavily armed. The man in uniform was told we were a neutral. After asking a number of questions regarding our passengers, the party left the ship without molesting any of those on board."

Spanish Steamer Ordered to Stay in Mexican Port

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Spanish steamer Magallanes, which was to have sailed today for Havana and Barcelona, suspended the trip on direct orders from the Madrid government. Passengers were awaiting further advices.

REBEL CHIEFTAIN ORDERS SEVILLE TO RENEW GAYETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TANGIER, International Zone, Morocco, Aug. 17.—Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, rebel commander at Seville, tonight called on Sevillians not to wear mourning in a radio message.

"Eighty per cent of the population is wearing black," he said. "Andalusia is lovely and unhappy, but there is no reason to wear black. I call on you not to wear black whatever your grief. For he who dies for patria is born to a new and better life. Wear white. Black is unsuitable to Seville with her flowers, the blue sky, beautiful women and strong handsome men. I order you to restore the gayety of Seville and the quicker the better."

Some one approached the microphone and told Gen. Queipo audibly about the appearance of an Italian destroyer.

"Ah, those Italians, what swell fellows they have been to us," said the jovial general. "And the Portuguese, too. We are now in full contact with them since we have taken Badajoz."

ESTIMATE 700,000 NOW ENGAGED IN SPAIN'S CIVIL WAR

MADRID, Aug. 17 [By Courier to Hendaye, France].—An estimated 80 per cent of Spain's entire military strength of more than 235,000 men, it was reported today, is fighting for the rebels against the government's hastily recruited militia, a half million strong.

War department statistics available here just prior to the revolt gave the army strength on the mainland as 117,350; in Morocco, 38,000, in regulars, legionnaires, and natives. There were an additional 32,000 civil guards, 16,000 frontier guardsmen, 18,000 in the navy, and 17,000 shock police.

U. S. SILENT ON URUGUAY'S PLAN TO PACIFY SPAIN

Waits to Learn Attitude of South America.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The state department declined to make known today its attitude toward the proposal of the Uruguayan government that the 21 American republics unite in an effort to mediate the civil war in Spain.

Undersecretary of State William Phillips said the department awaits official receipt of the Uruguayan proposal. J. Richling, the Uruguayan minister, called on Phillips today and discussed the matter with him informally, but did not have the note for official delivery. It was explained the communication would come directly from the Uruguayan foreign office to the state department.

Unofficially, the opinion was expressed that the United States would withhold official comment on the proposal until the reaction of the Spanish speaking members of the Pan-American union was known.

Seen as Futile.

Under the Roosevelt administration this government has made such a point of noninterference in the internal affairs of other nations that it would be difficult to adopt any apparently contradictory policy.

In addition to the question of policy involved, officials here are fully alive to the apparent hopelessness of such a gesture, however well meant, in view of the situation in Spain.

Foreign service officers are continuing their efforts to evacuate American nationals from Spain as rapidly as possible, according to reports to the state department today. The cruiser Quincy reached Nice, France, tonight with nearly 120 Americans. Thirty-seven, including 26 women and children, were picked up yesterday at Alicante, where they had gone from Madrid. Others were picked up at Palma, Mallorca; Ibiza Island, and Barcelona.

Eric C. Wendelin, third secretary, in charge of the American embassy at Madrid, reported he has employed William Krieger of 151 North Mayfield avenue, Chicago, as clerk at the embassy for the duration of the present emergency.

[Krieger, 24 years old, is a son of Dr. Wilhelm E. Krieger, 1542 West Madison street, Chicago. The son and his mother have been living in Spain for the past six years.]

Surprise orders of the navy department sent the destroyers Kane and Hatfield to patrol duty in Spanish waters to relieve the battleship Oklahoma, which will proceed to the Pacific coast to join the United States battle fleet. The destroyers left New York today, each with 105 men and six officers.

Italians Block French Scheme for Neutrality in Civil War

ROME, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Italo-French conversations on neutrality in Spain were described tonight in informed quarters as being in a virtual stalemate.

That intimation came after Ambassador Charles de Chambrun of France and E. M. B. Ingram, the British chargé d'affaires, successively saw Foreign Minister Galeazzo Ciano. The Fascist official read a prepared statement for the press stating:

"Conversations between Italy and France are continuing. On the part of Italy there is a sincere desire for collaboration to reach an accord."

[Italy has approved in principle the nonintervention movement inaugurated by France, but Mussolini has added reservations including the suggestion that private interests be made parties to nonaid agreements.]

Cite French Official's Speech.

Fascists say Italy's viewpoint toward neutrality has been amply sustained by many manifestations abroad in recent days.

They cited such declarations as those of Roger Salengro, French minister of the interior, who at Lille voiced approval of the leftist Spanish government's struggle and expressed hope for quick success; the visit of Leon Jouhaux, French labor leader, to Madrid; and the reported continued sending of money and airplanes by several powers to Spain.

High circles said, regarding the Italian airplanes which fell in French Morocco while apparently en route to Spanish Morocco, that the Italian government had assumed an attitude of "realistic indifference" toward the planes.

They said the planes were part of all that is under discussion in the question of neutrality, but it was added they did not think it was necessary to make public what the Italian investigation of the Moroccan incident disclosed.

France Expects Reply.

PARIS, Aug. 17. — (AP) — Whether Premier Mussolini will promise to keep out of the Spanish civil war as France has besought him to do, will be made known within 48 hours, sources close to the French government said tonight.

Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos of France and Sir Robert Van Sittart, British permanent undersecretary of foreign affairs, held a long conference on the chances for success of the neutrality plan. Officials remained tight-lipped concerning the conference, but informed persons attached much significance to the fact that Van Sittart had just returned from Berlin, where he had talked with Reichsfuehrer Hitler.

Berlin Gets Spain's Reply.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The Madrid government's reply to Germany's protest against the execution of four German citizens by a Marxist tribunal at Barcelona was received in Berlin today.

"The reply may be considered satisfactory," an official government spokesman said.

However, the final decision will be made by Reichsfuehrer Hitler. If he finds the reply to the protest satisfactory Germany will accept the Anglo-French invitation to negotiate with them for a neutrality pact in the Spanish civil war.

AMBULANCE PLANE OF VINCENT SHEEAN PAUSES IN FRANCE

DIJON, France, Aug. 17.—(AP)—An ambulance plane carrying Vincent Sheean, American author suffering a nervous breakdown, to Geneva, landed at Dijon tonight.

The patient was taken to a hotel. His wife waited at a sanitarium some miles outside Geneva. Physicians said Sheean needed a complete rest from a nervous condition which followed upon pneumonia, kidney, and throat trouble.

Sheean, former foreign correspondent of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, is the author of "Personal History," a best seller, and a new novel, "San Felice," which this week ranked fourth in fiction sales in the United States. He was born in Christian county, Ill., Dec. 5, 1899. Among his other books are "An American Among the Him," "The Anatomy of Virtue" and "The New Persia." His home is in Paris.

BRITAIN REFUSES TO LET 5 PLANES LEAVE FOR SPAIN

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Five fast, new British airplanes, believed to have been destined for the Spanish insurgents, were held tonight at Portsmouth municipal airdrome and their owners ordered not to let them leave the country.

Swift action by the British government is believed responsible for the decision which implements the cabinet policy of requesting that no new aircraft leave for either side in the Spanish war. The planes were recently completed at the works of the Airspeed company, located on the Portsmouth airdrome, and just sold privately in London.

The pilots, who were to have flown them to Spain, had not arrived at Portsmouth late tonight. Officials at the airdrome said that the detention was for one night only, but the general belief is that the planes will be kept in England indefinitly.

KING EDWARD TURNS BARTENDER AND MIXES UP A NEW COCKTAIL

Before going swimming this afternoon the British monarch, who is making a leisurely cruise in the Adriatic aboard the yacht Nahlin, gave the stewards of Dubrovnik's leading hotel four hours' notice to lay in liberal supplies of ingredients and trimmings. On his return from the swim he presided at the bar, dressed in a blue sailor shirt and white slacks.

His exact recipe was not learned, but waiters who lauded the king's finesse at mixing reconstructed from the ingredients he ordered and used the following approximation of the drink: One-third of gin, a small quantity of sugar and ice, two jiggers of Dalmation liquor resembling chartreuse, Dalmation champagne, and various fruits, including olives and lemon peel.

GUNS OF GERMAN SHIP AID RESCUE OF 50 FOREIGNERS

NAPLES, Aug. 17.—(AP)—German marines were reported today to have evacuated 50 foreigners of various nationalities from Ibiza in the Balearic Islands as a destroyer's guns pointed at the island. Details of the evacuation were given by the refugees who arrived here today aboard the German destroyer Schleswig.

Refugees said 500 loyalists from Barcelona arrived at the island last week and molested foreigners.

SECOND LAWYER ADMITS 9 NEW ESCROW FRAUDS

Clarence Bales Licensed in Tennessee, Not Here.

State's attorney's investigators gained a confession last night from an eighth member of the ring that has perpetrated swindles in the escrow funds in the offices of the clerks of the Circuit and Superior courts. The confession uncovered nine new frauds in the two courts, involving about $7,900.

The eighth conspirator who confessed is Clarence Bales, 50 years old. He is licensed as an attorney in Tennessee but not in Illinois. He maintains offices at 105 North Clark street. The exact nature of his business at that address was not learned, but he is reported to have made frequent appearances in court.

$10,000 Loot in 10 Frauds.

Eugene J. O'Connor, investigator for the state's attorney, said that Bales admitted complicity in ten frauds, which netted him and his associates $10,000. One of the swindles, which previously came to light in the investigation, was the taking of $2,100 from the office of Frank V. Zintak, clerk of the Superior court, in December, 1933.

Details of the other nine frauds confessed by Bales were not disclosed. With the $17,715 involved in the six cases previously investigated [including the $2,100 steal] and the $7,900 in the nine new frauds, the fraud ring's known loot totals $25,615. In addition to the eight conspirators already in custody the investigators are seeking two other men.

Name Forged to Petition.

James Tilton, 74 years old, a disbarred attorney, leader of the conspirators, and Benjamin Shear, a WPA worker, another member of the ring, have confessed to parts in the $2,100 swindle.

This fraud was one of the most audacious of those committed. It involved funds in dispute in a suit brought by Anna M. Kuhn against Emma Schones in 1920. A man named James Murphy intervened in the case.

According to the investigators, the conspirators forged Murphy's name to a petition and served notice on Clerk Zintak on Dec. 20, 1933, that they would appear before the late Judge Robert E. Gentzel of the Superior court and claim the money. This they did three days later, got a court order releasing the fund, received a check from Zintak's office and cashed it two months later.

Strange Goings-on in Hunt.

The investigators yesterday opened Tilton's safety deposit box in the First National bank of Englewood and found only an old watch in it. Then occurred a strange interlude in the case.

The investigators accompanied Tilton to his home at 6344 South Carpenter street and discovered thirty violins in one room. Tilton's wife, Dolly, sat down at the piano, playing a selection while her husband accompanied her on a violin. A laborer was called down from the roof where he was doing a shingling job and when it turned out he was a violinist, too, he played second fiddle to Tilton.

Besides Bales, Tilton, and Shear the confessed plotters are John A. Dicks, suspended acting cashier in the office of John E. Conroy, clerk of the Circuit court; Ernest Eckels and Arvil Nichols, tavern owners; Rocco De Besse, and Mrs. Margaret Allister, sister-in-law of Nichols.

Trust Funds Exceed 2¾ Million.

In an effort to prevent any future escrow frauds, Clerk Zintak announced yesterday that when any one appears at his office with a payment order signed by a judge he will notify all parties in the litigation, including attorneys, to come before the judge on a certain date before the money will be released. This precaution has been taken in the Circuit court.

Lee Howard, county auditor, said yesterday that he is examining every trust fund in the hands of county officials to determine whether any frauds have been committed and to evolve a system to safeguard against such trickery in the future. The total of the trust funds in all county departments, as of yesterday, is $2,822,441, divided as follows.

County Treasurer	$2,414,286
Superior Court clerk	178,000
Circuit Court clerk	121,000
County clerk	86,855
Juvenile Home	13,000
Criminal Court clerk	7,300
County Court clerk	2,000

Of the $2,414,286 held by County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill, about $350,042 might be susceptible to fraudulent attempts. This money represents funds held for heirs to estates, who have not claimed the money left to them in wills.

JAIL $100,000 HIJACKERS; FIVE CONFESS GUILT

Raid Food Trucks for 18 Months.

The arrest and confession of four hijackers who in the last 18 months are said to have robbed trucks in the Chicago area of sugar, groceries and other goods with an aggregate value of $100,000 was disclosed by police yesterday. Also in custody were two men accused of buying the loot. One has confessed.

Arrested with Sugar Cargo.

Hoppe, Longdon and Feht were arrested last Wednesday by Aurora police, in the possession of a hijacked cargo of sugar. The sugar was being taken to Earlville, Ill., from Chicago by Allen Fry, owner of an Earlville trucking agency. His son, Allen Jr., left Chicago first, driving the truck, and the elder Fry and his wife followed in their automobile half an hour later.

Eight miles west of Aurora the Frys met their own truck being driven toward Chicago. Fry, recognizing that the truck had been hijacked, turned, drove into Aurora ahead of the truck, and warned Chief A. G. Werz of the Aurora police. The truck was stopped and the three hijackers, who were holding the younger Fry a prisoner, were arrested.

Confess and Aid Police.

The three prisoners confessed after being questioned for some time, and agreed to help police trace the loads which they had stolen. Massa was named as a participant in some of their robberies.

Hoppe said that he had sold some of the stolen goods to Guiffre, and that Guiffre had sent him with larger shipments to his cousin, Cosentino. Cosentino bought the bulk of the stolen goods, Hoppe charged. Cosentino was recently released from jail after serving 90 days in a fraudulent bankruptcy case, Lieut. James Kerr of the Chicago detective bureau said.

Hoppe said that the gang hijacked and sold to Cosentino eight truckloads of sugar, four loads of groceries, one of beer, and one shipment of eleven tons of fresh vegetables. Cosentino paid them only $365 for the vegetables, valued at $9,000.

"Whenever we got a load," Hoppe said, "I'd call Sam and tell him. He would tell me to come to his house in an hour. When we got there he would have three men to help him and they would unload the stuff. Several times I went back there the next day and the stuff had been moved out."

Guiffre admitted his part in the operations of the gang, including the fact that he had sent Hoppe to Cosentino. Cosentino refused to talk.

A number of the shipments hijacked by the gang were in transit to destinations across state lines. The prisoners will be turned over to federal authorities for prosecution on charges of robbing interstate shipments, Lieut. Kerr said.

PADDEN WILL DECIDE ON RIGHT OF POLICE TO LOCK UP AUTOISTS

The right of park district police to take ordinary violators of traffic laws to city police station lockups instead of issuing arrest tickets is to be determined by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Traffic court. Attorneys with opposite views in the matter were instructed yesterday to submit briefs in support of their contentions.

"If I am convinced that this court can legally regulate such matters of procedure," Judge Padden said, "I shall rule that police must not jail traffic law violators except in aggravated cases, and I shall act to enforce this rule."

The court's right to make arrest regulations was challenged after Judge Padden criticized the park police for holding Joseph Wietecha, 30 years old, 5249 North Laramie, in jail for a day and a night on a charge of speeding. Wietecha was arrested at 6:30 a. m. last Thursday on a charge of driving his car 63 miles an hour in Lake Shore drive between Wilson and Lawrence avenues, and was not released on bail until Friday. Wietecha was fined $6 yesterday.

ANTELOPE FLOWN HERE; TWO WILL RIDE ZEPPELIN

A chartered airplane arrived at the Chicago airport yesterday from Pitchfork, Wyo., and out hopped 23 antelope. Two of the animals, baby prong horned antelope, were turned over to the Lincoln park zoo. The others were sheltered for the night in a large cage at the airport, and today they will be loaded into a plane for distribution to other zoos in the east. Two of the antelope will go to Germany on the Zeppelin Hindenburg. All were captured by Charles A. Belden, owner of a ranch near Pitchfork.

Howard Steffy, 20 years old, 530 Maple avenue, Wilmette, a Northwestern university student, was killed and his two companions were seriously injured when, according to witnesses who summoned police to the scene early yesterday, the young men's automobile left Green Bay road near Clavey road in Highland Park and turned over five times.

Steffy was the son of William C. Steffy, president of the United States Sales corporation, a premium advertising concern at 549 West Washington street. He was a brother of Mrs. Cornelius Peter Van Schaack Jr., of Wilmette, who was recently involved in a court fight with her estranged husband over the custody of their two children.

Injured Are Sons of Executives.

His companions who were injured are Robert Fieberg, 17 years old, 330 Greenleaf avenue, Wilmette, the son of Paul H. Fieberg, head of a printing concern at 222 West Austin street; and James Streetor, 17, of 302 Central avenue, Wilmette, whose father, Lorenzo, is Chicago district sales manager for the E. I. du Pont de Nemours company. Both are in critical condition in the Highland Park hospital.

All three occupants of the car were thrown out as the machine rolled over and over, a distance of 350 feet, before coming to a stop in an upright position, the witnesses told Policeman Wilson Richardson of Highland Park.

At an inquest conducted by Dr. Maurice D. Penney, acting coroner of Lake county, a jury brought in a verdict finding that young Steffy came to his death while driving his automobile at "a reckless rate of speed."

Visit to Tavern Recounted.

Frank Collier, 19 years old, 730 9th street, Wilmette, and Donald Dressel, 17 years old, 1046 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, testified at the inquest that they, Steffy and his two companions, and two other youths had driven to Highwood and stopped at a tavern there for some time. The fatal accident occurred after they left the tavern.

Collier said that he was driving at a rate of 45 miles an hour when Steffy's car passed his. Steffy left the road, he said, to avoid a collision on the curve with an automobile driven by the Rev. John Porter, 4011 Indiana avenue, colored pastor of a North Chicago church.

Steffy was to have returned to Northwestern university as a sophomore next month. Fieberg is about to enter his senior year at New Trier High school in Winnetka. Streetor planned to return as a senior next month to the Stearns preparatory school on Mont Vernon, N. H.

Nearly 600 Killed This Year.

From Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday, 591 persons died in Cook county traffic accidents, according to the coroner's office. In the same period 450 were killed and 11,188 injured within the Chicago city limits.

A bicyclist killed by an automobile on Sunday night at Sayre and North avenues was identified last night as Andrew Horvath, 30 years old, 2648 New England avenue, a janitor. Horvath was on his way to work at the Lake theater in Oak Park. The driver of the automobile, Joseph E. Dinet Jr., 22 years old, 5107 Eddy street, son of a heating contractor, was released.

A charge of manslaughter against Melvin Dobson of Rockford, Ill., whose truck killed Herbert Emick Jr., 14 years old, of 3946 Prescott street, Lyons, as the boy was "hitching" a ride on his bicycle on June 4, was dismissed yesterday by Justice of the Peace Frank Pavek of Berwyn.

Swedish Week Proclaimed by Mayor for Sept. 6-12

A proclamation paying tribute to Chicagoans of Swedish descent and designating the period of Sept. 6 to 12 as Swedish week, was issued yesterday by Mayor Kelly. He said the Swedish people have been in no small measure responsible for the progress of the city.

BLONDE IN GREEN PAJAMAS ONE OF 7 DRIVERS JAILED

Admits Drinking Beer at Picnic.

Six men and a woman charged with more serious violations of the traffic laws were sentenced to the county jail by Judge Joseph A. Graber in the Safety court yesterday. Three of the defendants were charged with driving while intoxicated, three with reckless driving, and one with leaving the scene of an accident.

The woman sentenced is Miss Marjorie Dunne, 41 years old, 865 East 63d street, a blonde saleswoman who was clad in green beach pajamas when she answered to a charge of drunken driving. She admitted that she had had "several glasses" of beer at a picnic in the forest preserve just before her arrest on Sunday at Howard and Paulina streets by Policeman Michael Leonard of the Rogers Park station.

Fears She'll Lose Job.

"I wasn't drunk," she testified, "and I'll lose my job if I go to jail."

"You should have thought of that before you drove your car on Sunday," Judge Graber said. "Five days in the county jail."

The others sentenced and their penalties are:

William Michalski, 50 years old, 1308 Chapin street, an express man, ten days for leaving the scene of an accident on Friday.

Five Days for Salesman.

Edmund Roman, 50 years old, 1351 Irving avenue, a real estate salesman, five days for drunken driving in connection with an accident on Saturday.

Stanley Grabowski, 22 years old, 5241 South Richmond street, five days for reckless driving in connection with an accident on Saturday.

Janitor Put on Probation.

Robert Weston, colored, 40 years old, 3428 Indiana avenue, a janitor, was put on probation for a year by Judge Graber after he admitted that he was driving his automobile on Sunday after he had drunk "too much wine." The judge commended him for his honesty and warned him not to repeat the offense.

Randolph Street Viaduct Steel Work Is Resumed

Erection of steel for the superstructure of the new Randolph street viaduct east from Michigan avenue over the Illinois Central tracks was resumed yesterday after a two weeks' delay. The first pieces of steel were put in place on Aug. 7, but work was halted immediately when it was learned the manufacturer was having difficulty fabricating an important part of the material. This arrived last week-end. The viaduct is a unit in the park district's plan to connect the north and south outer drives by bridging the Chicago river.

Program Is Unjustified, Tugwell Admits.

administration had no authority to pay for it.

"Well, the factory was paid for?" asked Senator Steiwer.

"No, unfortunately, only a part of it was paid for . . ."

"And are the creditors still unpaid?"

Creditors Go Unpaid.

"That is right. They simply were advised that any claim that they had would have to be presented to congress."

Senator Steiwer asked whether the houses had not been built on lowlands and whether it was not found necessary to install 28 miles of drainage pipe to keep the water out.

Dr. Tugwell said he could not supply that information, but that he had seen the project and "from our point of view it is very successful." "Of course," he added, "the cost was too high."

While Dr. Tugwell declined to assume responsibility for these "financially unsuccessful" projects, on the ground that they were originated by Mr. Hopkins or Mr. Ickes, he placed into the record a list of 48 projects under the classification "planned, just being started or under construction."

Cost Unit as High.

The unit cost of many of these projects, for which Dr. Tugwell must assume responsibility, is as high as the general level of the unsuccessful Ickes-Hopkins undertakings, as shown by the following:

Project.	Total cost.	Families.	Unit cost.
N. Y. Valley Farms	$ 673,023	79	$8,530
Wabash Farms, Ind.	2,288,000	200	11,440
Osage Farms, Mo.	1,641,800	150	11,940
Tuscarawas Farms, Ohio	2,176,000	200	10,880
Trussville Homsteads, Alabama	190,137	20	9,500
Wright's Plantation, Arkansas	845,750	100	8,460
Lake Dick, Ark.	687,100	80	8,590
Wichita Valley Farms, Texas	862,400	62	13,900
Highland Farms, Tex.	1,140,000	120	9,500
Casa Grande, Ariz.	891,000	80	11,140
Grand Valley, Colo.	534,790	50	10,695
Malta Homesteads, Montana	330,000	33	10,000
Yamhill Farms, Ore.	1,991,500	200	9,960
Snohomish, Wash.	1,433,406	150	9,555

Range Up to $10,000.

The other projects in the list of 48 planned or just getting started have estimated unit costs ranging from $3,500 to $10,000. If the experience of Arthurdale is duplicated, the ultimate unit costs will be much higher than the estimates, and these homes are supposed to be paid for over a 40 year period.

Aside from truck farming, the products of which will be consumed largely by the homesteaders, the occupants will have no other source of income unless small industries can be induced to locate near them. The only small industry the New Deal has succeeded in moving to a subsistence homestead to date is the vacuum cleaner factory at Arthurdale, and the controler general refused to let the resettlement administration pay for it.

NINTH BABY BORN TO TORONTO MOTHER IN $500,000 STORK DERBY

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Birth of a son advanced Mrs. Gus Graziano one stride in the "stork Derby" instead of the two she had hoped for.

The baby, born last night, is the ninth child born to the Grazianos since Oct. 31, 1926, when Charles Vance Millar died, willing about $500,000 to the Toronto mother bearing the most children in the decade after his death. The new baby was named Benito Mussolini Graziano.

The hoped for twins would have earned Mrs. Graziano a tie with Mrs. Arthur Timleck and Mrs. John Nagle, who have 10 children each. She tied with Mrs. Grace Bagnato, at least temporarily. Mrs. Bagnato expects to bring her total to 10 or more any day. Mrs. Martin Kenny claims leadership with 12 children. The other contestants, however, dispute her claim.

"As long as we keep on having boys we'll go right along having children," said Graziano. "Benito is the fourth boy in a row. As soon as we have a girl we'll sign off.

EJECTED GIRL SEEKS ACTION AGAINST PRIEST

Babylon, N. Y., Aug. 17.—[Special].—Miss Rena Breen, 21, today admitted she was the young woman who was ejected from St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church here Saturday because she wore slacks and a halter.

She visited Assistant District Attorney Lindsay Henry today in an effort to bring action aganst the Rev. James A. Smith, the pastor who ejected her, but was told the matter was a civil one outside Henry's jurisdiction.

Miss Breen said she had gone to church from the bathing beach, and, while saying her penance, was told by Father Smith to leave. She said she went to her boarding house, put on a jacket, and returned, to finish the penance. It was then that Father Smith pulled her from the pew.

Miss Breen, who said she had spent seven years in a convent in Ireland, said she felt that "God, if not Father Smith, would not criticize her for her attire."

Drinks WPA Check; Routs His Children; Sent to Jail

Judge Justin F. McCarthy of the Municipal court sent Steve Puskaricz, 51 years old, 1531 North Western avenue, a WPA worker, to the bridewell yesterday to serve out a $50 fine for disorderly conduct. Puskaricz was arrested Friday after he had spent his WPA check in taverns and had chased his two daughters, Irene, 11 years old, and Theresa, 9, from their home with a chair.

Trammell gave the family history. He and his wife were married a year and a half ago in Knoxville, Tenn., and after he obtained employment here they moved into the State hotel on June 26.

"Saturday I went on my regular run to Battle Creek, Mich.," he said. "I returned Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock and went to the hotel. The key was not downstairs so I went up and knocked at the door.

Discovers Wife's Body.

"Getting no response I pulled myself up and looked through the transom. I could see my wife on the bed, partly covered by bloodstained sheets. I ran downstairs and notified the clerk."

Trammell had told the police he and his wife lived at the State hotel because it was convenient to his work and because he could not afford better quarters, as he makes only $80 a month, working half time. The room cost $5 a week, he said. He had warned his wife to be careful because of the many male derelicts who frequent South State street. He said he was sure she would not admit any one to the room during his absence.

John Bun, the hotel clerk, testified that he saw Trammell enter the hotel and go upstairs. In a few minutes Trammell ran back to the desk, saying something was wrong with his wife. Bun testified:

"I went up to the second floor and then out on the fire escape and up to the next floor where I could look into the Trammells' room, which is No. 250. I saw the body and called the police."

"Recognizes" Trammell Photo.

In Kansas City, Mo., a Mrs. Effie Bell Trammell last night exhibited a document saying she was married to a Thomas C. Trammell on Nov. 12, 1920, in El Paso, Tex., and declared a photograph of the slain woman's husband resembled her husband. She said Trammell deserted her in Kansas City in 1923, and she dropped a divorce action against him after she learned a man of the same name had been married to a Miss Helen Coleman of Quincy, Ill., at Fort Madison, Ia., on Jan. 31, 1923.

Questioned about this statement, the Thomas Trammell of Chicago admitted he was once married to a Helen Coleman, and declared he was divorced from her in 1929 at Brownsville, Tex. He said that was his first marriage and that it took place in Keokuk, Ia.

SERGEANT SCOFFS AT CHARGE OF POLITICS IN ICKES' SON ARREST

Woburn, Mass., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Police Sergeant Charles J. Harrold today asserted he was not swayed by politics when he arrested Robert Ickes, foster son of the secretary of the interior, on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor.

The Winchester policeman said he had "nothing to gain or lose by prosecuting the secretary's son. I am not a registered Republican or Democrat."

Young Ickes, who will be heard in Woburn court Wednesday, was "very fresh," Harrold said. "He called me a lot of names." Harrold said young Ickes, while under the influence of liquor, was not drunk and for that reason was not locked up.

Referring to reported criticism by Secretary Ickes, Harrold said, "The secretary is quoted as saying that his son was arrested for driving while intoxicated. This is not so. He was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor, which is an entirely different offense. The son, in my opinion, was not drunk."

Secretary Ickes in Washington yesterday reiterated his charge that his foster son's arrest was a "contemptible political attack. To attack me over a young lad who is an innocent bystander and is trying to make a start in life. I think that's pretty contemptible."

Robert's "start in life" is the post of inspection clerk on the 3 million dollar Aberjona, Mass., sewer project, which was obtained for him by his foster father.

For the past three years Secretary Ickes has provided his foster son, Robert, and his son, Raymond, with federal jobs during vacation periods.

H. J. GOLDBERG IS FREED UNDER PAUPER'S OATH

Herman J. Goldberg, 49 years old, convicted tax fixer, was ordered discharged from the County jail yesterday by Judge Joseph Sabath in Criminal court on a pauper's petition which freed him from working out a $1,000 fine.

The court upheld Goldberg's contention that he has completed serving a three month jail term imposed at the time of his conviction but is without funds to pay the fine. Goldberg alleged further that he was unable because of illness to work out payment of the fine.

Goldberg and Charles A. Mead, a former employé of the old board of review, were found guilty by Judge Sabath in 1931 of conspiracy to make fraudulent alterations in assessment records.

LAKES CARNIVAL ATTRACTS 20,000 TO LAGOON BANKS

BY KAY HALL.

Burnham park lagoon, Chicago's heritage from A Century of Progress, was turned to spectacular home talent use last night in the first presentation of the Chicago park district's Carnival of the Lakes. The water show was witnessed by 20,000 persons who manifested their approval by sitting through light sprinkles of rain toward the end of the performance.

With the exception of last night's sham battle between naval and marine reserves, the program will be repeated at 7:30 o'clock nightly through Sunday. The carnival was the work of V. K. Brown, parks' recreation director, his staf, and the young people who patronize park activities. There were 800 performers. According to George T. Donoghue, superintendent of the park district, only one received pay.

Naval Reserves Take Island.

In the mock warfare, high point of the evening, three divisions of naval reservists "attacked" Northerly Island from the west bank of the lagoon. The firing was realistically close to the spectators, since the sailors, manning rifles and field guns, launched their attack from the foot of the stands. Under protection of the artillery barrage two naval cutters landed on Northerly Island, theoretically wresting it from the marine reserves.

Chicago park pools contributed a great array of diving and swimming talent. Harry Sass, George Baillie, Humphrey Metcalfe, and Carl Meyer were applauded for expert clown diving. They are members of the Ridge Park Aquatic club, of which Meyer is the coach.

Girls Put on Water Ballet.

Twelve young women in white bathing suits, trained in the parks by Miss Katherine O'Brien, executed rhythmic swimming and diving maneuvers in a water ballet. In the final heat of an amateur outboard motor boat race, two laps around a mile course, Art Jacobs won first place and Edwin McLain second.

Dr. C. C. McWilliams had just driven a two and a half ton motor boat through a board wall and water poloists were winding up their antics as Miss Mary Dunbar, 4615 Lincoln avenue, was crowned queen by Park Commissioner Philip S. Graver.

Riding in a gondola with her court, Miss Dunbar headed a procession of sixty floats around the lagoon.

The program also included a Sea Scout cutter drill, aquaplaning, a fire boat demonstration, boat capsizing and righting by coast guardsmen and a mock battle between replicas of the Monitor and the Merrimac of civil war fame.

THE FALL OF LIFE NEED NOT BE A TIME OF REGRET

Figures show that at fifty years of age, the college trained man commands an earning power or income many times that of the man whose education stopped at grade or high school.

There are exceptions of course. But in the face of overwhelming evidence that a university education pays, is it logical to believe that you will be the exception and make your mark without higher education?

Now is the time to take out insurance to make certain that your future will be one of prosperity . . . or at least that you will be in moderate and happy circumstances, free from dependence upon others.

That insurance is a university education . . . an investment of your time and funds NOW which, by the law of averages, should pay you handsomely every year in increased income, independence, and the joy of seeing your objectives fulfilled.

Select as your university the one which to your mind offers the greatest opportunity for self-development. In later years you will have no regret.

CATTLE MEN ARE TURNING AGAINST BRAIN TRUSTERS

Find New Deal Policies Blow to Grazers.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Effects of New Deal policies on the cattle and sheep industry were reported to John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, by party workers today as the growing issue in New Mexico and Arizona. He addressed the Republican state convention with some 1,600 delegates and visitors here tonight and took as his general theme the Washington professoriat and their effort to Tugwellize America.

Republican leaders here—and earlier at Phoenix, Ariz.—in conference with Hamilton declared their canvasses indicate Gov. Alf M. Landon has a good chance of carrying both New Mexico and Arizona, and that since the Cleveland convention there has been a persistent swing in the two states toward the Landon-Knox ticket.

Policies Alienate Ranchers.

Cattle and sheep raisers, they reported, are turning against the New Deal and its handling of the land problem. In the range and ranch country they report a general complaint that through operation of the Wallace policies and the soil conservation act, the brain trust aims to transfer as much cattle raising as possible to marginal lands in the east, and this industry would suffer in the wide open spaces of the west.

In his address to the state convention here tonight and in a noonday address at Phoenix, Chairman Hamilton emphasized this issue of "subsidized government competition."

Continues "Artificial Scarcity."

"The old AAA has been declared unconstitutional," he said tonight, "but a new AAA has been passed to take its place, which is called the soil conservation act.

"This act, I think, is going to be of very great interest to the cattle and sheep raisers of New Mexico, if it is allowed to remain on the statute books. This act continues the theory of planning artificial scarcity and does so by paying farmers to put a portion of their land into grasses.

"Now, grasses have one major value—they are good for grazing. Consequently, what this act does is to pay every farmer to go into competition with the cattle and sheep men of the west.

"As inevitable as night follows day, these farmers will put their grasses to work for grazing purposes. You are going to discover before long that you cannot meet this government subsidized competition. And the irony is that you yourselves are having to contribute with your taxes to pay this subsidy to new competitors."

30% Mortgage on All Realty.

Turning is attention to the brain trust, Mr. Hamilton said:

"What are the good results of economic planning in America thus far? Secretary Wallace and his under secretary, Prof. Rexford Guy Tugwell, have practiced economic agriculture for our farmers.

"Let me quote Mr. Tugwell's summary of what he thinks the results are: 'The farmers have been freed from slavery to the money lenders at home and from the competition of peasant labor abroad.'

"On March 4, 1933, when Mr. Roosevelt hired the professor at your expense to 'make over America' and chased all the money lenders out of the temple, the crowd moved into the White House. In March, 1933, the federal debt was 21 billion dollars. Now it is 34 billion dollars. Do you realize that New Mexico's share of the debt Mr. Roosevelt has run up is equal to a mortgage of about 30 per cent on the assessed value of all real property in your state?

"Never at any time, in war or peace, have this country and our people been so enslaved to the money lenders as we are today after less than four years of Mr. Roosevelt's administration."

Lemke Will Hurt Roosevelt.

The Lemke third party is figured by the Republicans to be an important factor in the November results. The Lemke movement has filed in Arizona, and in New Mexico it has filed its intent to put a ticket in the field. Although Lemke may not poll more than a few thousand votes in each state, party workers estimate that 80 to 90 per cent of the votes will be drawn from the Democratic ticket.

Republican leaders, headed by Cyrus McCormick, national committeeman, reported to the Hamilton party that in the G. O. P. the old guard and the progressives are getting together.

REBUILD PRIVATE CAR FOR LANDON IN YARDS HERE

Ready for Eastern Trip of Nominee.

Work was completed here yesterday in the yards of the Chicago and North Western railway on the Pullman private car which will be occupied by Gov. Alf M. Landon on his first eastern campaign trip. The car, named the David Livingstone, was taken last night to Denver to be attached to the special train of the Landon party for the trip, which starts Thursday.

The private car, renovated by the Pullman company, is fully air conditioned. It has three compartments, two bedrooms, a shower bath, an observation room, dining room, and kitchen. It is equipped with telephone and radio.

Special Loud Speaker.

Special loud speaking and lighting apparatus has been installed in the observation room and on the rear platform. The installation was made and will be operated by expert sound technicians who will accompany the Landon party.

One of the technicians, Henry Rahmel, a member of the faculty of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said the sound apparatus will permit a speaker to address crowds of ten thousand or more.

Apparatus Has Long Range.

Two stationary amplifying horns on the top of the car and four movable horns will throw sound the distance of a city block in several directions and as far as three blocks if the horns are all faced in one direction.

Special equipment will permit connections with local radio stations during stops. The whole apparatus weighs less than 200 pounds and can readily be moved from the private car to other places such as halls where massmeetings may be held.

FIRE KILLS SIX HORSES ON FARM OF ALD. COUGHLIN

Six young horses burned to death last night when fire destroyed two barns and a house on the farm of Ald. John J. Coughlin [1st], south of highway 25 about 4 miles northeast of St. Charles. Several valuable race horses were led to safety by grooms.

The fire started in a large horse barn which contained an exercise track, many stalls, and supplies of hay and grain. The flames spread rapidly to a steer barn and several smaller buildings, then to the dwelling occupied by the farm workers. All the cattle were in a pasture at the time, and were not endangered.

The Wayne volunteer fire department responded to the alarm, but was unable to check the flames because no water was available.

LANDON NAMES ADVISERS FOR HIS EASTERN SWING

Trip to Start Thursday; Return Via Springfield.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Estes Park, Colo., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Gov. Landon today made public the names of the persons he has asked to accompany him as advisers on his eastern trip, which will start on Thursday. They are:

Lacy Haines, Kansas manager of the Kansas City Star, a close personal friend and one of the managers of the governor's pre-convention campaign.

Representative Clifford R. Hope of Garden City, Kas., ranking member of the house committee on agriculture and chief of the agriculture division of the Republican national committee.

St. Louis Man Chosen.

Cleveland A. Newton of St. Louis, former representative member of the Mississippi Valley Waterway association, and active in the Landon pre-convention campaign.

C. C. Cogswell of Topeka, master of the Kansas state grange and member of the Kansas tax commission, which recently announced a reduction in the state tax rate.

Lester McCoy of Garden City, automobile dealer, chairman of the Seventh congressional district Republican committee and former commander of the Kansas department, American Legion.

Will Speak at Lincoln's Tomb.

On his return trip Gov. Landon will stop at Springfield, Ill., for forty minutes. He will motor to the tomb of Abraham Lincoln and will make a short address there, after laying a wreath.

The governor spent all of today at the McGraw ranch. With the three main speeches he will make in the east virtually completed, he gave thought to the Springfield address and to his short talks in Nebraska and Iowa on Thursday.

John M. Landon, father of the governor, will return here tomorrow from Topeka.

MISS SLYE TO DEPART FOR EUROPE TODAY TO SPEAK ON 5,000 MICE

On her first vacation in nearly thirty years, Miss Maud Slye, associate professor of pathology at the University of Chicago, will depart today for Brussels, Belgium, to attend the International Congress for the Control of Cancer on Sept. 20 to 26. At the congress Miss Slye will review the case histories of 5,000 mice from which she has established theories about the genetic controls of the incidence and kind of cancer. She will renew her plea before the assembled specialists that steps be taken to organize medical records of humans as she has kept the records of her families of mice.

DR. MAUD SLYE.

"If we had such records we could stamp cancer out in a generation," Miss Slye said yesterday.

While in Europe the pathologist will report her findings before medical groups in Amsterdam, Berlin, Paris, and London. She will return to Chicago before Nov. 3, she said, in time to vote in the presidential election.

SENATORS BYRD AND GLASS WILL BACK ROOSEVELT

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—United States Senators Carter Glass and Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, who at times have been sharply critical of President Roosevelt's New Deal policies, will actively support the President for reelection, National Chairman James A. Farley was told today.

Chairman Farley received this word during a conference with J. N. Nooker, Democratic state chairman of Virginia. Farley later talked directly with Senator Byrd, who gave assurances he would support the national ticket.

At the same time Gov. Paul V. McNutt and United States Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana predicted a sweep for Roosevelt in their state.

Mayor Howard Jackson of Baltimore, however, was not so optimistic about Maryland. He said he hopel that Mr. Roosevelt would carry the state, but he declared that in Baltimore the fight between the forces of John L. Lewis and William Green in the American Federation of Labor was complicating the situation.

ROB HOOSIER PRODUCE BUYER.

MYRTLE, A PAWN OF FATE, FINALLY ENDS IN THE SOUP

Myrtle, the turtle, came to her long delayed end yesterday and her owner and executioner, Gustav Beran, announced that never in his life had he so enjoyed preparing a turtle for soup. Myrtle's remains, 32 pounds of them, will appear as the principal ingredient in 20 gallons of soup to be served today in Gus' tavern at 2758 South Spaulding avenue.

Myrtle was an innocent tool of fate. All she did was pull in her neck at the wrong time—just as Gus was taking a shot at her. As a result, Gus shot himself in the foot.

That was on July 24. Gus was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, and Myrtle was kept in strict confinement against his vengeful homecoming. Yesterday Gus came home in a wheel chair, his foot still in a cast. He called for Myrtle and his trusty rifle.

This time he took no chances. He pointed his feet due west and had Myrtle led up from the south-southeast. More or less over his shoulder, Gus took a careful squint down the barrel and let fly. Myrtle expired and was prepared for the soup.

TOWNSEND PUTS OFF APPEARANCE AT OHIO HEARING

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the Townsend old age pension plan, failed to appear in Cleveland yesterday at a deposition hearing in a receivership suit brought against his organization, remaining in Chicago. His headquarters here announced he was suffering from fatigue and had been ordered by physicians to rest in bed for a few days in his room at the Congress hotel.

In the afternoon, however, Dr. Townsend posed for motion picture cameras in Grant park and conferred there with Congressman William Lemke of North Dakota, third party nominee for President. "I was just too weary to go on any further so I asked a continuance of that Cleveland affair," he said.

Ben Sacharow, attorney for the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, former Townsend plan director, in the suit for receivership and an accounting for $1,000,000 in Townsend funds, asked that Dr. Townsend be arrested when he failed to appear in Cleveland. Judge George W. Kerr, however, continued the hearing until Thursday after receiving assurance from Dr. Townsend that he would be in court.

COOLER TOMORROW IF YOU INSULATE TODAY

ONLY $7 PER MONTH

The day's stifling heat and sticky, humid nights are only a memory when you insulate your home. Your only regret will be that you didn't do it sooner.

The entire cost of insulating the attic of an average 5 room house is approximately $137.50, and it can be paid in monthly installments.

In summer insulation keeps out the scorching heat, and in winter the same insulation defies wind and frost.

ROOSEVELT SEES REVIEW OF 62D COAST ARTILLERY

Marching Troops Stop at His Estate.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The broad acres of President Roosevelt's summer estate on the Hudson river were the scene today of an army regimental review. A special performance, including a demonstration of the most modern anti-aircraft equipment in the army, was put on for the benefit of the President who watched from the gate of the "summer White House."

The regiment was the 62d coast artillery under command of Col. Frank E. Ferguson. It was en route north from Fort Totten on Long Island to Fort Ontario, near Oswego, N. Y., and the line of march made it convenient for the review under the eyes of the commander of the army and navy.

Guns Are Demonstrated.

The regiment is the only one in the army equipped with eight 3 inch anti-aircraft guns. Mr. Roosevelt asked for a display of the speed with which these guns could be dismounted from a truck and set up for action. He expressed astonishment at the rapidity with which this could be done.

Col. Ferguson told the President that the gun could get off 25 shots a minute and could register hits of airplanes with one shot out of four.

"These are the first teeth we have had to show an enemy invading us," Col. Ferguson remarked.

Desire More Artillery.

"It's the first time I have ever seen one of these guns. I wish we had more of them," the President commented.

For an hour, the regiment paraded before the President. One hundred and twenty-eight vehicles rolled by, transporting 27 officers, 854 men, anti-aircraft and machine guns, huge searchlights and sound locators.

Roy Howard, publisher, was an overnight guest.

This evening, a family party was held in celebration of the 22d birthday of his son, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

MOB NEW YORK REDS RIDICULING LANDON'S DRIVE

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—A group of young communists were mobbed by pedestrians during a demonstration in front of the Republican national headquarters today and four of the demonstrators were arrested for alleged disorderly conduct. A number of the small band were costumed and bore placards ridiculing the Landon campaign.

Ire of those passing was raised by the sight of Milton Rayfield, 24 years old, attired in what seemed to be a regulation army uniform. The youth carried a placard "Landon used us to break the strike—Kansas National Guard."

"That Red is no soldier," shouted an unidentified patriot on the sidewalk. "It's a disgrace for him to wear the uniform."

Others on the sidewalk began shouting "tear it off." Then the fun began. In the rumpus a young communist, who had come to the scene wearing a barrel, escaped in his shorts. Police seized his placard, which read "This is the way we'll all be going around."

LANDON TO WIN MAINE, G. O. P. AID PREDICTS

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—After spending the week-end in Maine conferring with Republican leaders, Representative Joseph W. Martin Jr., eastern manager of the Republican national campaign, returned here today with the prediction that Gov. Alf M. Landon will carry the Pine Tree state by upwards of 60,000 plurality in November.

"Every indication is that we will also have a substantial majority in the gubernatorial election in September and that after four years we will win back the governorship," Mr. Martin said. The September election generally is regarded as a national barometer.

It was announced today at Republican headquarters that Dr. Charles W. Burkett, former editor of the American Agriculturist, had been appointed director in charge of the committee on agriculture for the east.

2 Named in Charges After Woman's Death

Melvin Workman, 28 years old, and William Osborne, 30 years old, painters living at 6317 Normal avenue, were booked on technical charges of manslaughter yesterday to hold them as material witnesses for a continued inquest into the death of Mrs. Blanche Taylor, 23 years old, 523 West 63d street. Mrs. Taylor, a divorcee, the mother of two children, died early Saturday of a fractured skull incurred after visiting taverns with Workman and Osborne. The inquest was continued until Aug. 25.

Headquarters of THE VOLUNTEERS on the seventeenth floor of Tribune Tower reported progress yesterday in its plans to organize independent VOLUNTEER substations in each of the city's 50 wards. Plans were discussed to extend this form of organization into the Cook county townships and the counties throughout the state.

VOLUNTEERS will be recruited to work for a return to sane government and the election of Gov. Alf. M. Landon and Frank Knox under their local ward organizations, according to Julius H. Miner, in charge of the speakers' bureau. Leaders—one man and one woman—already have been appointed in each of 36 wards. There will be VOLUNTEER workers in each precinct.

Speakers and Music Weekly.

The ward organizations, Mr. Miner said, will hold weekly meetings in their independent substations. Speakers will be assigned to them by the speakers' bureau, and entertainment will be furnished by the music bureau, which is under the direction of Philip Maxwell.

Meanwhile, formation of a fraternal women's unit of THE VOLUNTEERS got under way at a conference held by Miss Ruth De Young, chairman of the women's division, and a number of members of women's fraternal organizations.

Mrs. Jewell Organ, 1715 Wilson avenue, a member of the Eastern Star and a leader in this move, attended the conference with Mrs. Barbara Becker, 4716 South Seeley avenue, a member of the Altar and Rosary society; Mrs. Anna McLaughlin, 7033½ Sheridan road, a member of women's German groups, and Mrs. Martha Auw, 2900 Burling street, a past matron of the Eastern Star.

On Duty at Headquarters.

It was decided at the conference that the women would arrange to have some one at headquarters on the seventeenth floor of Tribune Tower several afternoons a week to talk to visitors. They took with them pledge cards with which to start their drive to enroll members of women's fraternal groups throughout the city and state.

Meeting in the Seventh Ward.

A recruiting meeting of THE VOLUNTEERS in the 7th ward will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday night at 7517 Exchange avenue, according to Mrs. Henry Justeson, who has sent out invitations. Mrs. Clarence G. Goodwin and Mrs. Charles L. Gerds will talk.

Visitors to the music division yesterday included Mrs. Frank Champion, 6617 Eberhart avenue, who brought in, on behalf of Oscar De Priest, five young colored girls whose specialty is a new Landon and Knox dance. The youngsters offered to entertain at VOLUNTEERS' meetings.

Opera Singer Offers Services.

Another offer of musical service received by Mr. Maxwell came from Mrs. Florence Walker, a former member of the Boston English Opera company and for four years soloist for the Milwaukee park board bands. Among those requesting song books were Mrs. Nellie E. Robertson of Muscatine, Ia., and T. W. Miller of Iowa Falls, Ia.

Mr. Maxwell announced that the second children's rally to sing campaign songs especially suited for children will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow. The children will meet on the plaza between Tribune Tower and the W-G-N building.

WOMEN LEADERS OF G. O. P. REPORT LANDON SWING

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Republican women leaders of 17 eastern states gathered here today for a campaign conference and reported to Miss Natalie Couch, eastern woman manager for Gov. Landon, that a swing toward Landon was evident in almost every one of their home areas.

The women met at the Women's National Republican club and spent the day discussing conditions in their home states and reviewing ways of stressing the Landon and Republican message to voters there.

Mrs. Preston Davie, director of the Landon VOLUNTEER drive said: "Gov. Landon is not a politicians' candidate but a people's candidate. No politician can win the election for us. They can and will reach the enroled Republicans, but our business is to reach those who are not enroled or ordinarily active."

COUGHLIN MUST QUIT POLITICAL WORK 10 DAYS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 17.—[Special.] The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin was with his mother in Royal Oak today recuperating from the illness which overcame him yesterday as he spoke at the climax of the National Union for Social Justice convention in Cleveland.

Physicians have prescribed 10 days of quiet for him and have ordered him to put aside during that time all the strenuous duties which are engaging him in the political campaign.

He returned to Detroit this morning by train, accompanied by four secretaries and a number of friends. On the way back from the convention he described the sensations of his collapse and the events leading up to it.

The radio priest disclosed that for 10 minutes before he stopped speaking he felt choked and the audience was merely a blur before his eyes.

DEMOCRATS MAY SET UP LISTENING POST IN CHICAGO

3 Hotel Rooms Taken for National Committee.

BY PARKE BROWN.

The Democratic national committee may have snubbed Chicago and the central states by failing to establish a western headquarters in this part of the country but it is to have at least some sort of a listening post here.

This was the conclusion yesterday of those who sought an explanation of the renting of three rooms on the fourth floor of the Stevens hotel in the name of the committee. The hotel management didn't know what it was all about. The national headquarters in New York either was being mysterious or was at sea.

Up to National Committee.

The persistent inquiry disclosed that George D. Crowley, an insurance man with offices in the Wrigley building, had had something to do with the renting of the rooms. Mr. Crowley is not a professional politician but it is understood that he has been associated quietly for some time with W. Forbes Morgan of New Hampshire, treasurer of the national committee.

"Any announcement of the use to which the rooms will be put will come from the national committee," said Crowley. "We expect a statement will be made tomorrow."

He was told that national headquarters had suggested the rooms might have been taken by Congressman A. J. Sabath of Chicago, division manager of the naturalized American bureau.

"The rooms," he said, "will be used for whatever purpose the national committee decides to use them—perhaps as a sort of clearing house for this part of the country."

No Bearing on Row.

This opening of the branch of the national committee here did not have, so far as could be learned, any direct bearing on the internal dissension among the Democrats in Illinois. It was not believed to indicate any intention on Farley's part to take an active hand in the Roosevelt campaign in the state although the continued breach between the Cook county organization and Gov. Horner is said to be a constant cause of worry in Washington and New York.

Considerable pressure was brought to bear on the Cook county committee yesterday in an effort to whip it into line. United States District Attorney Igoe, the administration's most powerful representative in Chicago, addressed the ward and township committeemen urging that each send a delegation to the state fair at Springfield on Thursday for the "Governor's day" rally. Most of those present promised to comply.

FORM ILLINOIS UNIT FOR CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

Formation of an Illinois committee to cooperate with the National Civil Service Reform league in the present political campaign was announced yesterday.

"We are particularly interested in the congressional battles," said Russell Whitman, treasurer of the committee, who served several months as a judge of the Superior court by appointment of Gov. Horner last year. "We feel that our main hope of ending further ravages of the present political spoils system lies in legislative action. Candidates we know to be sincerely interested in such a program will be entitled to our support."

Edwin H. Cassels is chairman of the Illinois committee. Among its other members are William Brown Hale, Mrs. W. M. Alderton, W. T. Alden, Henry W. Austin and Francis X. Busch. The national organization is raising a $100,000 "merit war chest" for which contributions are sought.

Social Worker in Flogging Nominated by Socialists

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Miss Willie Sue Blagden, Memphis social worker who said that she was flogged by a group of men near Earle, Ark., during the recent strike of sharecroppers, today was named by the Socialist party here as a candidate for the state legislature. The party also has a woman candidate for governor, Mrs. Kate Stockton of Fentress county.

SELF INFLICTED WOUNDS FATAL.

Theodore Brodek, 56 years old, 1832 South Sawyer avenue, died in the County hospital yesterday of knife wounds self inflicted in his home on Aug. 14.

DANCING SCHOOL HEAD, 70, MARRIES GIRL STUDENT, 20

Richard O. Kandler, 70 years old, owner of a dancing academy at 116 South Michigan avenue, and Miss Elaine O. Pura, 20 years old, 857 North Oakley avenue, were married yesterday at Crown Point, Ind. Miss Pura, formerly employed at A Century of Progress, has been a pupil at the academy for the last six months. The couple returned to Chicago after the wedding ceremony and are making their home in Kandler's apartment at 61 East Goethe street. Kandler said he has been married twice before, the first marriage ending in divorce ten years ago and the second in an annulment in 1931. He has two married sons. A wedding reception will be held at the academy Aug. 25.

RUSSIA TO TRY 2 FORMER LEADERS AS MERE BANDITS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Aug. 17.—Gregory Zinoviev and Leon Kamenev will be tried as bandits, not as political offenders. When they face the military tribunal of the Supreme court Wednesday night on charges of plotting the assassination of Dictator Josef Stalin and other soviet leaders it will be in a setting as undramatic as possible and they will be stripped of the glamor they once wore as high leaders of the soviet government.

The trial will be held in Trade Union house, once a club for Russian nobility, and not in the many columned great hall where Nicolai Lenin and later Sergei Kirov, whose murder they are accused of having instigated, lay in state. It will be in a small, plain hall, not seating more than 200 persons on the upper floor.

Leaders to Attend Trial.

Although the trial will be public, there will be no room for the general public. Space not filled by the court and lawyers and the sixteen accused plotters will be jammed with soviet and foreign reporters. Leading figures of the government and the communist party also are expected to attend from time to time. The trial will last at least a week.

According to present plans, the trial will not be broadcast as important trials have in the past. No press photographs will be taken. News accounts will be as brief as possible, in contrast with the voluminous coverage given previous important public trials. An effort will be made to treat this as a criminal case not worthy of disturbing the country in its progress.

Zinoviev, whose oratory once thrilled world revolutionists at communist internationale congresses, probably will make this, his last public appearance, the occasion for a historic speech—little, if any, of which is likely to be published in the soviet press.

Zinoviev and Kamenev also are alleged to have participated in a movement in the Ukraine in 1934 to secede from the soviet union. Trotzkyists are accused of having been active in that conspiracy.

Trotzky Assailed in Norway.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 17.—Crowds thronged the tiny fishing village of Stancenaesholmen, near Kristiansand, where Leon Trotsky, exiled bolshevik leader, is spending the summer holidays. Demonstrations were frequent. Last night a motor boat approached one in which Trotzky was a passenger and voices were heard saying: "Murderer, damned bloodhound." Trotzky and his Norwegian host decided to leave to find some other holiday retreat. They left today for an unknown destination.

SENATOR BILBO TRADES SWINGS; MISSES TARGET

Challenge to Political Foe Accepted.

Bay St. Louis, Miss., Aug. 17.—(AP)—United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo traded swings with an angry listener at a political gathering here today, but no harm was done.

Speaking for former Governor Sennett Conner, whom he is supporting for the other Mississippi senate seat against his colleague, Pat Harrison, Senator Bilbo called for "Harrison men" to hear his remarks concerning charges that Harrison had placed his campaign managers on the federal pay roll.

Red Steps Up and Swings.

A. G. Favre, chancery clerk of Hancock county, bolted from the audience and climbed the platform.

"Here I am," he cried, taking a swing at the senator.

Bilbo ducked quickly and the blow rolled off his shoulder. The junior senator whipped his right arm in the direction of Favre, but it fell short of its mark.

A half dozen men nearest the speaker intervened.

"You can't talk to our Harrison men like that," Favre shouted at Bilbo as he was pulled away.

Kidding, the Man Says.

Without bothering to straighten his tie, the hatless, coatless senator resumed his speech.

"I'm sorry," he said, "that our friend Red can't take a little kidding.

"I was just going to say, when my friend interrupted me, that I have traveled from one end of the state to the other and Gov. Conner is as sure of election as the sun is shining in the country today.

"The opposition can't stand it. They're going wild. They can't stand it. They're getting mad. They want to fight. I'm sorry this thing happened on your account. I'm a veteran. It doesn't bother me, but it often gets too hot for these Pat Harrison people."

Bilbo concluded by shouting a warning to WPA and other federal workers to "keep your noses out of this campaign."

3 FOUND GUILTY OF BLACKMAILING HARRY BANNISTER

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Three men accused of blackmailing Harry Bannister, actor-producer and former husband of Ann Harding, screen star, were found guilty by a jury today after thirty-five minutes of deliberation.

They are Jerome A. Jacobs, 49 years old, a lawyer; Raymond Derringer, 39, a motion picture operator, and Harry Hechheimer, 53, a former lawyer.

They were charged specifically with having extorted $1,800 from Bannister in December, 1934, under threats of exposing allegedly immoral acts to his former wife.

At that time Bannister and Miss Harding were engaged in a court battle in Reno, Nev.

TWO MURDERERS OF POLICEMAN TO DIE ON OCT. 21

Sit During Sentencing, but One Nearly Falls.

Frank [Bones] Korczykowski, 26 years old, and Andrew Bogacki, 25, yesterday heard Judge John C. Lewe of the Criminal court sentence them to die in the electric chair next Oct. 21. Bogacki nearly collapsed. Korczykowski took it calmly.

A jury convicted the young men on Aug. 1 of the murder of Policeman Jerome McCauley. Both have heard sentences from the bench before. Twice Bogacki has been paroled as a thief, the second time on June 21, 1934. Korczykowski won similar consideration from the board of paroles on June 26, 1935, after he served six years of a robbery term.

Judge Assails Parole Leniency.

"In the last two years of my service in this court," Judge Lewe commented before pronouncing sentence, "many habitual offenders have been brought before me. I have observed that most of them are charged with crimes of violence. Society cannot be protected unless great care is exercised before criminals of this type are turned loose. Lifelong incarceration would have been a blessing for these defendants."

Declaring that he imposed sentence without a qualm of conscience, Judge Lewe overruled motions for new trials and told the two desperadoes formally that they were to be electrocuted. They heard the sentence while seated because of an effort to escape which they made during their trial.

Korczykowski heard the words with the same appearance of deadened sensibility that characterized his deportment at the trial.

"Well, I'm not dead yet," he remarked to Chief Deputy Sherif Edward Scholler.

Jenkot Sentence Is Deferred.

With the two killers in court yesterday was their companion in crime, Paul Jenkot, 24 years old, whose penalty for the McCauley murder was fixed at 199 years by the same jury that decreed death for his associates. He was spared the ordeal of hearing the sentence because his motion for a new trial will be heard on Sept. 28.

The three were brought into court handcuffed together and were kept under heavy guard because of the desperate break for freedom they made on July 30. They overpowered their guards, stabbed two deputy sheriffs, slugged two other men, and barged through five floors of the Criminal court building before being recaptured. Hence the order to disregard the custom of standing to hear sentence.

Policeman Killed in Chase.

Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, who defended the three men, announced that he would make the mandatory appeal from the death sentences to the Illinois Supreme court.

Policeman McCauley was shot to death on May 29 as he and Policeman Edward Brieske in a squad car were pursuing an automobile driven by Jenkot, with Korczykowski and Bogacki as passengers. The three men had just committed two robberies.

RICHMAN LANDS PLANE AT ALBUQUERQUE ON HIS FLIGHT TO LONDON

Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Harry Richman, New York and Hollywood singer, landed here in his specially built $100,000 transport plane at 6:55 p. m. [8:55 Chicago time] on the initial leg of his projected "commutation" flight to London after a hop from Los Angeles.

Richman and his pilot-radio operator, Dick Merrill, went immediately to a hotel to rest for their planned take-off for the east at 4 a. m.

The start from New York is scheduled in "a few days." From there Richman plans a 24 hour round trip to London.

The wings of Richman's plane are loaded with ping-pong balls to add buoyancy in the event the ship is forced down at sea.

WIFE'S TRAVELS NIP HIS CRIME CAREER 'IN BUD'

Flint, Mich., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Detectives Fay Murphy and Porter Buckley announced today they had verified the story of a factory worker that he crawled half a mile through sewers and started to burrow toward the vault of a Flint bank.

The detectives retrieved a brace and bit, a shovel, a pickax, a hammer, and an iron bar from the tunnel.

The man told them he had dug in the tunnel night after night since he conceived the idea last March, they related, because his wife had insisted she must have more money "to buy pretty things." When he discovered that his car had traveled 4,000 miles while he was conducting his digging, he and his wife quarreled and separated, and he decided to go to the police with the story.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

BIRTHDAY

By CALEB

ON each August 18 in the 1840's, a young boy was celebrating birthdays on a farm in the easternmost Berkshires. With each passing year his dreams extended further beyond the Connecticut hill horizons.

When he was about sixteen—at the century's mid-mark—he announced his intention of seeking a clerkship in business. A year later, he was working in a store in Pittsfield.

Chicago, then, was a stripling city of 38,000 people—queen of the western prairies, connected with the east by nothing faster than stages. The first eastern railroad connection was still to come.

In Pittsfield, the farm boy was learning storekeeping from the first function of the merchant in the early morning, to the latest duty of the day—often well on to midnight.

There is something interesting in visualizing Chicago in those early years, sowing the seeds which were to become her strength—and off in the distant east, a young man likewise preparing himself for a titantic future. Neither was of any consequence or importance to the other.

But time passed and circumstances changed the alignment of things. Chicago's population increased from 38,000 to 86,000 by 1856. And the farm boy, then 22 years of age, felt himself ripe for broader adventure. With a few dollars of capital he came west to Chicago.

He approached a wholesale and retail dry goods business, gave his name—Marshall Field—told of his training, and went to work for $400 a year. Five years later he was a partner in the firm. In three more years, he became an important owner in another partnership—Field, Leiter, and Palmer. The farm boy was well on his way.

Two things marked his career above all others. Invincibility and his care for his customers. His dogged persistence and stamina are typified by the way he guided his enterprise through the financial stringency of 1867, the consuming Chicago fire of 1871, the disastrous panic of 1873, and another calamitous fire in 1877.

Care for his customers was typified by his astounding policies—new perhaps to the whole world of merchandise—which placed the customer's satisfaction always ahead of profit.

On August 18 we like to reflect for a while on the farm boy—paused in a furrow, leaning on the handle of a hand-made plow—dreaming out across the beautiful Berkshire Hills, of business—business he knew nothing about. Surely he could not have dreamed of building a business a whole modern busy world would know. Nor could he have guessed that many executives of that business—almost a hundred years later—would be men who had similarly humble beginnings in life.

KEEP HOLY LAND OPEN TO JEWS, PLEA TO BRITAIN

Any Curb on Immigration Cruel, London Told.

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 17.—(AP)—A delegation from the World Jewish congress asked the British government today to maintain "an open door" policy for Jews in Palestine.

A resolution outlining the congress' stand favoring the continuation of immigration to Palestine was presented to the chargé d'affairs of the British legation who promised to forward it to his government in London.

"The determination of the Jewish people to live in peaceful coöperation with their Arab neighbors [in Palestine] on a basis of mutual respect for the rights of each to make a contribution to the development of their common country," was affirmed in the resolution.

Limitation Proposal Hit.

It continued: "In view of the proposals and the demands to the mandatory power [Britain] for the temporary suspension of immigration during the sittings of the royal commission [appointed to investigate disorders], whose adoption would in the future set up a principle of limitation based on political grounds, the World Jewish congress solemnly declares that the right of immigration to Palestine is a fundamental right of the Jewish people.

"The congress solemnly affirms its conviction that any artificial suspension or limitation of immigration, however temporary, would be an act of injustice and cruelty against the Jewish masses throughout the world who are vitally interested in the preservation of Jewish rights in Palestine.

"In the light of the desperate Jewish plight in many countries, there is an urgent need for new immigration possibilities, which emphasizes the renewed importance of Palestine as a center of Jewish immigration."

Snipers Kill Two Jewesses.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Two Jewesses were killed today and another was seriously injured by Arab snipers. A nurse was killed at Jaffa and another was wounded by gunfire.

Haya Freud, lookout on the water tower at the Jewish settlement of Ramath Hakovesh, was picked off by an Arab marksman during a night raid, and was killed.

An Arab was shot and killed by British soldiers after he had thrown a bomb into the Brenner quarter of the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv.

An Armenian passenger was killed and four Arabs and a British soldier were wounded by snipers who fired on a Jaffa-Lydda train. The Jewish Red Cross rendered first aid.

Poland Strives to Ease Plight of Poverty Stricken Peasants

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 17.—A serious situation which has been developing for more than a century now confronts the Polish government and demands solution, according to high officials. It is the problem of the Polish peasantry. The poverty of the Polish village handicaps all actions, internal and foreign, of the government today. It threatens the very existence of the Polish state. A special session of parliament has been called for September to discuss measures with which the government proposes to deal with the problem.

Seventy per cent of Poland's 33,000,000 inhabitants are agricultural. There are 3,262,000 peasants. Of this number only 1,151,000 own farms of more than 12 acres. There are 2,100,000 peasant families living on farms of less than 12 acres and of this number 1,109,000 have farms smaller than four acres.

Poverty Is Described.

Describing the poverty which exists on these farms the official government newspaper Polska Zbrojna says that the average farmer's family consists of a man, his wife, two sons and two daughters. The labor required on this four acre farm amounts to only 100 working days each year. If the farmer's wife is left to her housework 20 days of work are left for the family. If the compulsory work required by the government, chiefly road repairs, is taken into consideration this average in some cases is increased to 50 days of work a year.

The Polska Zbrojna is subsidized by the ministry of war, which is busy turning the sons of these peasants into soldiers. It declares that if agrarian population is counted the actual unemployment figure in Poland is 6,000,000. Another newspaper, Spolnota Pracy, contends 9,000,000 would be nearer the truth.

Poland is becoming more and more concerned with her high birthrate. It is estimated the annual increase totals 300,000 and that of these number 300,000 are born on farms. Government officials admit that 200,000 of this increase are doomed to join the unemployed.

Pay Taxes with Products.

Already in thousands of villages, especially those in northern and eastern Poland, money doesn't exist. Taxes are paid in kind. Scanty purchases are arranged by barter. Sugar, salt and matches are luxuries. Kerosene lamps are unknown. The peasant may raise a pig, but he never tastes pork except on great feast days. Potatoes and black rye bread are his staple foods.

Polish officials see little hope of combating internal poverty with emigration. Foreign countries have closed their doors. Those who receive assignments from relatives abroad or an inheritance prefer to remain the Croesus of the village rather than risk a journey to an unknown land.

There are hundreds of enormous estates, deeply indebted to state banks, which can be divided into new small farms for more than 100,000 families. An enormous section of eastern Poland is a vast morass, part of which could be drained to provide homes for an additional million Poles.

Need School Buildings.

All these plans cost money, and among Poland's most pressing needs are school buildings for upwards of 1,000,000 children who are growing up as illiterates.

However, the peasant question comes first and the government is debating the advisability of cutting up large estates now under efficient management. If this were done the new farmers must receive loans to pay for the erection of a house and barn. Besides, these settlers would work the land after their primitive fashions and productivity would decrease. It is a question, say experts, if division of the large estates will do anything more than to spread poverty.

Beating by 3 Robbers Proves Fatal to Victim

DRUGGIST FINED FOR PESTERING NIGHT CLUB GIRL

Michale Fusello, 30 years old, 3347 Iowa street, was fined $200 by Judge Justin F. McCarthy in the Town Hall court yesterday for annoying Miss Inez Gonan, 20 years old, a singer at the Club Silhouette, 1555 Howard street. Fusello, a druggist, is married and the father of three children.

Miss Gonan had him arrested early yesterday when she found him awaiting her in the lobby at 4701 Beacon street, where she has an apartment.

SCIENTISTS NEAR ANSWER TO SHIP FIRE PROBLEM

Tests to Result in New Safety Legislation.

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Scientists aboard a steamer anchored in the James river, near Norfolk, Va., expect to complete this week an answer to the sailor's most dreaded problem, fire.

Marine experts today said from the smoke blackened cabins of the S. S. Nantucket, the test ship, will emerge a new type of marine construction by which the dangers of fire at sea virtually may be eliminated.

It was indicated that all passenger carrying ships built in the United States in the future would be fireproof.

Check Results of Fire.

For seven months the experts have been setting fire to the interiors of specially constructed cabins aboard the Nantucket; burning material representing beds, closets, cupboards, sheets, mattresses, rugs, and passengers' clothing, then making careful records of just what happened.

The work is being done by the United States senate subcommittee on fireproof construction, detection, and extinction, with George G. Sharp of New York, naval architect, as adviser.

The committee came into being as the result of the burning of the S. S. Morro Castle in September, 1934, with the loss of 122 lives.

Legislation to Be Proposed.

This committee will have its final meeting Sept. 2 in Washington, at which time a legislative program on ship construction is to be considered.

The Sharp committee tests, which were begun last January, will be completed Wednesday before a group of government experts.

Experts said the problem of fire control at sea primarily was that of isolating a fire.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item on Sunday telling of the late Arthur F. Towne's bequest of most of his $1,500,000 estate to Mrs. Warren Buckley of Evanston, identified Mr. Buckley as a lawyer who has no children. He is a commission merchant with five children. He is not related to Attorney Warren B. Buckley, who lives in Winnetka.

Leo Marley, 37 years old, a WPA worker who was assaulted by several men as he was being evicted from the building at 6406 Yale avenue on June 5, denies that he "refused to leave the premises," as stated in an item on June 6.

Bolt Sets Pants Ablaze; Lester Is Barely Concerned

Great Barrington, Mass., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Friends sympathized today with Harold Lester, who lost his money, his driving license, and his trousers when lightning struck his house and set fire to the pants. Lester, however, took the matter philosophically. He said he was glad he wasn't in the trousers.

PWA ENJOINED ON 30 MILLION MEMORIAL JOB

St. Louis Project Termed "Political Bribe."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—A temporary injunction, restraining the Public Works administration from proceeding with the construction of the proposed 30 million dollar memorial to Thomas Jefferson in St. Louis, was issued today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The case was brought by a group of St. Louis taxpayers who declare the project is nothing but "political pork" designed to "bribe the electorate of Missouri."

The taxpayers had been denied a temporary restraining order in the District of Columbia Supreme court and carried their fight against the project, over which a storm of controversy has raged since it was approved by President Roosevelt in an executive order last December to the higher court.

Order Names Treasury.

Chief Justice George E. Martin of the Appellate court issued the restraining order on the ground that preservation of the status quo is necessary until final hearing of the action on its merits. The order names the parks service and treasury as well as the PWA.

The memorial project was launched [in a city which already has a magnificent Grecian memorial building dedicated to the third President] almost three years ago with the creation by congress of a United States commission. To this commission President Roosevelt appointed William T. Kemper of Kansas City, Democratic national committeeman of Missouri.

Conditional approval of a project, which involved the leveling of thirty-seven business blocks along the river front, where 290 firms and corporations do an aggregate business of 60 million dollars a year, was given by Secretary of the Interior Ickes and WPA Administrator Hopkins. The approval was given over the decision of engineers that "the project has social desirability but cannot be classed as a public necessity."

Ickes Spurns Fraud Evidence.

On the strength of this approval a special election was called last fall on a bond issue of 7½ million dollars for the city's share of the project. The election was followed by charges of wholesale vote frauds from a citizens' committee, which charged that the entire project was being engineered by politicians to fill pockets from land sales. The committee's evidence was turned over to Ickes, but he disclaimed responsibility for the election and threw the evidence out.

The committee lost a Missouri court fight challenging the validity of the bonds, but rejoiced when it was learned the state could not accept PWA funds for the project. St. Louis political leaders came to Postmaster General Farley with the request that he urge the President to set up a separate federal authority to proceed with the project. This was done.

Bribe Move, Say Citizens.

Following issuance of the executive order the citizens' committee wired Ickes: "The Jefferson Memorial is nothing but pure political pork. Our evidence of vote frauds and other irregularities in connection with this memorial still is available . . .

"Citizens of St. Louis, who cry for bread, will not accept a stone in the form of real estate purchases on our river front. This effort to build a second memorial to Jefferson in St. Louis can only be interpreted as an effort to bribe the electorate of Missouri in 1936."

The committee received no answer and began its campaign in the federal courts.

ICKES SEEKS MORE MONEY.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—In a new plea for funds to continue the federal government's low rent housing program, Secretary Ickes expressed hope today that the next congress would pass the Wagner bill to authorize expenditure of more than $800,000,000 during the next 10 years.

Senator Wagner [Dem., N. Y.], author of the measure, said recently he planned to reintroduce it. Ickes told reporters that he had "always been for the bill in principle."

No funds are now available through the PWA housing division except for its present $130,000,000 project. Ickes said, however, the division would keep going because "we haven't completed the program." Nearly 100 of the 1,000 employés already have been dismissed since gradual liquidation of the agency was started a month ago.

Sues to Divorce Ex-Film Star, Virginia Lee Corbin

Mrs. Virginia La Verne Krol, who was a "baby star" of the silent films ten years ago under the name of Virginia Lee Corbin, was named defendant in a bill for divorce filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Theodore Krol, 4865 Magnolia avenue, a salesman. Krol's bill, filed by Attorney Allen Schultz, asks custody of two children, Harold Philip, 4 years old, and Robert Lee, 18 months old.

GOES TO PRISON

MRS. INA SMYTH.

The "old lady from Aurora," whose quavering tale of losing her purse brought her hundreds of dollars in "train fare home" from pitying Chicagoans, was sentenced to nine months in prison by Judge Jay A. Schiller in the Felony court yesterday. She pleaded guilty to four charges of operating a confidence game.

The woman is Mrs. Ina Smyth, 58 years old, 1426 West Madison street. At her own request she was sentenced to the women's prison at Dwight, so that she may rid herself of the dope habit, which she blamed for the fraud she practiced.

"In my youth," Mrs. Smyth said, "I was graduated from the nursing school of the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore. I lived a normal life until 1929, when I was in an accident and my husband left me. I started taking narcotics to deaden my feelings, and I got into the habit. It made me feel superior despite my misfortune, and I was able to convince housewives with my fake story of needing train fare to Aurora."

MAYOR ORDERS ECONOMIES TO SAVE 2 MILLION

A letter ordering retrenchments in expenditures during the remaining months of the year in order to save at least $2,000,000 from the 1936 appropriations was sent to all city department heads yesterday over the signature of Mayor Kelly. The letter explained that unexpected expenditures—including $1,500,000 paid to employés for 1931 salary deductions and $494,000 asked by the election board—had made it necessary to retrench or face a deficit for 1937.

City Controler R. B. Upham said that the city's financial report for the first six months of 1936 showed a saving of $500,000, much of which would be wiped out toward the end of the year when expenditures normally become heavier. To effect the saving asked by Mayor Kelly, each department must reduce its expenditure by approximately 7 per cent until the new year.

Upham said there was no idea of dismissing employés, although the order probably will mean that the places of those who resign will not be filled. Most of the saving probably will come from the reduction of orders for supplies and materials, he said.

EAGLES BESTOW PRESIDENCY ON OLDEST MEMBER

Dr. H. B. Mehrman of Oakland, Cal., was installed yesterday as grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at the closing session of the order's 38th annual convention in the Morrison hotel. Dr. Mehrman is the oldest living member of the organization, having joined in 1899, the year the Eagles were organized.

Dr. Mehrman succeeds George Nordlin of St. Paul, who was installed yesterday as chairman of the grand trustees of the order. Other officers installed are John W. Heller Jr., York, Pa., vice president; Joseph H. Dowling, Dayton, O., treasurer; John S. Parry, Kansas City, Mo., secretary; John Saxer, Buffalo, N. Y., chaplain, and Julius C. Stremlau, Meridan, Conn., conductor.

MISS HEWITT'S ATTORNEY TELLS OF STERILIZATION

Testifies Heiress Never Gave Her Consent.

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Testimony that Ann Cooper Hewitt was sterilized without her permission, and that one of the surgeons later denied the operation had been performed, was given today at the trial of two doctors accused of mayhem conspiracy against the brunette heiress.

The testimony came from R. P. Tyler, attorney for Miss Hewitt, shortly after prosecution and defense had clashed over a defense refusal to cross-examine her.

Before a courtroom jammed with women spectators, Miss Hewitt, smartly attired, listened intently while lawyers wrangled over the defense refusal to continue its cross-examination, suddenly terminated after Friday's session in which the doctors' lawyer contended the heiress was a "tool" of an extortion plot against her mother.

Settled Mother's Gambling Debt.

Cross-examined himself, Tyler admitted he had acted for the girl's mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarter, in settling a $54,000 gambling debt she incurred at Agua Caliente, but denied he was her "attorney."

Tyler filed Miss Hewitt's $500,000 damage suit against her mother and the two doctors, Tilton E. Tillman and Samuel G. Boyd.

On direct examination the attorney told of three conversations with Dr. Boyd prior to filing of the damage suit.

"I telephoned Dr. Boyd," Tyler said; "told him I understood the operation was for appendicitis, and asked if that was correct. Dr. Boyd said most emphatically yes.

"Then I called his attention to an affidavit Tillman made in New Jersey referring to the operation and which stated that prior to it Miss Hewitt had been subjected to a mentality test. I told Boyd this didn't look right to me, but he insisted that nothing was done except correction of the appendicitis."

Finds Hospital Records.

Tyler said later he found from hospital records that a sterilization had been performed, and again communicated with Dr. Boyd.

"I said, 'Doctor, what is the truth about this operation?'" Tyler testified.

"Boyd replied they had performed a sterilization, and I asked him if he had Miss Hewitt's permission.

"Boyd replied 'No, because she was feeble-minded.'"

The attorney said Dr. Boyd explained his first denial that the operation had been performed by saying he did not wish to discuss the case over the telephone.

Wife No. 2 Acts in Court to Aid Marrying George

Judge Jay A. Schiller in Municipal court yesterday continued to Aug. 27 a charge of bigamy against George W. Hunt, 21 years old, 2648 North Western avenue. The continuance was granted at the request of Hunt's second wife, Mrs. Mary Azano Hunt, 1354 North Campbell avenue, who told Judge Schiller that she intends to have her marriage to Hunt annulled so that he may return to his first wife. The first wife, Mrs. Lenora Gerth Hunt, had Hunt arrested on Aug. 12. She was married to him on March 20, 1935, and has a nine months old child. Hunt was married to his second wife on Oct. 26, 1935, in Chester, Ill.

U. S. TESTS NEW REVOLVER WITH UNUSUAL POWER

Is Believed Capable of Stopping Auto.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A new revolver of tremendous power, which J. Edgar Hoover says might wreck an automobile engine with a single shot, is being tested by the bureau of investigation which he heads.

Described by one official as being capable "of stopping anything," the weapon is being tried to determine if it should be adopted as standard equipment for Hoover's G-men.

No gun of its weight—44 to 49 ounces—with such power ever has been available before, officials said.

More Than Double Impact.

It inflicts a large wound and the impact of a bullet from it was said to have a force of 802 pounds. The regular "service" type has an impact, or "shocking power," of 350 pounds.

An example cited to show the gun's deadliness was its penetration of two steel plates, each .0625 inches thick in addition to two ⅞-inch pine planks.

The gun is manufactured by an American company and already is on the market. Only its cost—$60—or about twice that of the regular police revolver, is counted upon by officials to retard its use by the lawless.

Shell Would Destroy Common Gun.

So great is the explosive power of the special .375 caliber shell provided for the new revolver that its use in an ordinary revolver would blow it to pieces, one expert at the bureau of investigation said.

Evelyn Frechette Quits Hospital for Crime Show

Muncie, Ind., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Evelyn Frechette, one-time sweetheart of John Dillinger, has been released from Ball Memorial hospital, where she underwent a major operation ten days ago. She will go to Ottawa, Ill., to join a "crime show" in which she has a part. The young woman, who served a prison term for her part in Dillinger's escapades, is devoting her time, she said, to teaching youth the futility of crime.

SLOT MACHINES GET SAM'S $160; THEN HE ACTS

Drawn unwillingly into Joliet's slot machine controversy, Sam Cusamano, 43 years old, 1013 Ohio street, in that made his presence felt yesterday.

Cusamano, a laborer, had his son, Angelo, 18 years old, a newsboy, locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct after the youth admitted that he took $160 his father had saved and fed it all into slot machines in four Joliet places of business.

"The last place," Angelo said, "was the Lember Brothers' candy store at 110 North Chicago street. I was thrown out when my money ran out."

Mr. Cusamano visited Chief of Police Nick Fornango and State's Attorney Will R. McCabe vainly seeking aid in getting his money back.

Chief Fornango told Mr. Cusamano that his hands were tied, because last May the Crown Supply company of Chicago gained a temporary injunction from Judge E. L. Wilson of the Will county Circuit court restraining the authorities from interfering with the operation of slot machines.

Then Cusamano visited the Lember Brothers' candy store, carried out one of the four slot machines in the place and smashed it on the walk. Police arrested him as he was picking up $23 in dimes. His disorderly conduct case will be heard on the same day as his son's, Aug. 26.

CHARTER OF HUMAN LIBERTIES.

"Today there are powerful forces trying to convince our people that the constitution is not their charter of human liberties," said Gov. Landon, in his Kansas day address last January in a passage reprinted today on our first page. "Should these forces prevail," he added, "the American government then becomes a source of oppression such as now afflicts various other peoples throughout the world."

It is fortunate that we have leadership against the party in power which realizes this underlying issue of the political conflict. There are many of our citizens who do not think it important and wish the controversy to be concentrated exclusively on the immediate material damage done by the New Deal, upon the staggering increase of public expenditures, upon maladministration and unscrupulous waste of the people's money to entrench the administration in power, upon blundering agricultural policies, malpractice and inefficiency in relief, and the danger of an inflation disaster. Grave enough this accumulation is. It is or ought to be enough to bury any administration responsible for it. It must be brought home to the full comprehension of voters. But beneath the whole astounding welter of misgovernment and reckless experiment runs the ambition of the Rooseveltian régime to undermine the American system of government and the free democracy which has grown up and flourished under its guardianship.

There are indeed "powerful forces trying to convince our people that the constitution is not their charter of human liberties." Confessed communism is the least important of these forces, though mischievous enough. The seepage of radical theories through the so-called intelligentsia and its influence upon the inexperience and idealism of youth, though a serious factor in our present situation, would be dealt with by counter education before its demoralization had ripened. But this work for the first time in American history has had the prestige and the support of a government in power and for the first time that power has created conditions, both moral and material, which are essential to the revolution it seeks.

The welfare of the American people has been created by themselves as a community of freemen and by no paternal government. It has been the fruit of their liberties and will not survive their loss. The constitution is the charter of their liberties and, as Gov. Landon warns, if the forces which would disparage and destroy it prevail, American government would become "a source of oppression such as now afflicts various other peoples throughout the world."

THE CAMEL AND THE TENT.

In Gibbons v. Ogden the Supreme court decided that, as congress held the power to regulate commerce between the states, such authority must of necessity include regulation of the facilities of commerce, or transportation. With this precedent no attempt has been made to test the constitutionality of laws through which the federal government assumes practical management of the railways and supervisory control over pipe lines, telephone and telegraph companies. Within the past year trucks and buses have been added to the list of "facilities of commerce."

For a matter of twenty years after the interstate commerce act of 1887 created the interstate commerce commission to regulate the railways burocracy was content to confine its activities to purely interstate movements, but when, in 1906, the Hepburn act conferred rate-making power on the commission, that body commenced to invade the realm of purely state and local transactions. The place of production became the determinative factor. Coal reaching Chicago by lake from Pennsylvania was adjudged to continue as interstate trafic when distributed in smaller lots from Chicago to destinations in Illinois. It was further considered justifiable to regulate intrastate trafic when there was a possibility of competition with the same commodity produced in another state. A car of cinders moved two blocks along Illinois street is not only intrastate but intracounty, intracity, and even intrastreet commerce. The rate assessed by the railways, however, is made a national concern because of the possibility that the consignee might have bought his cinders in Whiting, Ind. Under the same theory suburban fares from Chicago to Englewood are dictated by the interstate commerce commission in Washington because a limited number of persons employed in Chicago commute to La Porte, Ind.

And now we have federal truck and bus regulation. Because he may be engaged in the transfer of an occasional commodity that was produced in Pennsylvania, an Illinois highway trucker becomes a national common carrier though he may never cross a state line. For the present Chicago's boundaries are to be fixed and free trucking allowed within a metropolitan zone, but how long will this condition last if railway experience may be regarded as a criterion? Political history never fails to repeat itself. All it needs is the shade of precedent. With no effort to stay burocracy's thirst for power, it is not beyond the bounds of reason that the citizen will eventually be required to secure a "certificate of public convenience and necessity" to drive his neighbor to the station or airport if the final destination is Buffalo or New York.

THE GLASS EYE WAS THE FRIENDLY ONE.

When Uncle Sam returns to his true character one of his embarrassments will be in his position as creditor, not to foreign nations which settle their accounts by saying that no perceivable good would follow a discussion of them, but to American citizens. He holds mortgages on homes and farms and although he cannot get judgment against the foreign countries he can foreclose and take the property of Americans.

The report of the Home Owners Loan corporation indicates that delinquencies now are in the amount of about 116 million dollars. The corporation has ceased to report the number of foreclosure proceedings it has authorized, but it is estimated that ultimately 200,000 homes will be seized unless it is decided to be politically expedient to take the loss instead and cover it up as well as possible.

A new administration will find these farm and home mortgages not the least of the troubles dropped on it by the New Deal. It will not have been responsible for the errors, but it will be responsible for settlement of them. The HOLC made over 1 million loans in a total of over 3 billion dollars. American householders, leaving the farms out of account, owe their government more than the French war debt, pre-armistice, and about half as much as the French, British, and Italian debt refunded.

There are people who have favored the plan of having the government take the railroads from their owners and the mines and the industries who will not be so enthusiastic when the government takes over the homes of the small householders, but that is exactly what the New Deal proposes—government ownership of the people.

CHARACTER EDUCATION.

According to Science News Letter's digest of the remarks of an Oregon State college educator the list of virtues piously set down by the youthful philosopher, Ben Franklin, belongs to the horse and buggy days and is inadequate for the child who must be "prepared to live in an age of flux." The professor therefore offers another list with explanations, in quotes, to wit: "1. Discrimination: essential in facing issues today. If we live vitally we must distinguish among the good, the better, and the best." Ben seems not to have been impressed with that. Probably didn't bet on the horses. "2. Self-discipline. Leads to vision, power, freedom, and poise of freedom." Ben only mentions temperance, silence, order, resolution, frugality, modesty, sincerity, justice, moderation, cleanliness, tranquility, chastity, humility. But the Oregon professor seems to have read the up-to-date "personality" ads. "3. Appreciation. To live vitally, whether poor or rich, one needs ability to discover beauty and goodness in the world around." Ben seems to have overlooked that. Probably wasn't living "vitally," the old slow coach. "4. Imagination. The errand boy which may be trained to try out issues for us and give the verdict before we ourselves become involved. Important in the uncertainties of the present world." And the funniest errand that errand boy ever had pinned on him. "5. Humor . . . rather essential for healthy living, especially so in this age," and especially so in this professor's classes. "6. Reverence. There is need to discover the overtones and certainties among the transient features which challenge worship." Helpful hint for the up-to-date child. "7. Joy. There seems to be a close relationship between joy and energy, joy and progress, joy and righteousness." That is another Ben seems to have missed, although they do say he had quite a time when he was in Paris.

This, we gather from the Science News Letter, was the gist of a discourse upon "the homemaker's part in character education" before the Home Economics Association of Seattle. If the so-called child labor amendment is finally put across and the molding of our youth can be taken over thoroughly by an all-wise and benevolent government we have our nominee for secretary of education.

Editorial of the Day

THE TRICK OF "SLUM CLEARANCE."

[Kansas City Star.]

According to a published account, the PWA's so-called low rent housing development just completed in Atlanta represents the last word in appointments. There are trim dwellings fitted with conveniences that command the admiration of housewives, the entire project is rounded out as a modern community enterprise, and it might be assumed that here the government has undertaken and brought to a successful conclusion a great piece of humanitarianism.

It has. But the work has been done and the enterprise will be maintained at the expense of the taxpayers of the country and for the benefit of a few hundred families in Atlanta who could have found or already had homes that were owned or rented without public assistance. Why should these families be so favored by a government agency?

This housing development, known as Techwood, was begun as a slum clearance project. That seemed to mean that "underprivileged" families were to be aided and living conditions in a city thereby bettered. The slum dwellers accordingly were moved out, the government's, the people's, money was poured in to the tune of more than 3 million dollars, and the new housing units went up.

But can they now be occupied by the slum dwellers who formerly lived on the spot? Not for a moment. For, moderate as the rentals are to be in proportion to the building investment, they are beyond the reach of the former slum dwellers. These have been left to move into or to start other slums, while families of much higher incomes—ranging from $1,200 to $1,800 a year—are to move into the handsome dwellings put up by the PWA and subsidized by the government, with the people's money, at 45 per cent of the cost. The rentals, from $23.47 to $38.10 a month, will therefore be based on only 55 per cent or a little more than one-half the cost of the housing.

That's the trick of it. A few hundred families who did not need any help are to be lucky and the rest of us will pay 45 per cent of the rent they ought to pay.

MIGHT THINK SO.

"D'you know, Mrs. 'arris, I sometimes wonder if me husband's grown tired of me."

Cathedral-quiet are the moss-draped trees,
Swelling above their silent symphonies,
I heard the mighty overtones of God.

REMINISCENCE.

We were all riding along the dusty limestone pike in the family surrey, bound to the plain farm home of the Blanks for Sunday dinner. "The Blanks are fine people," said father as he flicked a horsefly with the whip, "as honest and hard working as anybody in the county. But they never had much schooling and they make mistakes. If any of you smart alecks laughs at their breaks he'll get a warming when we're back home."

The Blanks were giving what was called a "dining" in the country then, and when it was time to seat us the chair supply proved insufficient. Mr. Blank dragged in a twelve foot bench that normally stood beside the smokehouse and remarked that it ought to do for the children.

"Looks like we ain't got enough cheers in this house," he added.

Mrs. Blank flushed. "We got plenty of cheers," she said acridly. "The only trouble is we got too much company."

No one, as we recall it, even smiled. Instead we fell to with a will on the fried chicken, the old ham, the roasting ears, the butter beans (let's stop here; the list is interminable), and when we were at home again father said we had all behaved better than he expected.

BIRTHMARKS.

THERE are countless supersititions clustered about birthmarks, and they are still regarded by some with no little apprehension. We may recall Hawthorne's grussome tale of the scientist who attempted to remove a birthmark from his wife's face, the roots of which reached to her very soul.

A popular but erroneous belief is that a deep impression made upon the mind of a pregnant woman is likely to be recorded in the form of a birthmark on her child. I once had a mother explain that the long, red mark on her child's cheek was due to the fact that on one occasion when returning home she was rendered momentarily blind by a brilliant flash of lightning. She recalled the shape of the flash so vividly that she was not at all surprised when the birthmark appeared on her babe. Of course, such instances, when they occur, are purely coincidental and do not follow the rule of cause and effect.

When we think of birthmarks [called nevi] we ordinarily refer to a red, port wine, or strawberry mark on the skin, which is occasioned by a network of blood vessels close to the surface. Sometimes they are extensive and will involve the mouth, the tongue, and a considerable portion of the check and neck. In fact, they may develop on practically any part of the body. However, more than 75 per cent of this common type of birthmark will be found somewhere about the head. They are soft to the touch and will blaze up with heightened color whenever the owner laughs vociferously or coughs violently. Their presence produces no effect on general health, although when cut or injured profuse bleeding may ensue. When on a visible portion of the body they are merely unsightly. The best time to remove them is when they are first observed. This will usually be in infancy.

"Port wine" marks are very common in infants; in fact, nearly one-third of all newborn babes will show one or more. Most of these will be outgrown, as we say; in other words, they will disappear spontaneously and hence are seen less frequently in adults.

Strictly speaking, among nevi we must include moles—the soft, pigmented type—some of which will contain hairs. Occasionally there will be flat, large patches of bluish black or brownish pigment. In other instances these affairs will seem to be fastened to the skin by a tiny connecting isthmus of soft tissue.

Unless the blemish is definitly disfiguring it is well to let it alone. There is just one precaution, however, that must be kept in mind—should the area begin to grow, to ulcerate, or to degenerate, skilled attention is demanded promptly.

There are many methods of treatment that are of value, chief among which are radium and X-ray. In fact, if surgery is advised, with subsequent skin grafting, it is generally wise to irradiate the area before removal. The slower the X-ray treatment the better, that is, the dose should be very small to begin with and should be continued over a considerable period of time. Care should be taken not to bring about atrophy of the skin. Many experts believe that radium is preferable to X-ray, although both have been used successfully.

With small areas the electrocautery will coagulate the blood vessels and the electric knife may be used for the removal of the deeper tissues. Nevertheless, a scar will result and unless skin grafting is undertaken the spot may be more unsightly than the original affair.

For small growths that interfere with shaving in men or that constitute blemishes on the face, neck, shoulders, and arms of women, the high frequency current may be used.

On the whole we may say that reddish birthmarks rarely become dangerous. This does not hold true, however, for the blue-black moles which may grow, become cancerous, and thus spread to other parts of the body. For this reason surgical removal of these small, brownish, black, or blue-black growths is advised, particularly if they are subject to pressure and irritation from collarbands, waistbands, etc. A slight scar under such circumstances is the lesser of two evils.

MAY BE FUNGUS.

B. V. writes: I have a catarrhal condition and raise a lot of mucus. But at times I raise a thick, hard mass containing small white bodies. When these open they prove to be full of something that looks like mold or fungus. A doctor tells me this is the normal result of a catarrhal condition but I still feel suspicious.

REPLY.

The presence in the sputum of glairy, mucoid plugs known as "Laennec's pearls" is a symptom of bronchitis, usually associated with bronchial asthma. Your sputum should be subjected to a careful microscopic examination, as a fungus infection may be present.

X-RAY ADVISED.

Mrs. H. A. writes: For some time I have been bothered with a dull pain in the lower left side of my back. Lately I have trouble trying to lie on my stomach while in bed. While turning from one side to another it feels as though I were weighted down. What do you think is the cause?

REPLY.

This type of pain is frequently associated with arthritis or with pelvic disease. An X-ray examination is suggested, particularly of the sacroiliac joint.

GETTING TONSILS OUT.

A. C. writes: I must have my tonsils out. I am 40 years old and not in the best of health. I do not know whether to have surgery or diathermy. No two people seem to agree on which is the method of choice. Would removal of the tonsils tend to prevent quinsy attacks?

REPLY.

Surgery is the method of choice. Tonsillectomy performed by a competent surgeon is not dangerous. It usually insures freedom from quinsy.

SOFT TEETH.

W. K. writes: What is a good cure for soft teeth? No matter how often I consult a dentist I am continually developing cavities.

REPLY.

The best remedy for soft teeth is proper diet for the pregnant mother. After birth there is not much to be done. Certainly not after one is grown. A diet high in calcium and vitamin D may help.

POISONING AMERICA

DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.
[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 18, 1787.—In convention. Mr. Mason of Virginia introduced the subject of regulating the militia. He thought such a power necessary to be given to the general government. [Mr. Madison had proposed a number of additional enumerated powers to be referred to the committee of detail. Mr. Mason's subject was added, likewise suggestions of Mr. Gerry with regard to public securities and letters of marque and of Mr. Rutledge that funds appropriated for public creditors should not be diverted to other purposes.]

The Matter of the Sword

Mr. Rutledge then moved that a grand committee be appointed to consider the necessity and expediency of the United States assuming all the state debts. A regular settlement between the Union and the several states would never take place. The assumption would be just as the state debts were contracted in the common defense. [Mr. Rutledge's motion agreed to. A grand committee was appointed.] Mr. Rutledge remarked on the length of the session, the probable impatience of the public and the extreme anxiety of many members of the convention to bring the business to an end and concluded with a motion that the convention meet henceforward precisely at 10 o'clock a. m. and that precisely at 4 p. m. the president adjourn the house without motion for that purpose and that no motion to adjourn sooner be allowed. [Agreed to. The subject of a council for the President was allowed by general consent to lay over.]

The house proceeded to the clause "to raise armies." Mr. Gorham moved to add "support." Agreed to and the clause agreed to. Mr. Gerry took notice that there was no check here against standing armies in the time of peace. The existing congress is so constructed that it cannot of itself maintain an army. This would not be the case under the new system. He thought an army dangerous in time of peace and could never consent to a power to keep up an indefinite number. Mr. Luther Martin and Mr. Gerry now regularly moved, "provided, that in time of peace the army shall not consist of more than [blank number] of men." Gen. Pinckney of South Carolina asked whether no troops were ever to be raised until an attack should be made on us. Mr. Gerry: If there be no restriction a few states may establish a military government. The motion of Mr. Martin and Mr. Gerry was disagreed to.

Mr. Dickinson of Delaware: We are now come to the most important matter—that of the sword. His opinion was the states never would or ought to give up all authority over the militia. He proposed to restrain the general power to one-fourth at a time. Mr. Butler urged the necessity of submitting the whole militia to the general authority which had the care of the general defense. [The question committed to the grand committee.] Adjourned.

IMPRISONED IN GERMANY.

Kirkland, Wash., Aug. 11.—I am inclosing various communications and newspaper clippings relative to the Lawrence B. Simpson case. I am Lawrence Simpson's father and naturally very much concerned.

This is an international case and one that has created a great deal of interest on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. You will notice by inclosed copy of clipping from Seaman's Union paper, published in San Francisco under date of July 19, 1935, that Lawrence B. Simpson was arrested on board the American S. S. Manhattan on June 28, 1935, and charged with anti-Fascist activities and possession of anti-Fascist literature. He was held in concentration camp at Hamburg until March 27, when he was transferred to Moabit prison at Berlin, where he is still held.

You will also note by inclosed copy of communication from American consul at Hamburg that the International Labor Defense of New York had secured an attorney from Paris to defend my son in the German courts. This attorney was finally rejected on the grounds that he was not of the same nationality as the defendant. They then sent an attorney [an American this time] from Los Angeles, Cal. He also was rejected, this time on the grounds that no one but a Nazi attorney would be allowed to practice in the German courts, as you will notice in the communication from the American consul at Berlin wherein he states: "According to German law, foreign attorneys are not permitted to practice in the German courts and it will therefore be necessary for your son to accept the services of a German lawyer provided by the court free of charge."

Now, I am informed that any German lawyer does not dare attempt to defend any prisoner, either foreign or German, in any charge against the Nazi government; therefore, I cannot but feel that my son, an American citizen, is in grave danger of being railroaded through an unjust court and possibly convicted and executed without a chance to defend himself. I have provided this government with sufficient proof that my son is an American citizen by following the family tree back to where my father and Ulysses S. Grant's mother were cousins.

Now, this American citizen, being charged with "possession of anti-Fascist literature," a charge which seems very trivial here, is magnified by the Nazi government to be a very serious charge there, was supposed to stand trial in the People's court at Berlin on July 28 last. This trial was postponed by the German government on account of the Olympic games. No one seems to know why, or if it is postponed indefinitly.

You will note in my letter to the ambassador at Berlin that I had reason to believe that my son may have been framed. But framed or not framed, guilty or not guilty, the fact remains that he is an American citizen and entitled to a fair and open trial with a chance to prove his innocence. This he cannot do behind closed doors, without attorney or evidence. I took this matter up in person with the state department at Washington, D. C., on July 14 last. While Mr. James Clement Dunn, chief of the western division of European affairs, stated that he thought I was unduly alarmed about the case, he did promise me there would be an American representative in the courtroom. Now, if this representative is an attaché of the American consul at Berlin and is there only as a spectator, well, thank you, Mr. Dunn, that may help some.

I asked Mr. Dunn, since we were not permitted to have a defense attorney at the trial, to place a representative of the American government in the courtroom at the trial, and that the German government should know that this representative was there for the sole purpose of knowing how the trial was conducted.

I know I am only just one small individual and my influence at Washington, D. C., is probably rated as such. Now I am presenting these facts to THE TRIBUNE in the hope that you will take this case up in your own way and through the columns of THE TRIBUNE you may reach some influential person or public opinion that could take the matter up at Washington, D. C., and create a deeper interest there in my son's behalf.

NECESSARY REPAIRS MADE.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—Would be pleased to know if your department could do something to force the street car company to repair the crossing at 25th street and South Kedzie avenue. I notified said company some time ago but heard nothing of their intentions. About a year ago the alderman said that the tracks would be removed, but it proved to be a joke. Kindly let me know what I can expect in the near future. J. J. B.

The surface lines have made the necessary repairs. This crossing has been placed in good condition and the annoyance occasioned by street cars passing this point has been reduced to the minimum.

CITIZENSHIP STATUS.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 13.—[Friend of the People.]—What is the present status of a person entering the United States from Canada in January, 1922, who paid the required head tax, has worked here, and made his home here? What further steps, if any, are necessary for him to take before he becomes a legal citizen of the United States? I. B. W.

It is assumed that the subject was legally admitted to the United States for permanent residence at the time stated. In order to become a citizen he should file a declaration of intention [first paper] and, when the same is at least two and not over seven years old, apply for final papers.

DROUTH RELIEF PREDICTED FOR ¾ IN DAKOTAS

50,000 More Farmers to Be Given Jobs.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Drouth relief for three-fourths of the entire farm population of the Dakotas by late fall was forecast by one government official today as others discussed a proposed sheep purchase program and additional aids for the dry area.

Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, said that "regardless of favorable changes in weather conditions, approximately 75 per cent of the total farm population of North Dakota and South Dakota will need relief by late fall."

He announced that 25,000 additional farmers in each state would be given jobs "in the next few days." More than 25,000 in North Dakota and 18,000 in South Dakota already have been employed, WPA reported.

Purchase Plan Studied.

At the department of agriculture the cattle purchase committee worked during the day on suggestions for sheep purchases. Conferences looking toward a seed loan program and freight rate reductions on shipments of manufactured feeds also were renewed.

Some AAA officials said the feed situation was becoming particularly serious in parched sections where there was an unusually large spring lamb crop.

No assurance was given that the cattle committee would buy sheep, but discussion turned to light and low grade animals unfit for feed lots. In market quarters it was suggested the government might purchase such stock for distribution as processed meat to persons on relief.

WPA Aid Pledged.

The forecast concerning relief needs in the Dakotas was based on reports from Howard O. Hunter, assistant WPA administrator, and Howard Drew, field representative.

Hunter denied that the administration had set a maximum of 121,500 drouth relief jobs.

"Only those persons actually in need will be aided," he said, "but WPA will continue to give assistance to those in distress so long as the need exists, no matter how high the number goes."

"No Depopulation": Tugwell.

Amarillo, Tex., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Dr. Rexford G. Tugwell in an address today said "all this talk about depopulation of the great plains is foolish. We don't want to depopulate the country; we want to fortify it to withstand drouth."

Dr. Tugwell made a breakfast table talk as members of the President's drouth commission assembled for a 3,000 mile inspection tour.

Members of the committee were asked for comment on the survey published yesterday by the University of Pennsylvania from Dr. C. W. Thornwaite, a climatologist, recommending that 59,000 families be moved off drouth damaged farms.

SHERIF ABSOLVES EX-SUITOR, 24, IN TEACHER'S DEATH

Kenneth G. Wilson, 24 years old, was in Peoria, his home, last Thursday night when his former sweetheart, Miss Blanche Shrader, 35 years old, met her death in the Fox river, four miles southwest of Aurora, according to Sherif William Maier of Kendall county. He absolved Wilson entirely.

Miss Shrader, a music teacher in the Rockford grade schools, was found dead in two feet of water on Friday. A bruise over her left eye and the apparent absence of water from her lungs suggested the possibility of murder, investigators said, but Sherif Maier concluded yesterday that there was no motive for such a crime and that all circumstances pointed to accidental death or conceivably to suicide.

The teacher was spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Schrader of Shabbona in De Kalb county. At the Baptist church there yesterday, funeral services were held for Miss Shrader. Burial was in Rosehill cemetery just outside the town.

PICKET, POLICE LINES INCREASED IN PRESS STRIKE

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Picket and police lines were increased around the locked Post-Intelligencer building here today as the strike of the American Newspaper guild entered its fifth day.

The newspaper, a Hearst publication, failed to publish its Sunday editions yesterday, the first time in nearly 40 years, officials said. The paper has not published since Thursday morning.

The Seattle chapter of the guild called the strike in protest against the discharge of two guild members.

RELIEF WORKERS REFUSE TO FAKE ADDRESSES; QUIT

New Civil Service Rule Reduces Staf.

Three emergency relief supervisors have resigned in indignation over a suggestion that they feign Chicago residence addresses in order to retain their civil service jobs under the new city relief administration, it was disclosed yesterday.

The resignations followed a meeting last Friday at which members of the staf discussed the problem of how to keep the relief organization intact for the sake of efficiency, and at the same time conform to regulations of the Chicago civil service commission that every applicant for a job must be a resident of the city.

Lyons Makes Denial.

Leo M. Lyons, city relief commissioner, denied he authorized a suggestion that employés carried over from the old régime of the county bureau of public welfare should pose as Chicago residents even if their homes are outside the city. Mrs. Clara Paul Paige, who supervises the staf, declined to discuss the subject.

On Saturday four nonresident supervisors of relief were automatically separated from the staf under the civil service rule. They are Mrs. Avis R. Ninabuck, 1092 Cherry street, Winnetka; Mrs. Amelia H. Baker, 551 Hinman avenue, Evanston; Mrs. Gertrude B. Jayne, 1816 Lawn avenue, Western Springs, and Mrs. Coral S. Brooks, 644 Cook street, Barrington.

Refuse to Discuss Action.

Anticipating this action, Mrs. Ninabuck, Mrs. Baker, and Mrs. Jayne resigned. All declined to discuss their resignation other than to say politics had nothing to do with the matter.

Gov. Horner at Springfield last night signed the bills providing for the new relief setup in Illinois, by which the state will appropriate $3,000,000 a month instead of $2,000,000 to help local communities support the jobless. The bills carry emergency clauses, and the funds will be available at once.

FARM BOY INDICTED IN CHUM'S GUN DEATH WHILE SHOOTING FROGS

Wellsboro, Pa., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Lyle West, 14 year old farm boy, wept in his cell tonight after a grand jury held him on charges of involuntary manslaughter in the death of his chum, Hugh Townsend, 8.

"I didn't mean to shoot," Lyle wept when his counsel told him he would have to remain in jail until his trial Monday.

The fatal shooting occurred while the boys were shooting frogs at a pond several weeks ago. Several boys said they heard Lyle cry: "Stick 'em up."

There was a shot and Hugh fell dead. Some of the boys said that Lyle offered to pay them to hide the body. Lyle insisted he did not mean to shoot his chum.

DEALERS VIEW AUTO GADGETS YOU'LL SEE SOON

Five thousand gadgets to gladden the hearts of automobile owners were exhibited yesterday in the Stevens hotel at the first summer show given by the Automotive Accessories association. The show, open only to members of the trade, will close tomorrow night.

More than 1,500 buyers, representing retail trade outlets doing an annual business of $150,000,000, viewed new and old devices displayed by 160 manufacturers. R. G. Ames, executive secretary of the association, predicted that before the exhibition is concluded at least 70 of the manufacturers will make sales ranging from $250,000 to $450,000 each.

A fireproof motor heater that gives a summer start in zero weather for the motorist who parks outdoors, or in an unheated garage, attracted many buyers. A new product called "touch-up-tape" also gained attention. The tape, containing a light film of lacker is applied moist to marred fenders or body surface. Allowed to dry, the tape peels off and the surface can be rubbed to a keen polish.

FIRE DESTROYS $12,000 BARN.

DROUTH HURTS NATION, BUT AIDS CORN WALLACE

Selling 'Hi-Bred' Seed at Soaring Prices.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Corn Wallace's house in Washington may be crumbling down, but acreage reduction programs and drouths seem to have been the ill wind that has made it possible for his house of "hi-bred" seed corn to be built on a firm foundation.

It was reported here today that advance orders for 1937 already are on the books for approximately 55,000 bushels of "hi-bred" seed corn sold by the concern established by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and in which he still retains a family interest.

The Pioneer Hi-Bred Corn company is the new name given to the Wallace seed corn house. It formerly was known under the simple name "Hi-Bred Corn company."

Withstands Drouth Conditions.

Nelson Urban, business manager of the company, with a sales office here in Des Moines, said today that while the hi-bred corn was severely damaged by the drouth, it nevertheless had withstood the weather much better than ordinary corn in this vicinity.

It now appears that the drouth may have proved a boon to the corn company. The Wallace company, even though it will have an extremely short crop to harvest this year, is expected to be in a position to demand and get high prices for the drouth-resisting seed corn that it is able to gather this fall.

The company's prices for seed corn planted this spring ranged between $7 and $12 per bushel and it seems likely that they will be boosted for 1937.

Silent on Amount Sold.

Manager Urban would not say how much hi-bred corn the company sold in 1936, but said that approximately 5 per cent of the Iowa crop was planted with hybrid corn. What part of this 5 per cent the Pioneer company furnished, he would not say, but it is said to have been at least half, probably more.

An examination of the hi-bred fields showed that some of the corn has been badly burned by the hot sun, while other patches should yield fairly well.

An indication of how the Wallace concern has been able to popularize the hi-bred seed corn is found in a comparison of the rise in price since 1932, when the corn was sold at from $6 to $8 a bushel. It will be almost double that for 1937.

Urban's report of the outlook for hi-bred seed corn was confirmed by Charles D. Reed, local federal meteorologist. Reed pointed out that any corn surviving the drouth should be "extremely valuable" and should be hoarded as gold.

$12,300 PAYMENT BY SMITH TO GIRL TOLD IN ALIMONY ACTION

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A diary kept by Mrs. Alfred E. Smith Jr., purporting to show that her husband's New York City law practice income was sometimes as high as $30,000 a month from 1928 to 1932, was quoted by Clifford H. Searl, her attorney, in Supreme court today.

He argued a motion for substantial temporary alimony and counsel fees pending trial of her separation action.

"It is a very specific kind of diary—one devoted almost entirely to financial matters," Mrs. Smith told reporters.

As a hint of what the diary contained Searl told Justice Abram Zoller that Mrs. Smith had recorded that the son of the former governor had earned $30,000 in January, 1928; $10,080.83 in January, 1929; $6,200 in February of that year, $1,200 in March, $6,303 in April, and $2,210 in May, 1929.

Searl read an affidavit by Mrs. Smith referring to a recent series of alleged payments by young Smith totalling $12,300 to Miss Catherina Pavlik of Astoria, N. Y., a stenographer, as indicating that he is still well supplied with money. A list of stocks he owns also was read.

TRUCKS CONVOY ILLINOIS GUARDS TO CAMP CUSTER

Railroads Do Part in Moving Troops.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Custer, Mich., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Officers of the 33rd division of Illinois National Guardsmen sighed with relief at noon today as the last of the trucks bringing the division from field bivouacs arrived here without accident.

Regular army officers praised the speed with which the movement was made under direction of the divisional staf. The first of the convoys left the bivouacs 60 miles west of here at dawn and the movement was completed in approximately six hours.

As the 33rd was moving in the 32nd division made up of Wisconsin and Michigan guardsmen carried out an attack maneuver against the infantry of the 12th brigade [regular army] north of Dunningville.

Railways Reduce Rates.

The cöoperation of the railroads in reducing rates for transporting troops to the maneuvers was revealed today by Maj. George Hayes, assistant chief of staf of the Second army, when he was questioned concerning reports that the railroads had appealed to the Interstate Commerce commission when it became known several months ago that some of the troops were to be transported by water.

"The railroads never appealed to the commerce commission," Maj. Hayes said. "They questioned the army action, calling our attention to the contracts which call for all peacetime troop movements to be made by rail when the troops are not moved in army trucks, but they agreed we were right when we explained that it was necessary for the army to test the possibility of using water transport in time of emergency."

Move Homeward Soon.

Some of the troops returning to Illinois and Wisconsin —approximately 4,000 all told — will go from here to St. Joseph, as an embarkation point for Chicago, and to Grand Haven, as an embarkation point for Milwaukee, by train. Then they will shift to the boats for the trip across the lake. Wisconsin troops from points outside Milwaukee will continue their journey by train.

Other troops will leave here by train and truck from Friday afternoon on, with all troops to be on their way by noon Saturday.

Saves Gasoline Dump.

Private Louis Cowan, a member of the 108th quartermaster regiment from Rockford, Ill., was the hero of Camp Custer tonight after he had saved a 3,000 gallon gasoline dump from an explosion that might have swept the camp. He was on duty at the dump when a station wagon of the 8th infantry pulled in to load gasoline.

For some reason that was not determined the gasoline in a drum exploded, setting the rear part of the station wagon afire. Private Cowan jumped in and drove the blazing vehicle a hundred yards from the dump before he was forced to leap for safety. Five minutes later Cowan was back on duty, having suffered only the loss of most of his hair.

FOG DELAYS HOP TO ROGERS-POST AIR CRASH SPOT

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Fog and threatening weather—a day like the one on which Will Rogers and Wiley Post left here a year ago to meet death in an air crash near Barrow—today delayed a memorial flight Mrs. Post plans to the spot where her husband and his famous passenger died.

Losing their course in a fog, Rogers and Post landed on a small stream inlet on the ocean southwest of Barrow. They plunged to their deaths when their plane motor failed as they took off. It was a year ago last Saturday.

Unwilling to hazard his passengers, five others in addition to Mrs. Post, Pilot Joe Crosson, who flew the bodies of Post and Rogers south last year, awaited better weather before setting out on the 500 mile flight. The big transport plane will also take two memorials, five-foot iron crosses, north to Barrow. They will be set on concrete bases beside the inlet in which the two men died.

"Here died Aug. 15, 1935, Will Rogers, a man beloved by all," one of them reads. The other, similarly brief, describes Post as the "world's air pioneer."

CROWD ATTENDS RITES FOR 'UNCLE BOB' OF RADIO

More than 600 persons filled the Ravenswood Masonic temple yesterday afternoon when funeral services were conducted for Walter Frank Schoeneck, radio's "Uncle Bob," who died on Friday in Englewood hospital.

Before the services almost 2,000 persons, many of them children who had been enroled in his "Curb Is the Limit Club" on station WIND, filed past the bier. The funeral was to have been held at the chapel at 1732 Wilson avenue, but was moved to the larger auditorium because of the crowd.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Rudolph John of St. Paul's Episcopal church, with the assistance of Concord Masonic lodge, of which Mr. Schoeneck was a member. Interment was in Graceland cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Lola Fisher Schoeneck.

DR. JACOB FRANK LEAVES $85,000; PORTER, $175,000

The will of Dr. Jacob Frank, noted surgeon, disposing of an estate estimated at $85,000 was filed yesterday with Mitchell C. Robin, clerk of the Probate court, and approved by Oscar S. Caplan, assistant to the Probate judge. Dr. Frank died on Aug. 11 at the age of 80 in his apartment at the Surf hotel.

After bequests of $5,000 to Mrs. Mary K. Hessel, a nurse who served as Dr. Frank's secretary, and $1,000 each to the police and firemen's benevolent associations, the residue of the estate is divided between Dr. Sylvan Coombs, a son-in-law, and Dr. Robert A. Coombs, a grandson. They are the husband and son of Dr. Frank's only daughter, Myna, who died last year.

An inventory listing the estate of Sidney S. Porter, former vice president of the Calumet Steel company, at $175,000 also was filed during the day. Mr. Porter was killed in an automobile accident in Florida last March 13. His estate, first estimated at $60,000, is left in trust for his widow, Elizabeth, and at her death the principal will go to their son, James, 17 years old, after he has reached the age of 35.

Other wills admitted to probate were those of:

MRS. ROSE M. HESS, 3652 Wallace street, died June 17. Estate $30,000 to son, Dr. A. Philip Hess, 8044 Laflin street, executor.

MRS. MARY ANN GETTY, 383 Park avenue, Glencoe, died June 15. Estate $23,000, left in trust to husband, Milburn Getty, and at his death to Presbyterian home, 3200 Grant street, Evanston.

PETER ROSTENKOWSKI, 1372 Ingraham street, died June 17. Estate $14,000 to widow, Julia, and son, Ald. Joseph P. Bostenkowski [32d].

RITES TODAY FOR CHAS. M. SMALLEY, LUMBER OFFICIAL

Funeral services for Charles Marvin Smalley will be held at 11 a. m. today in the chapel at 5203 Lake Park avenue. Burial will be in Graceland cemetery.

CHARLES M. SMALLEY.

Mr. Smalley was a co-founder of the E. A. Thornton Lumber company and was an officer and director of the concern. He died on Sunday in his home at 4865 Lake Park avenue. He was 71 years old. He entered the lumber business at the age of 17, and at one time was manager of the Chicago Lumber and Coal company.

Mr. Smalley was president of the Olympia Fields Country club in 1915 and was one of the organizers of the South Shore Country club. He is survived by his widow and a daughter, Fay.

DIES AFTER NIGHT IN CONSERVATORY WITH NO CLOTHES

William Cronin, 38 years old, former deputy public utilities commissioner of St. Paul, Minn., died in the county hospital yesterday of pneumonia complicated by heart disease. Cronin was taken to the hospital Sunday morning after he was found wandering unclad in the Garfield park conservatory.

According to Policeman Albert Marik, who found him when the conservatory was opened at 8 o'clock in the morning, Cronin appeared in a daze and was unable to explain the disappearance of his clothing. He told Marik he had visited a tavern on Lake street the night before with a man he knew only as "Peter."

At the hospital Cronin said that he had been staying in a hotel at 616 Rush street. The Croydon hotel is at that address, but no record of Cronin was found there. Undertaker Costello at 103 North Laramie street yesterday afternoon received a request from Michael O'Dowd, 518 South Peters street, St. Paul, a brother-in-law of Cronin, to send the body to that city.

'Grenades' Fail, but Rock Brings War Game Casualty

Battle Creek, Mich., Aug. 17.—(AP)—A private's yearning for realism in the war maneuvers today sent an umpire to the hospital. The private, on grenade duty, complained that he couldn't stop any trucks by waving his arm as he pretended to throw grenades. His captain jokingly asked: "Why not throw a rock at them?" The soldier did. The rock struck the head of an umpire, and the arbiter was counted out as a casualty.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

While waiting to reherse with the Chicago Opera orchestra yesterday afternoon for last night's concert Rudy Vallee staged an informal reunion with Himmel, his Dobermann-Pinscher, which he had not seen for seven months, on the Grant park greensward while several hundred of his admirers looked on. Himmel has just completed a course of training in the Lake Villa kennels of Maurice V. Reynolds, a cousin of Vallee, and is to be flown back to New York today by the radio celebrity.

As Himmel loped about the park, balanced on a tight wire, and leaped through a hoop, Vallee found a moment to disclose that he and Neila Goodelle, his new girl friend, are likely to be co-starred in a new Broadway musical, "Swing It, Susan," by Lawrence Schwab. Miss Goodelle has already been engaged and Rudy has been asked to play in it. Unless his west coast picture schedule interferes he plans to accept. Before returning east today Vallee plans to examine some instruments developed by Dean Carl E. Seashore of the University of Iowa for measuring individual capacity for sensing pitch. They are manufactured in Chicago.

"Uncle Bob" will be missed by countless children and their parents on the airlanes. His program was one of the few for children that had the complete approval of adults. His "Curb Is the Limit" club had enrolled more than 850,000 youngsters, ample evidence that young folks liked him. He is gone, but the precepts he laid down through his safety club probably saved many a young life.

The Joe Louis-Jack Sharkey fight is to be carried over WBBM-CBS from 9 to 10 tonight under the precedent breaking sponsorship of a newspaper chain [Scripps-Howard]. . . . Results of the Literary Digest presidential poll are to be broadcast under the sponsorship of a tire concern three times a week over NBC, starting Sept. 2. Final results will be given on Nov. 2. . . . The Democratic national committee is launching another sponsored program today over NBC with the view of snaring the feminine vote. Titled "Women of '36" [the 36 has no reference to age or measurements], the program is to get under way at 12:15 p. m. over WLS, with music garnishing the talk. Mrs. Edward Bok is to be mistress of ceremonies on this program, which is to be heard also on Thursdays.

Amas 'n' Andy are letting it be known that they plan something extra special for tomorrow evening, their eighth anniversary of continuous network broadcasting. They won't say what it is, but that it's up to and even surpassing the surprises they have been giving lately. . . . Dan Travis and the Green Pastures sextet have landed a sponsor—the same that airs "Today's Children." They will be heard from Chicago studios starting Sept. 30. . . . Eddie Cantor's scheduled appearance on the Radio Theater in "Whoopee" next Monday evening has been canceled. Rights to the piece couldn't be cleared.

The Federal Communications commission is considering a request of Wilbur Glenn Voliva and associates of Zion to transfer control of WCBD to Gene T. Dyer and four associates and that they be permitted to designate the Chicago studio as the main studio henceforth. The transmitter would be kept at Zion.

Miss Martha Heil, Henrotin Nurse Superintendent, Dies

Officials of Henrotin hospital were notified yesterday of the death of Miss Martha J. Heil, 58 years old, superintendent of nurses at the hospital since 1923. Her death, which was due to heart disease, occurred at Wakefield, Mich., where she had been staying with friends since she took leave of absence from the hospital in June. Before joining the nursing staf at Henrotin hospital, Miss Heil was for 15 years superintendent of nurses at Jane McAllister hospital in Waukegan. A sister, Miss Anna Heil of Milwaukee, survives her. Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 16th street and Wisconsin avenue, Milwaukee.

HAROLD HOWARD, ESTATE MANAGER HERE, DIES AT 68

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Harold A. Howard, 1301 Astor street, at his summer home in Bar Harbor, Me. Mr. Howard, who was born in Chicago 68 years ago, died Sunday night after a week's illness following a heart attack. He is survived by his widow, the former Alice Byram; a brother, John C. Howard of Chicago, and a sister, Mrs. Franklyn Remington of Long Island. Funeral services and interment will be in Chicago at a time to be decided later.

Mr. Howard was active in the estate management business here for more than forty years. He was a member of the Chicago Art institute, the Chicago Historical society and the Field Museum of Natural History. He was for many years prominent in Chicago society. Likewise he was a leader in the social activities of the summer colony at Bar Harbor for many years.

P. I. Heuisler, Head of Emerson Drug Co., Dies

Franconia, N. H., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Philip I. Heuisler, 65, of Baltimore, Md., chairman of the board of the Emerson Drug company and president of the Maryland Glass corporation, died tonight. He had been visiting with his wife at the Forest Hills hotel. The hotel manager said heart disease caused his death.

Charles A. Lindenau, Iowa Republican Leader, Dies

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Charles A. Lindenau, 60, of Maquoketa, a Republican leader in Jackson county for many years, died yesterday following an operation. He formerly was Republican central committee chairman in Jackson county and served for several sessions as file clerk in the state assembly.

Castle Park Holds Horse Show Sept. 2

Michigan Resort Will Have Many Guests.

BY JUDITH CASS.

WITH the announcement by Carter Brown that the annual horse show at Castle Park, Mich., will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 2, those Chicagoans who have homes in that little resort not far from Holland have invited friends for the horse show and for the long Labor day week-end following. Mr. and Mrs. E. Edwin Earle of Winnetka have invited Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edmonds and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanton and the latter's two sons, Henry and James, to visit them there in the home that has been in the Earle family for more than forty years. The Maurice H. Needhams and the Albert W. Sherers have homes in Castle Park, and so have Mr. and Mrs. James P. Gillies.

Mr. Brown is the M. F. H. of the recently organized Tryon Hunt in Tryon, N. C., where he lives in the wintertime. James and Henry Stanton may take over a horse or two from their parents' estate in Wayne, for the young men have exhibited in the show in previous years, and undoubtedly they will be anxious to enter the Castle Park ring again.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton became grandparents yesterday, for their daughter, Mrs. John Dudley Clemens [Louise Stanton], gave birth to her first child, a daughter, yesterday afternoon at the Evanston hospital.

Needhams and Sherers Will Have Guests

The Needhams and the Sherers, too, will have full houses at the time of the horse show. The Needhams' daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Miller III. [Nedra Needham] and Mr. and Mrs. James R. Getz [Betsy Needham], will be there for Labor day. Mrs. Getz has been visiting her father-in-law, George F. Getz, in Holland, but she is returning to Chicago today or tomorrow. The Getz place is just across the channel from Castle Park.

The Sherers' guests will be mostly young people, for their son, Albert Jr., is expected to bring one or two friends home with him when they return from a European tour. Mr. Sherer Jr., and his companions are arriving on the 27th on the Europa. Miss Linda Sherer, who has been spending the summer with her parents, will have a guest, Stanley Morton of Worcester, Mass., for that holiday week-end.

James P. Gillies Jr., who, like "Bud" Sherer, is an undergraduate at Yale university, has been spending the summer with his parents. Dr. and Mrs. Wallace D. MacKenzie [Betty Gillies] have been week-ending there, and hope to go to Castle Park again over Labor day. Mrs. MacKenzie is disappointed that the plans for a dog show to be held in connection with the horse show have been canceled, for she wanted to enter her pedigreed terrier, Mopsy.

The junior Rush C. Butlers and his sister and brother-in-law, the Homer Robertsons, also have homes at Castle Park, and undoubtedly will entertain over Labor day. Mr. and Mrs. Butler's guests will include her sister-in-law, Mrs. Edward F. Hamm Jr., the former Joy Fairman, who has promised to sing on Sunday evening in a concert in Castle Park's amphitheater. Mr. and Mrs. Hamm went over last year at the same time and Mrs. Hamm gave a concert then too.

N. Shore Committee Selling Opera Tickets.

Mrs. Hamm's interest in musical affairs prompted her to take an active part in the campaign to sell tickets for the coming Chicago Civic Opera season, which opens on the last Saturday in October. She has been appointed publicity chairman for the north shore opera committee, serving under Mrs. James McMillan, chairman. The large group of young matrons on the committee are pushing sales so energetically that the season promises to be a greater success financially than previous ones. The committee meets for tea every Monday afternoon at the home of a member, and one of the stars in the opera company sings. Mrs. T. Weller Kimball will be hostess next Monday in her handsome home in Leicester road, Kenilworth. Mrs. J. G. Shakman gave yesterday's tea in her Wilmette home. Ada Paggi was yesterday's artist.

Mrs. H. Norman Copthorne, head of the Winnetka opera committee, has her hands rather full, for in addition to her duties for the committee she is busy making arrangements for the marriage of her daughter, Miss Frances Copthorne, to Rennolds Ostrom, which will take place on Sept. 16. The wedding will be a small one, with a small reception afterward in the Copthorne home.

Mrs. Donald MacDonald [Jane Copthorne] and Miss Louise Copthorne will attend their sister, and Miss Dorothy Bjorkland may come from Oklahoma to be a bridesmaid. Miss Bjorkland and the bride were classmates at Northwestern university. Mr. Ostrom will have his uncle, Wil-

Reopen Benefit Shop at Lake Forest

New Stockings Can Take Wear and More Wear

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Sleuthing about for authentic finds among the hosiery assortments, especially for shoppers who are yelling for stockings that will wear and wear and still take some more punishment, we finally found them. These stockings must have been designed by some very active person, indeed, for so sturdy and long wearing are these finds that they seem almost too good to be true. Having put them through some good wear ourselves we're ready to prove these hosiery items are plenty promising.

They're called mystery twist. It seems the silken threads are twisted something incredibly like seventy times. The heels are triple reinforced. The hose are the most long suffering and long wearing numbers we've discovered to date. They are not heavy and pluggy; on the contrary, the dull texture is amazingly slenderizing to any ankle. You'll find four good shades in both light and dark.

Plenty and all kinds of half hose in grand, deep glowing fall colors of the softest, smartest all-[illegible] for the college shoppers. The green and new red tones are knockouts. A new russet mahogany tone is a special attraction to be worn with tweeds. Some plain and lace lisles in full length numbers, also in green, deep red, and stunning tones of beige [and the lace beige lisles are quite the best looking finds for campus needs that can be found] are out in time for "college month" just ahead.

These angoras and lisles in lace weaves and plain are all new and feature the fall hosiery shades to wear with the exciting new high colored suede footwear and matching bags, also available in the same shop.

A NONSENSE story concerns the drunk who sat on a park bench talking to himself, laughing and waving his hand. A policeman, seeing his strange antics, inquired what was going on.

Story Teller—Chivalry—Gag—Description.

"I'm telling myself stories," the drunk explained.

"That may account for the laughing, but what are you waving your hand for?" questioned the officer.

"O, that's for the ones I've heard," explained the fellow.

A GENTLEMAN in a gray suit, wearing eye glasses, entered a Chicago and North Western train last Friday evening, carrying the evening papers and a large glass of orange juice. Seating himself, he placed the glass on the window sill and was holding it there when the conductor came by.

"For me?" inquired the ticket taker.

"No, for a passenger who will get on at the next stop," replied the man.

When the train stopped, a pretty, young looking woman got on, greeted the man in the gray suit with a smile, sat down beside him and drank her orange juice.

PERHAPS we ought to leave it right there, to wonder if this was a feature of a commuter's wooing. The facts, however, as ascertained by a young unmarried woman who had overheard the conversation with the conductor and watched with interest the arrival of the young woman, are that the man in the gray suit and the younger woman have been married for eighteen years.

Vallee Croons to 70 Thousand Despite Rain

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Seventy thousand people whooped it up for Rudy Vallee last night when America's No. 1 crooner and orchestra leader walked smilingly onto the stage of the Grant park band shell. And what is more, the majority of those people ignored the light rain that fell almost constantly, and stayed right on through the entire time—the best part of an hour—that Rudy and his corps held the spotlight.

This marked the entry of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and the Chicago Park district into big time vaudeville. They paraded a bill that any showhouse would sell its soul to secure, and offered it simply as a climaxing attraction on the program of the forty-seventh of the free lake front concerts.

Vallee had the assistance of the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra—he confessed in a modest little speech that he had always wanted to conduct a large orchestra—and his own famous Hildegarde Halliday, Al Bernie, and Gentlemen Songsters.

The man whose personality has dominated the Thursday ether since the beginning of this decade started off with a Rubinoff arrangement of Rudy Vallee hits, conducting the responsive Civic Opera orchestra through such things as the "Maine Stein Song" and "Your Time Is My Time." He drew an awed gasp from the audience when the time came to go to the microphone for his first solo, "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." The tune was followed by another from that alluring "Roberta" group, "Lovely to Look At." The Gentlemen Songsters, a male quartet, worked in the latter.

Those other cloistered souls among the audience who, like the writer, were seeing Rudy Vallee for the first time, must have been equally impressed by his great charm and unassuming quality of his speaking and singing. Without any maestro-like fireworks at all he managed to get from the orchestra a type of backing which suits his style very well—a soft, rhythmic flow marked by an occasional delicate freedom of tempo.

Hildegarde Halliday followed with a couple of skits based on two afflictions—hay fever and stammering—which for some reason or other are supposed to be funny. She drew a satisfactory number of roars from her rain-harried audience.

Billed as the world's greatest mimic, Al Bernie at least proved that he is among the most versatile. [The larger proposition must be left to the judgment of other authorities.] He thinks nothing of including Hepburn, Mussolini, W. C. Fields, and Vallee in one skit.

An elaborate musico-historical production called "American Memorial Day Cavalcade" brought the evening to a not too rousing end. To an end, that is, except for the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner."

If this were the music column, it would have started out with generous praise of Leo L. Kopp and the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra for excellent performances of the "Merry Wives of Windsor" overture and the waltzes from "Der Rosenkavalier." It would then have shaken a warning finger at the same conductor and orchestra for doing the final movement of the Brahms First Symphony without the inevitable surge, clear toned volume, and well knit, well realized tempos that are absolutely necessary to the Homeric effect which the composer intended.

It would have wagged its head sadly over Ada Belle Files' choice of a Paisiello air for an open air concert attended by tens of thousands of Rudy Vallee fans, and would have admitted under fire that "Songs My Mother Taught Me," the second offering of that personable young contralto, was a great deal better.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Here's hair that looks healthy—and therefore beautiful. One expert reconditioning treatment did the trick of wiping out all the hair evils of summer.

Just yesterday we toted a woman we know very well into a beauty shop for a hair reconditioning treatment. She's naturally dry haired, and prematurely gray—a combination you'll often find. She's been doing some swimming this summer and its effects on what should have been her crowning glory were screamingly noticeable. She's been going in for sun, too, which didn't help either. And to top everything off she had one of those fiendish summer colds, the kind that make a woman sicker and sicker looking than anything else.

As a result of all these things her hair was just about the rattiest mess you ever saw—not a lick of luster in a thousand strands, nor a trace of the natural curl which she did have. There was, in fact, a general messiness of effect that was hard to bear and to look at.

But you should see her today! See how beautiful her hair is—and all with the aid of one reconditioning treatment! First of all she got the hair brushing of her life, administered by an expert, and with one of those brushes we all need but seldom own. Then, a stimulating cleansing of the scalp with a special tonic. Next, a dousing with a magic reconditioning oil—slightly heated—and then a massage that practically unold a summer's damage in one fell swoop.

A shampoo followed, preceded by more of the reconditioning oil [she needed plenty] and the shampoo agent was one of those grand oil cleansers. What came on the heels of this was all routine—wave setting, drying, etc.—but the reconditioning treatment itself did exactly what it was supposed to do. The hair is now lustrous, soft, and simply gleaming with health and good looks.

Take a tip from us if your hair is in this state or approaching it. Have a reconditioning treatment. You can't do better for your money.

By Anna Nangle.

It's not the stars but the supporting players who make this film palatable. They all seemed to me to outshine the principals and, with the aid of some clever dialog, provide some amusement in contrast to the rather dull rôles assigned to Mr. Raft and Miss Costello.

Jimmy Gleason, Lynn Overman and Edgar Kennedy—all of whom may be counted on to come through with ability in any film—are three henchmen to Johnny Lamb, a gambler, and they're all perfectly swell—with first honors, I thought, going to Mr. Gleason.

Johnny meets Lucille Sutton, an impoverished social leader, and decides to put some class into his flourishing gambling enterprise by taking her into the business. They open up in the mansion she's about to lose, much to the chagrin of the stooges, who have a fear and dislike of women and of social circles. Seems that the ladies have taken Mr. Lamb for plenty in the past, and his new business partner worries the boys. They stir up a little plot, with the aid of Gert Malloy and Dictionary McKinny, highly talented shakedown artists. They're hired to prove Miss Sutton a wrong number—but find the going too easy and the chances of graft too good to resist.

Ida Lupino is pert and able as the attractive little racketeer, and Reginald Owen does a talented bit as her partner in crime. Mr. Raft is about as usual as the poker-faced gambler, and Miss Costello is pretty as ever, although she seemed a bit affected and camera-shy.

The story is cleverly worked out and the lines are pat and funny. The film runs smoothly and is not at all bad for summer movie fare.

The Garrick screen also offers "The Three Stooges" in a short subject,—perfect buffoonery in their usual wildly hilarious manner.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. Grimmy persuades Mal to attend a New Year's eve party, where he meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners. A month later Mal marries Zelda. The marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage, Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing of his other ear. Fourteen years later Mal, under Grimmy's tutelage, has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. At the première of Mal's latest film David meets Ellen Groet and invites her to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Mallard lives, and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. David, as a joke on Ellen, has a boy pass her with a message that Roger Mallard wants to meet her. Mal, skilful at lip reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. David and Ellen desert Pamella. Mal takes her home. There Mal drops on her couch unconscious. Pamella thinks he has had too much to drink. She is unable to rouse him. In the morning David calls. He's been arrested because Mallard has disappeared, apparently kidnaped. Pamella calls Dr. Ware. He says Mal has collapsed from shock and worry; that he mustn't be moved from her house.

INSTALMENT XX.

A READY MADE HOSPITAL.

Dr. Ware took up the desk phone and dialed the Excelsior hotel.

"I want to speak to the manager," he announced aggressively. "Yes, the manager, Mr. Rudyard. Tell him this is important . . . Mr. Rudyard? This is Dr. Nicholas Ware of Pasadena. I have some information for you. Please keep it strictly private till matters can be adjusted. Mr. Mallard is here very ill in the home of one of my friends with whom he was spending the evening. . . . I can't give you the details now except to say that he was suddenly taken ill and in the excitement, the family has only just heard of the other construction put on his disappearance. Yes, Mr. Rudyard, I'm here with him. . . . No, not serious. But bad enough. Too bad to be moved for the present. Send over his man and any reliable friend who can keep a mouth shut. . . . There's a lady—understand me—a lady involved. . . . O, Number One, Hilltop road. . . ."

He hung up the phone and stood a moment pondering. Then he turned to find Pam watching him with enormous, scared eyes.

Pamella ran on winged feet to give her belated help.

Some time after, when they at last had their patient well tucked into bed, lengthily overflowing an elegant pair of Mr. Barkley's pajamas at all extremities, a big car came tearing into the driveway and skidded to a stop. The doctor was lifting up Mallard's head to pour a milky liquid between his half-parted lips.

"He's coming around. Go down, Pam, and tell them to make it quiet."

A green looking Japanese, a youngish, very alert and haggard man, smartly dressed in togs suitable for desert outings, and a grim officer were already coming hurriedly through her unlatched front door. Pam stopped at the foot of her stairs as they strode toward her.

"Is Mr. Mallard here?" they all asked at once.

"Yes. Please——"

"Whose place is this?" inquired the officer.

"Mine."

"Your name?"

"Pamella Wyeth."

"You live here alone?"

"Yes—except for a paying guest."

"And you're a friend of Mr. Mallard?"

"Yes."

"Where is he?" the other man interrupted impatiently. "I want to see him."

"Come up. But quietly, please," Pam replied and led the way.

They all trooped after her into the bedroom. The officer took in the situation and asked for the phone. They could soon hear his voice rumbling out information and orders.

"Why did you bring him?" frowned Dr. Ware.

"Taking no chances," returned the man who had introduced himself as Mr. Bert Glenford. "Sorry—but it was due him. He'll go now and call the hunt off." He himself went over to the bed. "For God's sake, doctor, what's happened to him?"

Explanations were rapidly given him by both the doctor and Pamella, while Ito began to unpack bags. Pamella's part of the story brought forth a sharp glance from Mr. Glenford, followed by the shadow of an amused smile. Then he, too, did some explaining—terrific work on his last production, followed by Grimwold's death and private worries and burdens. They'd all been concerned about him. "And you say he can't be moved?"

"Not for a few days, at least. Perfect rest and quiet and he'll soon be all right."

"Rather tough on you, Miss Wyeth, with a ready made hospital wished on you," Mr. Glenford remarked.

"Not at all. I'll—be glad to have him stay as long as it's necessary."

Mr. Glenford, having sized her up, she felt, with his first sharp glance, was now taking in the surroundings of the place with rapidly mounting enthusiasm.

"By Jove! You've a charming layout here. I say, Miss Wyeth, if you could see your way to letting him stay here a while—to giving him his room and board and letting him mess around in your garden—I feel sure he'd pull out of this in no time. He needs a complete change—in a place where he'll be free from the things that are wearing him down. This place is so big, and he keeps so much to himself, I can guarantee he'll not annoy you. He's a solitary cuss, hasn't many friends, hates publicity. And by the way, I don't want him to know about this kidnap scare. He'd be furious. Terribly upset on your account, Miss Wyeth. It would be easy to keep it from him. He needn't see the papers till it's blown over. He's no radio fan—so that would give no trouble. Miss Wyeth, if we can impose on your hospitality to the extent of all this, the expense will be taken care of amply. Get in all the help you need to do it so your life won't be complicated. Mallard wouldn't stay an instant if it were. But if it can be done without inconveniencing you, he'll be glad to pay—I feel free to speak for him, knowing him so well—what he pays at the hotel."

Pam listened to this, wondering why her heart was pounding, why she suddenly felt so inordinately happy.

"He's more than welcome to stay as long as he wishes to. As for the money," she flushed hotly, "only just what it costs to make him comfortable, please. I had to discharge some good old servants, used to running the place. I'll get them back—they need it. They are very exceptional colored people."

"This is very kind of you, Miss Wyeth. No one but Mal and I will ever know how kind! It strikes me," Mr. Glenford went on with a shrewd glint in his eyes, "if Mal had had a choice of retreats for resting and for hiding away from a sorry world for a while, he couldn't have picked a better. I must go now and wire Sol and attend to other matters. Why, Mal, old boy!"

The man on the bed had stirred. With one accord they all moved toward him. But when his eyes at last came to a focus, it was Glenford's face he looked into.

"Take it easy, Mal. Listen I came back. Got word you were sick."

"Yes. That's great!"

"Sleeping. . . . Do you think she'll mind? My little duchess."

"There, Mal," said Glenford with an anxious glance at the doctor, "go to sleep again. Nobody's minding anything."

Mal's eyelids drooped again as if he were too exhausted to hold them open any longer.

"Write it for me."

"You see," Glenford whipped about and gave Pamella another sharp look, "too tired to talk or listen. If you've a typewriter handy, I'll write out an explanation of what's happened to him and our plans for the future, to can give it to him when he feels like knowing about it."

Tarzan Thriller Being Filmed in Mountain Wilds

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 17.—[Special.] It's difficult to say what keeps Johnny Weissmuller busier, running through jungles and swinging from vines on the "Tarzan Escapes" location, or running about the jungle snapping pictures of everything he sees with the little candid camera Lupe Velez gave him for his birthday.

"Look at it," he proudly remarks to everyone on the set. "Built like a watch. It'll take pictures without any light at all. Lupe gave it to me for my birthday just before she left for London. When I get there I'll have a million pictures to show her. I'll just take one of you, too." And he suits the action to the word.

Johnny is counting the days until his new M. G. M. jungle thriller is completed, when he'll leave to rejoin his Lupe, now in a London musical show.

Maureen O'Sullivan, also in the picture, is counting the days, too. Her engagement to Johnny Farrow, the writer, has been formally announced by her father, Maj. Charles O'Sullivan. She's hoping for a honeymoon trip to Dublin.

The "Tarzan Escapes" company, 150 strong, has been camping in little mountain cabins at Brent's Crags, Cal., where the elephant stampede, the amazing adventures of Tarzan and his chimpanzee companion, and the episodes in the great tree house, built 50 feet up in the branches of a giant oak, are being directed by Richard Thorpe.

They get up at 6 in the morning, when the wail of a police siren serves as a general alarm clock. Incidentally, if it wails at any other time it's a fire alarm. They eat in a mess hall, formerly the recreation hall of a defunct summer resort. The camp is handled by a firm specializing in this field and in feeding large groups of people, usually for engineering projects. It is the same firm that fed and housed the workers at Boulder dam.

About a hundred tons of light, camera and sound equipment, and a big portable electric generator were moved over narrow mountain roads to the hidden valley, shut off from civilization, where the film is being made.

The only things they couldn't move by truck were the elephants. They trucked them to the last of the paved road, then walked them five miles over the trails to location, for fear the jolting over the mountain roads would start a stampede.

Instead, a chimpanzee started one. The elephants became frightened at Skippy, the principal monkey actor in the company, tore through the location, upset a high camera parallel and dumped out Cameraman Len Smith, Assistant Director Art Smith, and Maureen O'Sullivan. Herbert Mundin crawled for safety into a hollow tree.

The cast also includes Benita Hume, John Buckler, William Henry and about 80 Negro players who portray savages, under the eye of Crown Prince Modupe of Nigeria, who was drafted, during a visit to Hollywood, as African technical expert. The slight, Oxford educated African, in his red fez and burnoose worn over London tailored clothes, is an interesting figure at the camp.

The new Tarzan story deals with the attempt of a "bring 'em back alive" animal collector to capture Tarzan for a side show attraction. Tarzan escapes, rescues the safari from savage tribesmen, conquers vampire bats in a desolate quicksand mire. Tarzan also stampedes a herd of elephants through an army of aborigines bent on torturing the party. There are thrilling episodes with lions and crocodiles also, although to date Miss O'Sullivan's narrowest escape was from a tame parrot which bit her right leg.

HE MADE A TEN-YEAR TEST WITH ALL-BRAN

Say good-bye to the headaches, the low spirits, the sleeplessness that often follow common constipation. Just read this letter:

"In 1926, I started using ALL-BRAN. And now, after ten years, during which I have put Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to a long, hard test, I am writing you this letter. It is better to eat this food and be in condition, than to resort to laxatives."—Bernard Altman, 63 Goodale Road, Mattapan, Mass.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN will help you too. Its "bulk" absorbs moisture within the body, forms a soft mass, gently cleanses the system. Tests prove it is safe and effective.

ALL-BRAN is guaranteed. Try it a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Either as a cereal, or in recipes. How much better to use this food than to take patent medicines. Buy ALL-BRAN at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Child Actress Denies Love for Mother

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Edith Fellows, 13 years old, a screen actress, testified today she did not love her mother, who came back to claim her after an absence of years. Edith earns $200 a week.

"Don't you love your mother?" asked Superior Judge Arthur Crum.

"No, I don't," replied Edith, whose specialty is portraying "brats" in pictures.

Edith is in custody of her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Fellows, who has taken care of her since she was an infant. The mother, Mrs. Harriet Fellows, is suing to regain her daughter.

Judge Crum asked Edith to explain her attitude toward her mother.

"I know my mother is trying to get me away from my grandmother," she responded. "I might be willing to be friends with her if she'd leave me alone, but I'm not used to loving strangers."

Judge Crum asked her if she wanted to live with her mother rather than her guardian. She shook her black curls defiantly and cried: "No, no!"

"Wouldn't you love your mother if she would allow you to remain with your grandmother?" asked the court.

The child told of a visit her mother paid her a year ago.

"Grandmother told me I must be nice to my mother," she testified. "When my mother arrived, grandmother pushed me toward her and told me to kiss her."

The grandmother testified she had supported Edith by doing housework until the child's film career began.

"I first saw that child when she was two weeks old in a rooming house in Boston," she testified. "Her little hands were covered with red bumps where bedbugs had chewed her."

During the next two years, Mrs. Fellows said, the child's mother would disappear frequently, finally remaining away.

Maid Beats Out Fire, Saves Infant Niece of Bing Crosby

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Florence Little, maid in the home of Larry Crosby, today saved the life of 2 year old Mollie Crosby, niece of Bing Crosby, the crooner, by tearing a blazing dress from the child's body and beating out flames with her hands. The baby had struck a match. She suffered second degree burns. Miss Little also was burned. The child is the daughter of Bing's brother and business manager. Last Christmas Mollie swallowed a tiny electric light bulb off the Christmas tree.

Cocktail Party Friday for Roland K. Smiths.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hill Robinson have sent out invitations to a cocktail party on Friday afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. Roland K. Smith Jr. [Martha Lee]. Mr. and Mrs. Smith, who were married late in June, are at home after a wedding trip to Bermuda. Mr. and Mrs. Robinson [Alice May Dickinson] were unable to find a date to give a party for Mr. and Mrs Smith before they were married.

Mrs. Smith's mother and sister, Mrs. T. George Lee and Mrs. Lee Graham, have gone to Venthor, N. J., to have several weeks of sea air. They will return Sept. 15.

The next three way swimming team matches between the Indian Hill, the Glen View, and the Exmoor clubs will be held on Sunday at the Indian Hill pool. Gordon Lang is chairman of swimming for Indian Hill. The events will begin at 4:30 o'clock and a buffet supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock. There will be dancing on Thursday night at the club, following the buffet dinner. Whipple Jacobs is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Yesterday was Mrs. Edward M. Harkness' birthday and her sister and brother-in-law, the junior Franklin Agnews, made a flying trip from St. Louis to help her celebrate. They are to be here just a day or two.

Mrs. Rodman Hooker Will Visit Here.

Mrs. Rodman Lent Hooker will arrive Friday from California for a week's visit. She will be with her brother and sister-in-law, the John B. Morses, in their new house in Lake Forest until Mr. and Mrs. George A. Richardson return next week from their summer abroad, and then she will visit them.

Mrs. Gates Kohlsaat has returned from a motor trip to Duluth, Minn., with her son, Edward C. Kohlsaat Jr. They were turned back by forest fires and narrowly escaped being cut off by a conflagration on their way home. Young Mrs. Kohlsaat and her children are at home again after a visit of several weeks with her parents at Lake Placid.

Crown of Our Lady of Andes Placed on Exhibition at Store

The crown of Our Lady of Andes, considered the most valuable collection of emeralds in the world, was placed on display yesterday on the 8th floor of the Fair store. This is the first public showing of the 347 year old crown. Fifty-one per cent of the proceeds from the 25 cent admission fee will be allocated to Chicago charities. The crown will be exhibited until Sept. 15.

Catholics of Popayan, Colombia, had the crown handicrafted in 1593 to honor Mary. The crown had remained in the possession of the Popayan church until it recently was sold at an unnamed price to a Chicago syndicate. It is set with 453 emeralds totaling 1,500 carats.

Earl of Warwick Signs Contract as Hollywood Actor

A five year contract as leading man with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios was signed by Charles Guy Fulke Greville, whose earldom was created in 1759.

The casting director was informed the earl is material for romantic rôles—dark complexion, he-mannish, of a strictly English type. He is 25.

Need 200 More Autos for Guests at Orphans' Picnic

Matthew J. Lamb, president of the Orphans' Automobile Day Outing association, issued an appeal yesterday for 200 more cars in which to transport inmates of orphanages and homes for the aged to Lincoln park tomorrow for their annual outing. The guests will be taken to the park at 9 o'clock and return at 4:30 o'clock. Volunteers are asked by Mr. Lamb to telephone Dearborn 0718 and 0719.

Potted Star Flower.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Potted Star Flower" is extremely old, but certainly not dated. It is one of the quilt patterns which are thoroughly at home in the twentieth century as in the eighteenth century. No well trained housewife was without the "Potted Star Flower" pattern among her many quilts. The pieced and plain blocks are set together in an alternate arrangement on the diagonal, with only 30 applique and 22 plain blocks, each measuring 11½ inches square.

Sally's Party at Cubs Game Delights Kids

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Judging from the numerous enthusiastic letters I've had so far, the announcement of our next party has made a big hit with all the young folks in and around Chicago. Everybody's delighted with our selection of entertainment.

One might think that after two big league baseball games in our party schedule [one of 'em a double header] the boys and girls around here would have had a pretty good helping of baseball, but if I had 10 of 'em every season, I still don't think we could provide too much of that sport for our young fans.

The date is Aug. 27, the place is Wrigley field, the game will be between the Chicago Cubs and Philadelphia, and my guests will be 50 boys and 50 girls.

I don't know their names yet, but they'll be youngsters who can convince me that they'd be genuinely happy to win invitations. Every child who would like an invitation must write and tell me why he thinks he should be invited. Your letter does not have to be just so. It must just be sincere and you must write it all by yourself. You must also be sure to tell me your full name, and address and just how old you are. You can tell me anything else you like—all about your favorite players — but don't forget one or more of these details.

Thursday morning is the latest possible time at which your letter may reach me if you want it included in the letters from which I make my selection. The names of the winners will be listed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE. If you want to see your name printed as one of the children who will be my guests out at Wrigley field, don't wait too long to write that letter and mail it to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

Naturalness Is Lovely Quality of June Lang

Screen Star Has Genuine Youthful Beauty.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It is generally admitted that young women take their cues from screen favorites. They copy the hair style, the eyebrow slant, the mouth makeup, the walk, and certain mannerisms that they see launched upon the screen. Such being the case, mothers and the other severest critics of the younger generation are due for a period of bright hopefulness with the starring of a charming young natural like June Lang. If the 16, 17 and 18 year olds take their cue from June, all cluck-clucking about the advanced airs and sophistication of the younger generation must cease.

It's nice to watch this parade of movie stars, as is my pleasure, and observe how the current crop of younger ones subscribe to your and my idea of what constitutes real beauty in a young girl, such as June Lang, for instance, with whom I teaed the other day. Just a nice, natural, pretty young miss who isn't afraid to be enthusiastic over so simple an adventure as a ride atop a bus.

That's the normal response of normal youth, and always captivating in youth. Simply dressed as a girl should be is this new screen favorite, in white with summery, gay, lightweight printed jacket, trim little sandals not too open-work. No makeup except a nice, soft-toned lip shade. Eyelids rubbed over with white vaseline to give that moist appearance that does nice things to the eye.

June labors under the impression that she is a brunette, but I would call her a blonde, anyway a maid with very light brown hair. She photographs dark. Her eyes are that blue-gray and take on varying colors with the frocks worn.

Nagging Rarely Effective Way to Train Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Nagging, scolding, nostility.

Encouragement, praise, friendliness.

What contrasting words these are, and what contrasting results the two approaches to the management of children bring.

Scolding usually leads to more scolding, punishment to more punishment, nagging to more nagging, and none of them do any good.

Scolding, punishment, blame, push a youngster away from you. They put him on the defensive, for this barrier makes it difficult for him to respond to you, and so destroys your influence over him.

Scolding and punishment do not give him a clue to what to do—to real living, they only show him what he's not to do. They imply antagonism on your part, and he responds to that instead of to the directions you are giving him.

But praise and encouragement and friendliness are utterly different. They open his mind and his heart to you so you can get through to him. They are constructive. They pave the way for what you must accomplish, and there is a great deal you must "put over" with your child for his own good. The less friction you can put it over with the better for all of you.

Versatile Campus Model

WOMAN'S AND MISS' FROCK.

College girls will like this versatile model for the first days of the autumn term. The one pattern creates two distinctly different frocks, one with a long tunic, the other with a peplum. Whereas the dressier model has no collar and possesses smart puffed sleeves reaching only to above the elbow, the tailored version of this frock has a pert contrasting collar and Gibson girl sleeves which extend gracefully to the wrist. The more formal model is buttoned down the entire length of the tunic, and the sports model with the peplum buttons down the left front.

For sorority teas, concerts on the campus, and informal dinners at which a rather dressy frock is required, this model is perfect for the first months of the new school term. The tailored edition of this versatile dress will do duty beautifully all through the winter for classroom and general campus wear.

Collegians are not the only persons who will appreciate this frock. It is perfect for the business girl and young matron, too, and suits a variety of figures, from pencil slim to pleasingly plump, because of its long lines.

Style No. 3337 is designed for sizes 14, 16, and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 4¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 1⅛ yards of 35 inch lining.

New Kitchen Gadgets Are Being Displayed

Among Novel Items Is the Oiled Silk Food Container.

"Thirst Quenchers," Mary Meade's newest booklet, containing recipes for fruit juice drinks as well as those made with milk, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower, for 3 cents. By mail, 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, The Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

"'Tis the voice of the lobster—I heard him declare, 'You have baked me too brown, I must sugar my hair . . .'"

We feel somewhat like the author of this old nonsense rhyme must have have felt when he wrote it. We've a few new but unrelated ideas [which we hope will make more sense than did his], and we'd like to give them to you for what they're worth.

First, have you seen the model kitchens being shown in downtown display rooms? If not, you'll want to look them over for ideas for your own kitchen. They have been so carefully planned from color scheme to the most detailed kitchen convenience that they are truly delightful. We liked the indirect lighting, the plenitude of cupboard and working space, the handy and inconspicuous tray shelves, and the cupboard in which to hang soiled tea towels, so that they need never mar the immaculate kitchen. But you'll want to see these things for yourselves. If you don't know where to look, call or write to this department and we'll be glad to tell you.

Second idea, or rather discovery, is spiced ham in cans. No longer need we go to the delicatessen for spiced ham if we want it in a hurry. And the ham doesn't need refrigeration until the can is opened. It is made by a packer who has been putting up ready-to-eat ham in convenient sized cans for years. This new product is recommended for canapes, cocktail snacks, and to accompany scrambled eggs for breakfast. Of course, it may be used as a main dish and in salads, too.

Third discovery: There are several new types of food containers on the market, which may be used inside or outside the refrigerator. We refer to the oiled silk and raincoat material bags, some with a zipper closing, others shaped to fit over bowls and jars. These containers or covers do a lot to keep foods fresh and sweet and are convenient for picnic as well as refrigerator and kitchen use.

Fourth, watch for the new type of nut grinder which is not quite ready for the market. It is attached to a pint size jar, which holds the nuts and grinds them out as needed. There are similar gadgets sold now which grind the nuts into a jar, but this new product will be more convenient, as it also provides a storage place for nuts.

Lastly—and this for a bit of seasoning to our today's hash—you can make a simple and delicious refrigerator cream with a half pound of marshmallows, three cups of crushed and sieved fresh peaches, a half pint of whipping cream, and two tablespoons of milk. Heat the marshmallows and milk over a low flame until the marshmallows are half melted. Remove from fire and fold mixture until fluffy and smooth. Cool, add crushed peaches, and freeze, stirring once during freezing period.

Culbertson "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

CHAPTER I.—INSTALMENT II.
Valuation.

Valuation is the count of winners and losers in a player's own hand, as well as in partnership and opponents' hands.

In the case of partner's or opponents' hands, valuation is tantamount to placing of suit-lengths and honor-strength. Valuation [taking stock of the hand] is the first step in the process of bidding and has its parallel in the play of the cards, where the actual play is always preceded by making a plan.

Information or Partnership Language.

Information or partnership language consists of positive and negative inferences gathered from the hand [opening, secondary, shutout bid, and so forth] and the level [one-odd, two-odd, and so forth] of the bid made.

Many of the more common or more important inferences have developed into bidding conventions which are nothing but crystalized inferences. Usually a convention, a method or a rule, expresses in a brief, summarized statement the chain of inferences underlying the best way to treat a bidding situation. A very small number of conventions are "artificial" in the sense that they do not spring naturally from the logic of the bidding situation, but are an agreement between partners [of course with the full knowledge of the opponents] that a certain bid shall have a special meaning. It is impossible to play contract without some minimum of conventions, especially in slam bidding. And persons who claim they "play no conventions" either play bumble-puppy bridge or do play conventions that are tacitly understood. You need a system for everything—to cross a street, write a book, woo a girl, or run a country. Bridge players who claim to play no system usually have a stubborn little system clogged in their subconscious minds, picked up at random from the hands they have played or observed.

A bridge system is a unified body of bridge knowledge consisting of principles, methods, conventions, or rules which are logically connected. There are but two or three really different systems of bridge. Simply because a player changes the meaning of a few bids he does not play a different system.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 heart	2 clubs
2 spades	Pass	Pass	3 clubs
Pass	Pass	Double [final bid]

North's double was bad, but not as bad as his subsequent defense.

South opened the king of spades; dummy's ace won and a diamond was led. North won with the ace and returned a spade which declarer ruffed. The defenders' trumps were drawn and then the king and ten of diamonds were played. North won the latter and led his fourth diamond, but declarer merely discarded a heart. Then North had to concede dummy's king of hearts.

If North had saved his spade for use as an exit card after his diamond suit was gone, declarer would have had to lose three hearts and two diamonds.

LEEMANS SCORES TWICE AS ALL-STARS SCRIMMAGE

FLEET FOOTED BACK RETURNS PUNT 65 YARDS

Goes Off Tackle to Count Again.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

A pug nosed, curly haired half back streaked up and down the gridiron at Northwestern yesterday, leaving in his wake All-American players clutching at flying heels, the first touchdowns of the season and the general impression that experts who ignored Tuffy Leemans of George Washington university during the last three years were guilty of gross neglect.

Leemans, playing left half back for the white shirted All-Star eleven against the blue jerseyed All-American team selected by the fans of the nation to start against the Detroit Lions on Sept. 1, turned the All-Stars' second scrimmage into a field day. He returned a punt 65 yards up the middle of the field for his first touchdown and later went 24 and 21 yards on successive plays to score again.

Leemans Gains Consistently.

In between he raced off tackle for gains of 22 yards, 16 yards, 10 yards, and 9 yards. He threw a lateral pass to Wally Cruice of Northwestern at the end of his 9 yard effort and Cruice carried on for 10 more yards before he was pulled down.

Leemans' performance climaxed the busiest day of the training period at Northwestern, where Coach Bernie Bierman and his associates, Elmer Layden, Bo McMillin, and Lynn Waldorf, are driving 52 of the country's leading college players through two practices daily in preparation for the Sept. 1 game.

The day started on an optimistic note when Keith Topping of Stanford, chosen right end in the nation-wide fan ballot, reported, completing the All-American roster of the eleven starters against the Lions. Further encouragement came from the physicians who reported X-ray examinations revealed the shoulder injury suffered in Saturday's scrimmage by Dick Smith, Minnesota tackle, and Darrell Lester's side injury were only muscle strains. Lester, Texas Christian center, was hurt in the long tackling dummy session in yesterday morning's drill.

Berwanger Is Stopped.

Leemans' spectacular performance offset much of the disappointment over the failure of Jay Berwanger, University of Chicago's one man football team, to break away on one of his celebrated runs. It became all the more impressive in the eyes of the coaches when Leemans supplemented his galloping over and through the All-American eleven with some of the best defensive work of the conditioning period. He made two accurately timed tackles in open field and knocked down three All-American passes. Berwanger made only eight yards in four attempts.

Leemans Takes Charge.

Berwanger got five in two thrusts at the line in the first series of downs, then punted to Leemans. Tuffy immediately took charge of the scrimmage. He gathered in Berwanger's punt while four All-Americans surrounded him and attempted to break through. On the first play he plunged four yards off the All-American's left tackle, where Bob Reynolds of Stanford was filling in for the injured Dick Smith. On the next play he stepped outside left tackle for 10 yards and the first of six first downs made against the blue shirted eleven.

An exchange of punts followed and there was a bit of fruitless line smashing by both sides until the All-American quarter back from Alabama, kicked the ball high down the field to Leemans, who gathered it in just as Butch Loebs, Purdue end, hit him. Tuffy shook off Loebs and started up the middle, threading his way through the entire All-American eleven and

French, Lee Pitch Against Pirates Today

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 17.—Those of the Cubs who wanted to sleep all this afternoon were able to do so in private and without the cost in the league standings which their matinée snoozings exacted in Cincinnati Saturday and Sunday. Manager Grimm, though still adverse to hurting any one's feelings, was reported to be urging the boys to get a good night's rest on top of this afternoon's naps so that all may be in shape to make a good showing in tomorrow's double-header with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The only adequate baseball the Cubs have played in their fadeout during the last few weeks—the only series they have taken since they beat Brooklyn two out of three at the start of their last eastern trip last July 21, 22 and 23—was from the Pirates in Chicago, when they licked the Pittsburghers in a single game on Aug. 8 and took a double-header next day. Then they started on the present trip, which has been a sad trek indeed.

French and Lee to Pitch.

In tomorrow's double-header Larry French and Bill Lee will pitch for the complacent third placers, a change over earlier assignments because Curt Davis had the stomach ache Sunday night. Cy Blanton and Uncle Waite Hoyt will pitch for the Pirates.

It is apparent as the days pass that the Cubs are tipping back on their heels in the assurance that sooner or later they are going to win 21 straight as they did last September. That winning streak, valuable as it was when it happened, has become a genuine menace in the matter of current morale. Memory of the splurge has made a bunch of manana boys out of the Cubs.

If it weren't for the smugness of the collapsible champs the situation now, mathematically, would not be so bad. It is mathematically possible for them to go into first place before concluding their four game series. But this is not a forecast, understand.

Here Are the Figures.

The Cubs, with a contemplated 21 game winning streak in mind, are ten percentage points under what they were a year ago today when they still had an actual 21 game winning streak coming up. Here are comparative Aug. 17 percentages:

SOX END LOSING STREAK; DEFEAT INDIANS, 7 TO 3

11 Passes Off 2 Pitchers Help in Victory.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

After five straight beatings the White Sox pulled themselves back on the main line yesterday in the opener with the Cleveland Indians. The Jim Dykes crowd, slightly revised for the occasion, seasoned a flock of passes with a few base hits and rode to an easy triumph, 7 to 3, behind the pitching of the venerable Ted Lyons.

Johnny Allen, who recently pitched a three hit victory over the Sox in the Cleveland band box, bounced back with the idea of repeating, but let everything get out of control, including his temper. After protesting noisily about imaginary grievances and walking seven batters his boss told him to surrender. That happened in the fourth inning, with the Sox in possession of four runs. The remaining tallies were manufactured off Thornton [Lefty] Lee, also generous, but good natured about it.

Sox Given Eleven Passes.

Because of the total of eleven passes off the two enemy workmen the Sox got maximum results on limited hitting. They scored two runs in the third on three hits before Allen began to believe the umpire behind the plate wasn't seeing correctly. In the fourth when Allen precipitated his recall by walking four, the Sox needed only a hit by Rip Radcliff to get two more runs to the plate. In the sixth two fellows passed by Lee were chased home by Zeke Bonura's double. And in the eighth a pass was converted into a run on a single by Luke Appling.

Lyons while coasting to his seventh victory of the year found his home run ball was working perfectly in a couple of cases. He fed one to Hal Trosky in the fourth and it became No. 35 for the big fellow, tying the score for a few minutes. Odell Hale sent one into the seats for No. 13 in the fifth. The only other run off Lyons resulted from Tony Piet, working third base in place of Manager Dykes, not hanging onto a brown ball when a runner was charging into the bag.

Error Helps Indians Score.

One hit was mixed with Piet's error to give the Indians the day's first run in the second inning. The hit was Trosky's single to right with none out. He moved to second while Hayes was throwing out Weatherly. Vosmik grounded to Appling, who tossed to third and Trosky was safe when Piet neglected to hang onto the ball. Trosky scored on Becker's force of Vosmik at second. Knickerbocker fouled to Bonura for the third out.

The Sox, after two futile innings, launched an attack that netted two runs off Allen in the third. With

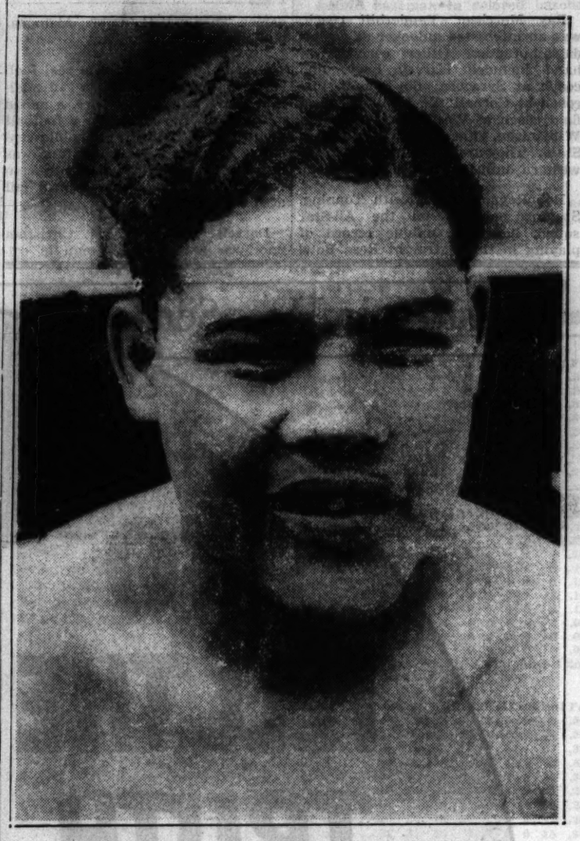
ROOM FOR ONE ONLY ON COMEBACK TRAIL



Joe Louis, who terrorized the heavyweight boxers until his reputation was unexpectedly deflated by Max Schmeling. Joe will start all over again tonight against Jack Sharkey. A crowd of 30,000 is expected to see the bout at Yankee stadium.

Jesse Owens Ready to Quit as Amateur

LONDON, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The amateur days of Jesse Owens are over if "good, legitimate offers" await him in the United States, both Owens and Barry Snyder, his coach turned adviser, plainly indicated tonight.

"I have reached a certain height in amateur athletics and I can't reach any higher," said the Buckeye Bullet who captured four gold medals in the Olympic games. "If you've been in the Olympic you've been in them all."

"The opportunity before me is worth considering, but even if I turn professional I'm going to get my college degree. That's the main thing."

Owens Makes Statement.

Owens, who was suspended yesterday by the United States Amateur Athletic union for failing to accompany a squad of athletes to Stockholm, charged the A. A. U. with "trying to run the Olympic on strictly business lines and take over college athletics."

"Somebody's making money somewhere," he said. "They are trying to grab all they can and we can't even buy a souvenir of the trip."

Snyder, who accused the A. A. U. of "shipping kids like cattle to get their 19 per cent," said if the offers made to his pupil are good and legitimate it's the only thing for him to do to accept them.

"He's already obtained the highest in amateur athletics," said Snyder. "Thank goodness his records were accepted before the suspension happened. It's a great opportunity for the colored boy."

Has Offer from Cantor.

Asked if he was a bit apprehensive over his wife's views toward his prospective professional career, Jesse smiled.

"She's left the whole situation up to me. After all, I'm the head of my house—while I'm away at least."

Offers to Owens include motion picture contracts from Fritz Pollard Sr. and Ralph Cooper of Los Angeles, as well as an opportunity to make a

Braddock Has Injured Hand, Fight Periled

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Plans for a world's heavyweight championship fight next month between James J. Braddock, the title-holder, and Max Schmeling of Germany, who formerly held the championship, were menaced today when it became known that Braddock is suffering from an injured left hand which probably will necessitate an operation that will keep him idle for four months.

Whether the fight will be held as scheduled is expected to be known tomorrow. At a meeting of the State Athletic commission the champion is to appear with his manager, Joe Gould, for examination by Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan, the chairman, Col. D. Walker Wear and Bill Brown.

May Enter Hospital.

From a reliable source it was learned tonight that Braddock has subjected his injured hand to medical examination and has been advised of the seriousness of the ailment from which he is suffering. He has gone so far in his plans as to make tentative arrangements to enter a local hospital.

The Braddock-Schmeling bout is tentatively set for Sept. 26, with the likelihood it will be advanced to Sept. 22 because of a conflict with Jewish holidays.

An operation, manifestly, would prevent Braddock from fighting next month. It is expected, therefore, that the commission tomorrow will approve the cancelation and suggest the bout be held as the first important outdoor ring match next year.

Injury In Little Finger.

The injury to the champion's hand is a development of the training Braddock launched quietly a short time after Schmeling knocked out Joe Louis at the Yankee stadium. A bone enlargement of a joint in the little finger of his left, which in itself is a characteristic development with fighters' hands, has become aggravated to an extent now where the title-holder's arm is practically paralyzed up to the elbow whenever he closes his fist.

GATE RECEIPTS EXPECTED TO REACH $125,000

Bout Is Scheduled for Ten Rounds.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 17.—Joe Louis has his rendezvous with destiny tomorrow evening in Yankee stadium. And after Joe Louis has kept his date with Jack Sharkey, he will know, and so will the rest of us who are cautiously refraining from guessing, if he is the fighter we thought he was.

If Louis wins tomorrow night it is distinctly within his power to go on to become the heavyweight champion of the world. If he loses, even by a decision, he is destined for oblivion.

Ticket sales were booming today and Promoter Mike Jacobs' optimistic prediction that the ten round bout would gross $200,000 at a price range of $2.30 to $11.50, including tax, did not seem as extravagant as yesterday. Actually, the fight should draw about 30,000 spectators and receipts of $125,000 despite wholesale desertions from the Louis banner in Harlem which sent legions to the cheaper sections for other engagements by the Bombed Bomber.

It's a Puzzle.

There are more angles to this problem of who will whip whom than to a geometry theorem. In Louis' earlier matches the ability of the principals could be fairly estimated. Indeed, Louis ran so true to form that eventually he was rated as perfect and Max Schmeling's one asset, a right hand by which he tumbled Louis to the floor, was discounted.

Now we have intangibles. The ageing sailor, Sharkey, who has reversed himself more times than not, would be enough of a problem for one fight without Louis, who may be gun shy and timid, or the dynamiter who shattered all precedent with 23 knockout victories in his first 27 professional engagements.

Sharkey doesn't hit as hard with his right hand as Schmeling, but he doesn't do his opponent any particular good with that right. It also seems strange to attribute calm collected thinking to Sharkey who is famous for his hysterical rages and who turned his head one night to ask the referee if Dempsey hadn't fouled him and woke up without ever seeing the punch which knocked him out. Yet that is what must be done if Sharkey is conceded the ability to outthink and outmaneuver Joe Louis.

Louis Has No Imagination.

It would not be difficult to outthink Joe Louis by any standard of daily life. Joe is a nice, clean cut, honest youngster on whom nature lavished physical powers and coördinated muscular control to an exceptional degree. And Joe's physical development was a matter of environment just as his mental growth also was subject to his surroundings.

Joe used his muscles, but he skipped even the most rudimentary training for his mind. Consequently his recent lessons in caution, in protecting a chin which Schmeling found the easiest kind of a target, may confuse him. Louis never has been required to think in the ring or out. His speed, timing, power and his gameness in the face of a thundering licking by the German, always have been subconscious reactions.

Louis has no imagination. Living is a matter entirely elemental and consists of food, clothing and shelter. He would be just as happy if he still were working as a laborer in a Detroit automobile factory for $25 a week, and from yesterday's workout at Pompton Lakes it is suspected that Joe now knows that job is far safer.

He's No Quitter.

Louis is not a quitter. Should he receive another beating tomorrow night, he'll take it without asking quarter, and if he wallops Sharkey and has him in distress, he will dispatch Jack as calmly as if it was the work of a firing squad. Joe is not emotional. He doesn't react. This undoubtedly is why he passes physical tests nonchalantly on the day of his fights. Any psychiatrist might give you the answer.

Regardless, the fact remains that Louis cannot take a punch. And we are quoting Jack Dempsey. Whether Joe was knocked goofy in the second or third round of his fight with Schmeling is immaterial. Louis was, by his own admission, rendered incapable of assault by one resounding blow. After the fourth round, Schmeling was not in danger and Louis' slow death was a matter of youth and this same inability to think of any way to escape his dilemma. A Levinsky, for instance, might have dropped to the floor and have been counted out.

Beating Does No Good.

Some have said that Joe's thrashing was a fine thing and that now he realizes fighting is a matter of getting hit as well as bruising the other fellow. This is fallacy. Getting walloped never taught any one any fact except that it hurts, and in Joe's case it also may have taught him fear.

Joe has said if he loses to Sharkey he will not fight again for a year. This is another way of saying he will never fight, for while a year or at the age of 22 would seem to be all right, a year's soft living might be fatal.

HALAS COMPARES POWER OF LIONS AND ALL-STARS

Expects Gopher Deception in College Offense.

BY GEORGE HALAS.
[Head Coach, Chicago Bears.]

Many fans believe that Coach Bierman's Minnesota teams have rolled up a record of three successive undefeated seasons by sheer power. That is an error. The Gophers play modern, deceptive football, striking a fine balance of power and finesse. Their attack has a real change of pace.

Against the Detroit Lions, Coach Bernie Bierman of the College All-Stars can place a team on the field composed almost entirely of members of his Big Ten champions of last season. Seven Gophers are on the All-American squad. The list includes Smith, tackle; Oech, guard; Rennebohm, center; Beise, fullback; Roscoe, blocking back, and Seidel and Lavoir, quarter backs.

I've seen all of those boys in action and each is a standout at his position. In fact, we've signed Oech and Roscoe for the Bears for the coming season.

They Know Their Game.

The presence of Levoir or Seidel on the field will be the next best thing to having Coach Bierman out there directing the plays himself. Each has had long schooling in the Bierman method of attack.

I've also looked over many of the other All-Americans during their college days. For instance, Millner of Notre Dame struck my fancy through his ability to rise up out of a group and snag a pass. He also is a money player. Shakespeare of the same university showed long distance kicking. Keith Topping looked great in the last Rose Bowl game. Both he and Dick Smith of Minnesota showed to advantage in a game against the Lions in Honolulu early this year. Then there's Jay Berwanger, one of football's all-time greats, almost an entire backfield by himself. The national recognition and publicity he has received are deserved.

And the Lions' Stars.

Now let's take close-ups of some of the Lions who will oppose these college stars. Dutch Clark and Ernie Caddel, the blond antelope, are at home in any football game.

Glenn Presnell made All-American while at Nebraska and was chosen All-National league quarter back in 1933. He is not as shifty as Dutch Clark, with whom he alternates, but is more of the driving type. He, too, is fast. The All-Americans will have to hit him squarely, for he tears loose from a half tackle.

Ace Gutowsky, full back from Oklahoma City university, hits as hard per pound as any one in the business and he weighs about 200 pounds. He is adept at hitting "daylight." Frank Christensen of the University of Utah is the other full back. He is a fine kicker and a greater blocker. Bill Shepherd, another back, turned in some great performances last year.

Strength in the Line.

Among the standouts in the line are the tackles, Jack Johnson, also of the University of Utah, who is 6 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 215 pounds, and has a great charge, and George Christensen, from the University of Oregon, who is well over 6 feet tall and weighs 245 pounds. He is fast enough to lead the interference on plays to the weak side.

The All-American backfield will find Guard Ox Emmerson of the University of Texas in their hair all evening. The first string ends, Harry Ebding of St. Mary's and Ed Klewicki of Michigan State, will present formidable barriers on plays aimed toward the flanks.

These men all have stout replacements. The squad is handpicked, without regard for their national reputations, or lack of them, acquired in college or for the publicity yardage they may have rolled up.

MOUNDS TEAM WINS.

Lions Find New Threat in Nori, De Kalb Star

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—A little fellow answering to the name of Reino Nori from De Kalb, Ill., was outstanding in the Detroit Lions' first scrimmage here today. Looking like a Boy Scout in comparison to George Christensen, 245 pound tackle; Jack Johnson, 215 pound tackle, and Frank Christensen, 205 pound blocking back, little Nori stole most of the thunder from the veteran Lion players.

What started out to be a fifteen minute scrimmage wound up lasting forty-five minutes. The twenty veterans, who played with the Lions in 1935, with Dick Lutz, a newcomer from the University of Detroit, and Delbert Ritchhart, Colorado college, making two additional players, were sent against what Coach Potsy Clark calls his freshman squad.

Weight Proves No Handicap.

Acting as safety man in the early part of the scrimmage Nori proved his 155 pounds would not be a handicap in the National Football league when he hauled down Ace Gutowsky and Buddy Parker, two hard running backs, when they were on their way to touchdowns.

Having tipped off his defensive ability Nori was then moved into the back field of team A at quarter back. On his first chance he shot off right tackle, cut back, whirled past the defensive back and safety man, and scooted thirty-five yards for a score. A few plays later Nori went thirty yards to the 5 yard line before being stopped.

Few newcomers have been more impressive in their debut than was Nori today. Unless something unforseen happens he is certain to see service when the Lions meet the College All-Stars Sept. 1 in Soldiers' field, Chicago.

Scrimmage Scheduled Today.

Nori is of Finnish descent. He is the second youngest of a family of six and resides with his parents in De Kalb. He came to the Lions on the recommendation of Charley Bachman, Michigan State college coach.

Scrimmages are scheduled for the Lions again tomorrow. The performance will be repeated on Wednesday.

It was decided today by the Lions management the squad opposing the College All-Stars will not leave Cranbrook school until noon, Aug. 31, the day before the game. The squad will arrive in Chicago in time for dinner and a final workout under the lights at Soldiers' field.

The first injury of the practice sessions occurred today when Bill McKalip, right half back, hurt his right knee. The injury will keep McKalip on the sidelines for at least five days.

Bears Leave for Training Camp with Squad of 22

Twenty-two Chicago Bears left for the St. John's Military Academy at Delafield, Wis., yesterday to go into training for the National Professional league football season. Syl Saumer, a half back from St. Olaf college [Minn.] and Paul Halleck, an end from Ohio university, were missing at the time of departure. It is likely they went direct to the training camp.

The entire group appeared to be in excellent condition and Bronko Nagurski, who spent the offseason building himself up, declared he is as fit and ready as he ever was and he looked it.

ARON, BROWN FIGHT TO DRAW IN MARIGOLD BOUT

Milt Aron and Harold Brown last night fought ten rounds to a draw at Marigold Gardens before a crowd of 1,793 who grossed $1,850. Judges W. A. Battye and Rube Metz voted for a draw while Referee Davey Miller scored for Aron, 51 to 49. The west side welterweight rivals battled on even terms in the opening round, but Aron, an 8 to 5 favorite to win, won the second session. Brown piled up points each of the next five rounds, however. He tired in the eighth and Milt had him on the verge of a knockout in the ninth. They traded blow for blow in the final round.

A light rain started to fall in the third round and Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission ordered the match shifted to the adjacent indoor arena. The fans voted down this suggestion and suffered a drenching.

Carl Fasnaugh beat Mike Gamier [5].
Harry Schuman stopped Bud Moore [1].
Eddie Carrol stopped Johnny Terry [3].
Frankie Klotz beat Frankie White [4].

TO PORTRAY OLD TIME BASEBALL AT CUBS PARK

Baseball of the 1876 variety will be reproduced Saturday at Wrigley field, preceding the regularly scheduled 1936 game between the Cubs and Reds. Local amateurs will play the parts of old timers in a two or three inning exhibition which the National league devised for each of its eight cities as a marker for its sixtieth anniversary.

The players who have been rehersing under Jack Sheehan of the Chicago park district can paste on mustaches or beards if they wish but the old rules did not permit the use of gloves for fielders or glove and protector, mask, etc. for the catcher.

Logansport Basketball Coaching School Opens

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—One hundred high school and college coaches are enrolled for the one week basketball coaching school which opened today. Clifford O. Wells of Logansport High is head of the school. Craig Ruby, University of Illinois coach, is chief instructor.

Bobby Wilson Proves He's an Elusive Back

Side line observers at the daily workouts of the college All-Stars at Dyche stadium agree that it's true what they say about Bobby Wilson. In the southwest conference, bewildered opponents maintained that the trim 145 pounder could run three ways at one and the same time—just part of the deceptive manner which made him one of the nation's greatest ball carriers last fall. Bobby runs with a spraddle-legged gait which makes him a hard man to bring down.

Ray Morrison, Vanderbilt coach, was an interested onlooker at yesterday's practice. Other coaches on hand included Harvey Levy, line coach at Syracuse; Bo Boland, line coach at Cornell; W. H. Wood, back field coach at West Point, and Stan Williamson, line coach at Kansas State. They are attending the Northwestern university coaching school.

Bob Reynolds and Keith Topping, Stanford players on the All-Star squad, have the unique record of playing in three straight Rose Bowl games. They met Columbia, Alabama, and Southern Methodist.

Dyche stadium took on a real football atmosphere yesterday. In addition to the All-Star practice, a movie outfit went into action on a football picture for a Detroit automobile concern. A crowd of 100 extras was ensconced in the stands attired in raccoon coats and other typical fall attire.

Darrell Lester, Texas Christian end, was a nine letter man in college, winning three letters each year in football, basketball, and baseball. He averaged 175 points for three years in basketball. He worked his way through college and was on the honor roll two years.

Hi-Li, the latest novely craze, has invaded the ranks of the All-Stars. Gomer Jones, Ohio State center, took a few minutes out from practice yesterday to demonstrate his skill. His record is an even dozen, but he says he hasn't had much practice.

U. S. BOXERS CHEERED BY NAZIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HANOVER, Germany, Aug. 17.—[Special.] — Hanover and Bremerhaven boxing fans cheered members of America's Olympic fight team as they appeared in exhibition bouts tonight in the two cities. At Hanover the Americans triumphed in three bouts, losing two, while at Bremerhaven the United States representatives piled up four victories against only one defeat.

Hanover had planned a reception for the Americans and many were disappointed when Head Coach Johnny Behr of Chicago was forced to cancel all parties to let his charges rest. The boxers were forced to stand up for three hours in an overcrowded train from Berlin to Hanover after leaving the Olympic village at dawn.

Carl Vinciquerra, Omaha light heavyweight, scored the most convincing victory at Hanover before a crowd which packed all available room in the town's concert hall. Vinciquerra scored a technical knockout over R. Luecke in three rounds. Jackie Wilson, colored Cleveland bantamweight, beat F. Nlake and Willis Johnson, Detroit heavyweight, scored a clear-cut victory over Sikora, one of Germany's best amateurs. Jimmy Urso of Detroit, American flyweight, lost to the Hanoverian champion of 1933, Brosazi. Urso was forced to quit in the second round because of a cut eye.

At Bremerhaven the other half of the American team was greeted at the city hall and fought before another crowded house. Jimmy Clark, Jamestown, N. Y., middleweight, won by a technical knockout; Ord Fink, Syracuse, N. Y., 160 pounder; Arthur Oliver, Chicago heavyweight, and Tommy Tedesco, Buffalo featherweight, won decisions. Louis Laurie, Cleveland featherweight, lost a decision.

outracing all pursuers to the goal line.

The white shirted All-Star line, which has caused the All-Americans no end of annoyance in the two scrimmages to date, was composed of Marty Peters, Notre Dame, and Zarza, Michigan State at ends; Larry Lutz, California, and Dick Pfefferle, Notre Dame, tackles; Dan Fortmann, Colgate, and James Karcher, Ohio State, guards; and Al Lind, Northwestern, center. Dick Crayne, Iowa's full back star for three years, backed up this line as it battered down the All-Americans' every challenge.

Test Speed in Sprints.

A series of 50 yard sprints at the conclusion of the morning drill established Wagner Jorgensen, the St. Mary's giant, as champion of the centers and Bob Reynolds of Stanford as the fastest tackle on the squad. Vernal [Babe] Levoir of Minnesota outran the quarterbacks and Crayne and Don Elser, Notre Dame's all-around star, ran a dead heat in the fullback test. Berwanger and Wilson were the fastest of the halfbacks. They ran a dead heat when they met in a second race.

Leemans reported to the All-Star coaches last week unheralded by national publicity. He was unknown to fans outside Washington, D. C., the site of George Washington university and Superior, Wis., his home town, but their enthusiastic support in the nation-wide poll conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 182 affiliated newspapers earned him an invitation to join the squad. He is a compact, shifty back with his 185 pounds well distributed over five feet eleven inches. He is under contract to the New York Giants in the National Pro league.

Line Shows Power.

In distinguishing himself as one of the outstanding backs on the All-Star squad, Leemans had the support of a fast charging, alert line which limited the All-Americans to one first down by rushing. Bobby Wilson of Southern Methodist, relieving Berwanger, swung wide around his right end for 18 yards before he was brought down by Leemans. Stan Pincura of Ohio State passed 16 yards to his old teammate, Dick Heekin, for another first down and the All-Americans' third and last one resulted from interference by Al Lind on Wilson's pass.

Stagg, Veteran Coach, Observes 74th Birthday

Stockton, Cal., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Amos Alonzo Stagg, College of the Pacific football coach, celebrated his 74th birthday today. Several members of his 1936 team visited him at home.

Stagg, oldest active coach in the United States, served at the University of Chicago for forty-one years before coming to Stockton.

He received many congratulatory messages from former associates in all parts of the country.

ASK THE MAN WHO'S HAD A BLOW-OUT..

if it pays to gamble on tires

A BLOW-OUT is no laughing matter, and any motorist who has had one will tell you so. When your tire blows out . . . and the steering wheel is torn from your hands . . . you suddenly realize that gambling on tires is a mighty serious and dangerous business.

Are your tires safe?

At today's high speeds, the tire gets blistering hot inside. Rubber and fabric separate. A blister forms and grows bigger and BIGGER until—sooner or later—BANG! A blow-out—that might have been prevented if your car had been equipped with Goodrich Silvertowns.

Silvertowns have something no other tire in the world has—the Life-Saver Golden Ply. This amazing Goodrich invention is a layer of special rubber and full-floating cords, scientifically treated to resist the terrific blowout-causing heat generated inside all tires by today's high speeds. By resisting this heat the Golden Ply keeps rubber and fabric from separating—it keeps heat blisters from forming. And when you prevent the blister you prevent the high-speed blow-out.

See us about these life-saving, long-wearing Silvertowns today. They cost less than other super-quality tires and may save your life.

U. S. OLYMPIC SQUAD TO START FOR HOME TODAY

Athletes Visit Military Pageant at Potsdam.

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Members of the various American Olympic teams, with a day on their hands before leaving on a special train for Hamburg tomorrow to catch the President Roosevelt for home, took the opportunity today to attend the big military festivities at Potsdam in observance of the 150th anniversary of the death of Frederick the Great.

"So this is Berlin. It's the first time I've been able to see the buildings for the crowd."

Germans Claim Victory.

Berlin's newspapers have little except "We won" all over the front pages. Almost every one presented a column of figures a foot high to prove it.

Some 75,000 foreign visitors tried to say farewell to the Olympics all at once today, with the result there was the closest thing to confusion that has been seen since the games began. Few of them apparently had thought to make reservations on outbound trains. They besieged travel agencies and hotel porters for help, but thousands had little chance of getting away before tomorrow night.

Every sleeping berth on the scores of trains leaving Berlin tonight were occupied. So was every chair in the fleets of passenger planes that took off from Tempelhof all day as fast as the runways could be cleared.

Visitors Leave Hotels.

Hotels that had done the greatest business in Berlin's history were beginning to look deserted. Again it was possible to walk through the lobbies without getting bumped more than once.

By way of showing his appreciation of Germany's athletic conquests, Herman Wilhelm Goering has invested Hans von Tschammer und Osten, realm sports leader, with the honorary title of "Prussian state councillor." Hitler sent him a cabinet photograph of himself, properly inscribed, the first thing this morning.

There were, of course, the usual bombastic editorials pointing out that Germany had promised to produce the greatest Olympic games ever and had made good with something to spare.

Avery Brundage, president of the American Olympic committee, who with his wife will spend two or three weeks touring Europe before leaving for home, has mellowed considerably since the Eleanor Holm Jarrett incident at the outset of the games. He was pleased with everything about the games.

Brundage Makes Statement.

"Our athletes have ben a credit to their country," he told the Associated Press. "All Americans can be proud of them. They made a fine impression even when not winning and fully justified all the work and trouble we went to to bring them over.

"I want to thank all those whose support made our participation possible. We've proved to the rest of the world that American speed and stamina are not on the decline. We received wonderful treatment from the German people from the moment we landed.

"I'm sure it will be the same at Tokio four years hence."

CARPENTER DISCUS WINNER.

PRAGUE, Czecho-Slovakia, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Ken Carpenter, Olympic discus champion, came within a fraction of an inch of the world record held by Willie Schroeder of Germany today as the touring American track team won three out of four events against the Czecho-Slovakians. Carpenter hurled the discus 174 feet 1 31-64 inches. Walter Wood was second with 161 feet 11 22-64 inches.

U. S. STARS IN FINLAND.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Four members of the United States Olympic Track team, Archie Williams, Oakland, Cal.; Ralph Metcalfe, Chicago; Archie San Romani, Frontenac, Kas., and Bill Graber, Ontario, Cal., arrived by plane today for competition tomorrow.

They also will compete in several other meets in Finland.

SWIMMERS GIVE SHOW.

FRANKFORT ON THE MAIN, Germany, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Members of the American Olympic swimming and water polo teams acquitted themselves well in a meet here tonight but a group of Japanese stars, who are touring Germany in three groups, met defeat at the hands of German swimmers.

Arthur Lindegren of Los Angeles beat German rivals in a 200 meter free style race in the slow time of 2:22.5. The water polo team beat a team representing the city of Frankfort, 5 to 3. Elbert Root of Detroit, second place winner in the Olympics, gave a platform diving exhibition without competition.

ten week stage tour with Eddie Cantor.

Owens, who is almost mobbed by autograph seekers when he appears on London's streets, said he didn't know what Cantor wanted him to do, adding "I ain't so hot as a tap dancer."

The coach denied that Owens had made up his mind to turn pro regardless of what inducements were offered. Jesse has "absolutely not" decided, Snyder said, but will likely make the jump if the bona fide offers received are good enough. However, nothing will be decided until they reach New York and investigate thoroughly all the propositions.

CANTOR TO PRESS OFFER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Eddie Cantor, who wired Jesse Owens an offer of $40,000 to appear with him on the air and stage, said he received the following message from Larry Snyder, Owens' coach, today:

"Your offer attractive. No decision at present, but would appreciate full details your plan for Jesse."

Cantor said he would call Snyder by trans-Atlantic phone.

WOULD IGNORE BAN.

Maj. John L. Griffith, Western Conference Athletic commissioner and president of the National Collegiate Athletic association, said last night that the suspension of Jesse Owens by the Amateur Athletic union would not disqualify the Ohio State star from intercollegiate competition, provided he remains "otherwise eligible."

"If the A. A. J. suspended Owens for failure to compete in barnstorming meets in Europe," Griffith said, "he still would be eligible for Big Ten and National Collegiate A. A. competition, provided he remains otherwise eligible.

"By 'otherwise eligible', I mean eligible scholastically and, of course, remaining an amateur."

JUNER, GILLES LEADING IN SIX DAY BIKE RACE

Oscar Juner, German-American A. C. and Frenchy Gilles of the C. Y. O. forged to the front last night, gaining a lap on the field in the national amateur six day bicycle race at Humboldt park.

Three teams were one lap behind. They were: Charles Yaccino and Ray Ligman of the C. Y. O.; Mike Clarizio and Joe Berlando of the Italian-American A. C., and Charles Bergna, and John Eller of Newark, N. J.

Trailing by three laps were the Louis Randoni-Martin Deras team of San José, Cal., Marcel Lauwers, John Fredericks of the C. Y. O., and George Robson-Louis Gachon of Montreal, Canada.

Davey Day to Fight Next at Mills Stadium

Promoter Irving Schoenwald will appear at the weekly meeting of the Illinois boxing commission today with an application to present a show at Mills stadium Sept. 9, topped by a ten round bout involving Davey Day, Illinois' leading lightweight. Schoenwald, who offers cards at Marigold Gardens every Monday, has canceled his date of Sept. 7 at the north side club because it falls on Labor day. . . . Billy Treest, Batavia, Ill., potential heavyweight contender, has called off his scheduled encounter with Nathan Mann on the Joe Louis-Jack Sharkey card tonight at Yankee stadium in New York. . . . Leo Rodak is training at Madison Square loop gymnasium in anticipation of appearing in Promoter Mique Malloy's windup at White City, Sept. 11.

Eddie Boyle, Cleveland 178 pounder, appeared to good advantage yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium in a four round workout with Oscar Rankin and Chuck McCarthy in preparation for his ten round main event with Max Marek at White City Friday. McCarthy will meet Ambrose Geohagan, south side light heavyweight, in a four round preliminary. Al Nettlow and Gene Higgins also will appear in supporting rôles in two other matches. The winner of the Marek-Boyle scrap likely will clash with Leo Lomski at the same arena on Sept. 4.

Ivan Rasputin and Hans Schnabel, who wrestled to a 30 minute draw last Wednesday, will meet again at Arcadia Gardens tomorrow, the engagement being scheduled for 60 minutes on this occasion. . . . Jim Mc Millen will wrestle John Katan in a supplementary bout at the Coliseum next Monday. Gus Sonnenberg and Dean Detton are windup principals. . . . A middleweight opponent for Danny Wright is being sought at Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 25. . . . Ollie Graff, Milwaukee, Wis., lightweight, expects to make his next appearance as a welterweight. . . . Eddie Borden, veteran fight manager and writer, will publish a national weekly boxing magazine starting Sept. 14. . . . Henry Armstrong, Los Angeles featherweight, crowned champion by the California Athletic commission following his recent conquest of Alberto Arizmendi, will make his first start as "titleholder" against Juan Zurita for ten rounds at Los Angeles tonight.

Senators Beat Yankees, 7-5; Pound Gomez

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Away to a five run lead in the first inning at the expense of Lefty Gomez, the Washington Senators whipped the league leading New York Yankees, 7 to 5, today.

Gomez, who has not won a game since beating the Senators July 4, was touched for five hits, one of them a double by Red Kress, and handed out one walk during the opening inning. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the second and Kemp Wicker, recently brought up from Newark, held the Senators in check the remainder of the game.

EARL AVERILL TAKES LEAD IN BIG SIX BATTING

Earl Averill of the Indians supplanted his teammate, Roy Weatherly, as leader of baseball's Big Six yesterday. Averill's average dropped a point to .383 when he got only one hit in four times at bat, but Weatherby failed to do even that good and lost seven points. Lou Gehrig, the only other member of the Big Six in action, made one hit in four times at bat and his average fell to .381.

Transfer Omaha Club's Franchise to Rock Island

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Clarence Mitchell, manager of the Omaha Western league team, said tonight Judge W. G. Bramham has sanctioned the transfer of the club's franchise to Rock Island, Ill. The Omaha manager said he received permission from the president of the National Association of Professional Baseball clubs to open a series with Cedar Rapids at Rock Island tomorrow night. The Omaha park was destroyed by fire last week.

Name Managers of Colored Nines in All-Star Game

Bingo De Moss of the Chicago American Giants will manage the west and Oscar Charleston of the Pittsburgh Crawfords will direct the east in the fourth annual colored all-star baseball game at Comiskey park next Sunday afternoon. The selections were announced yesterday following final tabulation of the national poll.

De Moss, who is serving his first season at the head of the Chicago club, received 11,177 votes to win over Jim Glass of the Cincinnati Tigers, his closest rival. A total of 2,816 votes was cast for the Cincinnati manager.

De Moss during his playing days with the American Giants from 1917 to 1925 was considered the greatest second baseman in colored baseball. After his active career ended he served as manager of the Indianapolis A. B. C.'s, Detroit Stars, and Cleveland Red Sox.

Charleston was an overwhelming choice over Jim Taylor of the Washington Elites for the east's manager, drawing 18,736 votes to 6,801 for Taylor, who led the west's team in 1934 when he was with Nashville. As a first baseman Charleston played in all three previous all-star games and led the west to its eleven inning, 11 to 8 victory last year.

Sox Defeat Indians, 7-3, to End Losses

one out Sewell singled to right for the first hit. Lyons then singled to center, Sewell going to third. Sewell hiked home while Lyons was being forced by Radcliff. Radcliff stole second and a moment later learned the effort wasn't necessary. He could have scored from any spot on a triple planted in center by Kreevich. Haas and Bonura then walked. Allen was annoyed about this, but got his temper back under control and fanned Appling.

Trosky Smacks Homer.

Trosky was responsible for pulling the Sox back into a 2 to 2 tie for a few moments in the fourth. The gangling first baseman knocked one of Lyons' offerings into the lower deck in right field, his 35th home run of the year. Weatherly fanned and Vosmik lined to Haas for the second out. Sullivan then tripled into the right field corner and Knickerbocker popped to Lyons.

Allen opened the home fourth by walking Hayes and Piet. They were nudged along on Sewell's bunt, and when Lyons sent a healthy fly to Averill in right center Hayes scored. Radcliff scratched a hit past Hughes and Piet registered. Allen staged another ascension in which he passed Kreevich and Haas, loading the bases. For this display of generosity the ex-Yankee was ordered to vacate the premises. Lefty Lee came forth and Bonura let the rally die by bouncing softly to Knickerbocker.

Hale's Homer Cuts Lead.

Hale slapped a homer into the left field seats with two out in the fifth, thus reducing the Sox lead to one run. But the Sox, or more specifically Mr. Bonura, took care of this in the sixth. Lee carried on in the Allen fashion by walking Radcliff, fanning Kreevich and walking Haas. Bonura boomed a line double to the left center field wall, Radcliff and Haas scoring to give the Sox a 6 to 3 advantage. Sullivan permitted the throw to the plate to get away from him so Bonura went to third on the error, but the next two batters failed to come through with the needed assistance.

The Sox cashed in on another pass in the eighth. The ticket went to Radcliff who led off. Kreevich bunted in front of the plate and Sullivan threw to second but not in time to catch Radcliff. Haas sacrificed and Bonura popped out. Then a drive by Appling bounced against third base for a single, Radcliff scoring. Hayes closed the inning with a fly to Campbell.

Chicago Boy Victor in Parks Tennis Tourney

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Seymour Greenberg, 15 year old Chicago boy, today defeated Dave Perchonock of Philadelphia, 5-7, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1, and reached the third round of the National Public Parks tennis competion.

White Sox Send Brown Against Indians Today

Clint Brown, who has made only one previous start with the White Sox, will tackle the Indians, his one time mates, in the second of the series today at Comiskey park. Oral Hildebrand will perform as enemy pitcher.

The attendance of 3,000 included the squad of AllStar collegians who will play football the night of Sept. 1 with the Detroit Lions, pro league champions, at Soldiers' field.

Joe Becker, the Indians' kid backstop, had to retire while Haas was at bat in the third inning. The youngster reached for a low pitch and jammed a finger against the ground. Billy Sullivan, Notre Dame and White Sox graduate, replaced him.

The Indians have won one game in seven at Comiskey park this season, and the Sox have captured only one out of eight played in the Cleveland arena.

REVOLTA, VICTOR TOP PRO-SENIOR FIELD WITH 73

Charley Rice, C. J. Whipple Low Net Winners.

Johnny Revolta of Evanston and Johnny H. Victor of Glen View collaborated yesterday to shoot 40—33—73 and lead a field of nearly 100 professionals and Illinois seniors in the annual pro-senior event at Barrington Hills. The low net winners were Charley Rice and C. J. Whipple of the home club with 74—6—68.

Next to Revolta and Victor came Orville White and E. E. Peter of Olympia Fields; Frank Walsh, Bryn Mawr, and George J. Pope, Skokie, and Ky Laffoon, Northmore, and Fred W. Hill of Skokie, tied with 74s. Harry Hampton, Beverly, and C. C. Hopkins, Glen View, and Bob MacDonald, and Walter Carr of Knollwood had 76.

GRAND DUKE WINS OVER WISE DUKE IN STRETCH DRIVE

Favorites Have Rough Day at Washington Park.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Another deluge of long shots descended upon the crowd at Washington Park yesterday afternoon. Favorites were in complete rout until Mrs. Emil Denemark's well backed Grand Duke charged up from far back to win the Lincolnshire handicap, the best race on the program.

Grand Duke had been stoutly backed and ran just like a favorite should run. Once he started galloping in the stretch he left no doubt as to what might be the final outcome. Wise Duke made up some ground in the late stages, but the son of Wise Counsellor had raced so wide into the stretch that he lost all opportunity for a victory on that one move.

After running the six furlongs in 1:12 1-5 Grand Duke paid off in the betting at $5.80 to win, $3.40 to place, and $2.20 to show. Wise Duke, one of the long shots of the party, paid $7.20 to place and $3.60 to show. Fleet Foyot, which cut out all the early ace only to quit in the final run or home, paid $2.60 to show.

Appear Hopelessly Beaten.

In the run down the back stretch Grand Duke and Wise Duke both appeared to be hopelessly beaten. They were some eight lengths back of Foyot, Empty Bottle, and Slim Rosie which were fighting for the lead. They didn't begin to make up much ground until the field was rounding the final bend.

Jocky Albrecht picked the shortest route home for Grand Duke. He skimmed him along the rail at the head of the stretch. Jocky Joe Renick on Wise Duke took him to the extreme outside. Both passed the three leaders, but Renick had lost so much ground with Wise Duke that there was no chance for him to catch Grand Duke in the final drive.

Grand Duke's victory was a final salute fired by the powerful Denemark stable. The horses in this big establishment will be shipped to Detroit Thursday. They may be returned to Chicago for part of the Lincoln Fields season, it was announced by the owner.

Quincy Wins at $13.

The downfall of the favorites started in the first race when the Nash Brothers' 2 year old Quincy got up in time to beat the Millsdale stable's Fond Memories by a neck. Quincy paid off at $13 for a $2 ticket.

Deets Campfire, at $30.60 for $2, stuck it out just long enough to beat the stoutly backed Shady Girl in the second race at 7 furlongs. Deets Campfire races for the Chappel Brothers of Rockford. It was one of the few victories the stable has scored this year.

Ep, the noted front runner which usually quits, knocked every favorite player flat when he came up from behind in the 6 furlong third race to get the decision over the popular Miss Melody in the last stride. Ep stepped his 6 furlongs in 1:11 2-5, which was nearly a second faster than the handicap performer Grand Duke ran his race. Ep paid off at $29.40 in the $2 betting.

Ep Surprises Fans.

Not one man in the crowd could ever remember of Ep coming from behind to score a victory. Ep, at 7 years of age, has been a more useful performer than at any time in her career.

The fourth race found Lucky Ducky at $18.60 as the winner from another long shot, Perlette. Lucky Ducky showed them the way home from start to finish. Teddy Green was the favorite. He was blocked on the first turn and never could get back into stride.

So it went nearly all afternoon. Favorite players were talking to themselves. Some of them were even cutting paper dolls out of magazines.

Granville, winner of the Belmont, Kenner, and Travers stakes and the Arlington Classic for William Woodward, is asked by Handicapper Charles McLennan to carry top weight of 132 pounds in the $7,500 Sheridan handicap for 3 year olds at a mile and a furlong at Washington Park Saturday, according to the weights announced yesterday.

Granville probably will not come west for the race as a result of the high impost. Included in the list was A. C. Compton's Microbe which since being nominated met with a training accident and had to be destroyed.

The weights for the Sheridan follow:

White Cockade	126

Mrs. Emil Denemark Thursday night will ship her stable of thirty horses to Detroit for the meeting opening there on Friday. The Denemarks, who are extensively interested in the automobile industry, announced that they are fulfilling a promise made last winter in Florida to motor city business leaders that they would race at the late summer meeting there.

The Millsdale stable's Bottle Cap has been nominated for the $10,000 Eastern Shore handicap to be run in Maryland on Sept. 19. The son of Bostonian will fill his engagement in the $5,000 Washington Park Juvenile stakes on Sept. 5 before traveling to Maryland for the Eastern Shore.

Trainer Bert Michell, who will take the Denemark horses to Detroit, will send Orientalist back to Washington Park for the Juvenile stakes. The trainer is determined to prove beyond all doubt that Orientalist is a better horse than Bottle Cap. Orientalist trimmed Bottle Cap in the Prairie State on Saturday.

QUINCY, away forwardly, was in close quarters early, came to the outside when clear, responded gamely to strong riding and was up to win in the final strides. FOND MEMORIES, on the inside throughout, disposed of MACAWLEE in the stretch, offered good contention while submitting, but could not withstand the winner. OFFENDER, away in a tangle and in close quarters, moved up stoutly after obtaining ample racing room, closed gamely, but was no menace for the first two.

Winner trained by J. P. Keezek. Went to post at 2:48. At post ½ minute. Start good for all but Nancy Nan from gate. Won driving; place same.

DEET'S CAMPFIRE, away forwardly and kept well under occasional pressure, took command inside the final eighth, gave way briefly to SHADY GIRL near the end, but rallied to strong riding and won in the final strides. Latter improved her position gradually, came to the outside for the drive, then faltered after getting to the front. RUBAN'S CHOICE met interference early, was taken wide thereafter and gained steadily in a good effort.

LUCKY DUCKY began fast and lucky to escape interference, continued with good speed and held sway to the end. PERLETTE, moved up fast on the inside after the start, was forced back sharply, recovered slowly thereafter and closed with a rush. DANKE SCHON forced the pace to the final eighth, then weakened.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Handicap. Three year olds and up. Purse $1,200. Net value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

GRAND DUKE, dropped far out of contention early, came to the outside while gaining, moved up rapidly in the stretch, overhauled the leaders and won under strong pressure. WISE DUKE, outrun to the final three-sixteenths and forced to lose much ground while gaining, closed resolutely and was getting to the winner. FOYOT displayed usual keen speed while setting the early pace, but weakened in the stretch.

MIN ORMONT, taken under mild reserve while racing well up, came to the outside for the drive, responded gamely to strong riding and was up to win in the final strides. STOP SCOUT took command after three-eighths, gave way to CEALLAIGH briefly in the stretch, but rallied to strong riding and just missed. CEALLAIGH, a strong factor throughout, held on with good courage in the drive.

COPPER TUBE, under mild reserve for half a mile, came around the leaders in the stretch, overhauled ATTAUQUECHEE inside the final eighth, then drew out fast. Latter rushed to the front early, continued gamely thereafter, but could not withstand the winner. STROPHE, allowed to remain far out of contention for three-quarters, gained rapidly when urged, but too late to be a serious contender.

TRIOLET, under mild reserve for three-quarters, moved up fast when urged, took command and drew out, but had to be roused briskly to hold SISTER IKIE safe. Latter dropped back after beginning in stride and was on the inside while gaining and closed fastest. GANNONNIC, slow to get going, finished with a rush.

CORN ADVANCES TO PEAK PRICE IN EIGHT YEARS

All Grains Close with Gains for Day.

September corn soared 3⅞ cents yesterday over Saturday's close, reaching $1.12 per bushel, the highest price at which any corn future has sold on the Chicago Board of Trade since 1928. No. 1 and No. 2 white corn sold in the cash market at $1.30 per bushel, a new peak since early in 1925, while yellow corn touched $1.16.

At Kansas City September contracts, which represent the 1935 crop, sold at $1.14½, up 4 cents, the limit permitted for one day under exchange regulations.

All grains started upward after a moderate break early in sympathy with weakness in Liverpool wheat futures. Public speculative buying was in evidence, and many professional traders who sold on the opening decline experienced considerable difficulty in buying back their lines.

Wheat 2 Cents Higher.

Wheat closed with net gains of 1⅞ to 2 cents. The September delivery closed at $1.13⅞, or less than a cent below the season's highest price. New crop deliveries of corn advanced 3⅛ to 3½ cents, oats gained a major fraction, and rye rose nearly 2 cents with the September in new high ground for the season.

There was nothing in the day's news to account for the upturn. Lack of selling pressure was a feature in all pits. Eastern speculators bought wheat futures, and cash interests bought September and sold the distant futures. In addition there was outright buying of September which lifted that future to a ½ cent premium over December.

American mills were aggressive buyers of October wheat at Winnipeg. Futures in the Canadian market City and Minneapolis lost ground, City and Minneapolis lost ground compared with Chicago. Clear and warmer weather prevailed in Europe, which depressed Liverpool wheat futures ½ to 1¼ cents per bushel.

Hedging Sales Small.

It is said that the abnormally small wheat crop in this country has resulted in less than the normal amount of hedging sales in futures markets. With a drastic reduction in the movement in the southwest, the removal of hedges has become a market influence.

Closing trades on the September delivery of leading grains, with comparisons, follow:

	Yesterday	Saturday	Week ago	Month ago
Wheat	$1.13⅞	$1.11½	$1.10½	$1.10⅝
Corn	1.12	1.08¾	1.09¾	1.04⅞
Oats	.43⅝	.42⅞	.41⅞	.37
Rye	.84¼	.82¾	.78⅝	.70⅝

September corn at the close yesterday was only 1¾ cents under the same delivery of wheat, an abnormally small discount. Many operators have been buying corn and selling wheat as a hedge for some time, believing that the former grain will sell higher.

PUTS NATIONAL INCOME NEAR 60 BILLION FOR '36

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Ernest G. Draper, assistant secretary of commerce, predicted today that unless there is some major change in present business trends, national income produced this year will be close to $60,000,000,000.

Although acknowledging "it is terribly difficult to give any definite figures," he said a preliminary study of various statistics had indicated the total would be between $58,000,000,000 and $60,000,000,000. This would compare with $52,959,000,000 last year, $81,034,000,000 in 1929, and $39,545,000,000—the lowest figure since 1929—in 1932.

Draper forecast also that income produced and income paid out will balance approximately this year. Since 1929, income paid out had exceeded income produced. Last year this excess was $628,00,000, compared with the high of $8,817,000,000 in 1932.

Nazi Moves Show Plight of German Trade

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Germany's attempt to bar imports from the United States through the imposition of restrictions on the use of "aski" marks and registered marks betrays the desperate economic situation of the reich, in the opinion of Chicago experts on foreign trade.

United States government forced the issue recently by banning the importation from Germany of manufactured goods on which the German government paid subsidies in order to enable its own exporters to "dump" in the United States. The Nazis retaliated by prohibiting further use of the monetary vehicles — "aski" marks and registered marks — by which American exporters had been selling goods in Germany.

Life of Trade Threatened.

These moves threatened to eliminate trade between the two countries almost entirely and, because Germany needs American cotton and petroleum products in her own manufacturing processes, the Nazis subsequently took steps to restore at least some portion of this international trade by agreeing to abandon government subsidies on goods exported to the United States. The United States treasury department responded last week by lifting the reprisal duties on German imports.

The whole incident, however, throws the spotlight on the highly complicated economic and monetary machinery by which Germany is striving to make her foreign trade balance.

Strive to Improve Balance.

The Nazis are using every form of pressure at their command to reduce imports and increase exports. Germany must buy certain raw materials abroad which she does not produce at home, but by a complicated series of treaties she is attempting to force the nations from which she buys to take their payment in the form of goods produced in Germany.

The United States, except for certain British dominions, is the sole important nation with which Germany does not now have some sort of commercial treaty. Thus, the consummation of the Nazi scheme for perfectly balanced trade is thrown out of gear by the lopsided commercial transactions with this country.

In the first three months of 1936, for example, Germany bought $25,469,000 worth of American goods but sold us only $18,129,000. Germany was our fourth best foreign customer, accounting for 4.4 per cent of our total foreign sales. We were Germany's tenth best customer, taking only 3.2 per cent of her exports.

View on Treaties.

Germany's commercial treaties, according to Chicago experts on foreign trade, have little to do with international political considerations. Russia, Poland, Switzerland, Sweden, and eighteen other nations all have been dealt with much in the same manner. It makes no difference whether they are friends or enemies. The chief consideration is the desire of an almost poverty stricken nation to prevent a

DU PONT VOTES EXTRA DIVIDEND OF 70C A SHARE

Brings Payments for Year to $4.10.

Reflecting higher earnings which chemical and automobile industries have been enjoying, directors of E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. yesterday declared an extra dividend of 70 cents a share on common stock in addition to the regular disbursement of 90 cents a share. Both are payable Sept. 15 to stockholders of record Aug. 26.

Besides being the nation's largest chemical company, du Pont is the biggest holder of shares of the General Motors corporation, which has had sharply increased earnings. Du Pont's second quarter this year was the best in point of profits since the peak year of 1929, and it is reported its earnings are continuing on a high level.

Second Extra This Year.

The extra ordered yesterday was the second special disbursement of 70 cents a share voted this year. The first was made June 15. The payments ordered yesterday bring the total return to common stockholders this year to $4.10 a share.

Last year du Pont paid $3.10 in cash dividends on common and on Dec. 27 it made a distribution of one fifty-fifth of a share of common stock of General Motors corporation for each share of du Pont.

Payment of the special ordered yesterday was held to have been practically assured earlier this month when General Motors paid a 75 cent extra dividend.

Du Pont paid its regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the debenture stock, payable Oct. 24 to stockholders of record Oct. 10.

Vote Special Payment.

Wright-Hargreaves Mines, Ltd., gold mining company, yesterday authorized its usual extra dividend of 5 cents a share in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents a share. The company last year paid a total of 20 cents in extra dividends and in the preceding year it paid 10 cents in extras.

Reflecting an upturn in its business, the Schiff company, shoe store chain, yesterday raised its dividend on common stock from 50 to 75 cents a share.

The International Mining company declared a dividend of 15 cents a share on common stock. The company paid a dividend of 15 cents a share last March.

Directors of Associates Investment company declared an extra dividend of 25 cents a share on common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share and voted the regular quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock. They also called the balance of the 7 per cent preferred stock of the company for retirement Sept. 30.

Roads in West Cut Fares for Winter Travel

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

As a result of the marked success of their experiments with low fares to obtain business, the western railroads will put into effect on Oct. 1 unprecendented extensions of excursion fares for winter travel to and from the Pacific coast, Hugh W. Siddall, chairman of the Trans-Continental and Western Passenger associations, announced yesterday.

H. W. SIDDALL.

Siddall said that first class tickets on a basis of 2 cents a mile with a 30 day limit for return in either direction may be purchased up to May 14, next year. For tourist sleeping cars the rate will be 1.8 cents per mile and for coach travel it will be 1.35 cents a mile. The final date of purchase will be May 14 but a six months' return limit will be allowed.

The drastic fare cuts put into effect by the western roads in December, 1933, coupled with elimination of the Pullman surcharge, demonstrated that the public is as keen for bargains in transportation as in any form of merchandise, Siddall said. Since the reduced fares have been in operation there has been a steady increase in volume of travel.

Experiments with an extension of the low fare time limit last fall, he asserted, resulted in a 50 per cent increase in travel. He said surveys disclosed that in 1935-'36 more persons took winter vacations than in any previous winter season. Further, many persons are now dividing their vacations, taking a part in the summer and a part in the winter.

Siddall said figures just received disclose that in the first 75 days of the present low fare summer season there has been an increase of 43 per cent over the 1935 season. He added that the volume to date approximated the high figure of 1930, which was one of the best years in railroad travel.

Steel Plants' Operations Estimated Higher for Week

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Operations in the steel industry for the current week advanced 2.2 points to 72.2 per cent of plant capacity compared with 70.0 per cent last week, the American Iron and Steel institute estimated today. Operations averaged 70.9 per cent of capacity a month ago and 48.8 per cent a year ago.

Air Line Has Peak Trafic; Profits Rise

Net income of the United Air Lines Transportation corporation and subsidiaries for the second quarter of this year amounted to $222,625, equal to 21.3 cents a share on outstanding capital stock, compared with profit of $85,891, or 8.2 cents a share, in the corresponding 1935 period, W. A. Patterson, president, announced yesterday.

Patterson said the second quarter volume of business handled by the company was the largest for that period in its history.

Loss for Half Year.

While showing a substantial upturn because it represents a peak income period of early summer travel, second quarter profit was insufficient to offset a loss in the first period of this year. Operations for the first six months of 1936 resulted in a loss of $26,770 after adjustment of insurance reserve.

Patterson said that in establishing record passenger and cargo loads during the second quarter, United Air Lines flew 28,904,426 passenger revenue miles, compared with 24,988,222 in the same 1935 period, an increase of 16 per cent.

Mail Total Heavier.

The company flew 1,008,786,107 mail pound miles, compared with 824,810,779 in the second quarter of last year, a gain of 22 per cent. Express pound miles flown totaled 383,512,301, compared with 254,586,925 a year ago, an increase of 51 per cent.

To accommodate the increased traffic volume planes of the company flew 4,240,837 revenue plane miles, against 3,808,634 in the corresponding period of last year.

STANDARD OIL (IND.) PROFIT RISES SHARPLY

Goodyear's Earnings Best Since 1931.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana yesterday reported a sharp gain in earnings for the first six months of this year. Profits rose 67 per cent above 1935 and exceeded earnings for each full year from 1930 to and including 1934.

Net profit for the first half of 1936 was $22,015,537, equal to $1.45 a share on the 15,215,677 shares outstanding June 30. This compared with $13,191,166, or 87 cents a share, on the same number of shares during the first half of 1935.

Comparison of Earnings.

Corresponding earnings for the first half of other years were not available, but earnings for full prior years follow: 1935, $30,179,895, or $1.93 a share; 1934, $18,949,680, or $1.25 a share; 1933, $17,674,351, or $1.14 a share; 1932, $16,558,282, or $1.04 a share, and 1931, $17,596,396, or $1.04 a share.

In 1930 the company earned $46,371,438, or $2.73 a share. In the company's best year, 1929, earnings amounted to $78,482,855, or $4.66 a share.

The company explained that earnings for this year were for the parent

THE HARD-WORKING ANT summarily kills strangers who wander near his dug-out. Higher in the animal kingdom, a stranger is merely met with hatred. Among men, he is met, most often, with polite questioning. It is a rule of this bank that none who enters our doors is a stranger. At counter, teller's grille, and private desk, customers and public are met with more than perfunctory courtesy. There is a desire and a determination to make every visitor's call worthwhile to him.

STOCKS DROOP; TORRID WEATHER LIMITS TRADING

Volume Falls Well Below Million Share Mark.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 17.—Taking a page from the weather book, the stock market turned in a sluggish performance today as brokers elected to prolong the week-end to escape the stifling humidity. As a consequence stock prices at the close showed losses ranging from fractions to a point generally and to as much as 4 points in some of the more volatile issues.

The absence of speculative enthusiasm was reflected in the total sales for the session, which, for the first time since July 8, failed to reach 1,000,000 shares.

Spanish Revolt Blamed.

For want of a better excuse students of the market professed to see in the behavior of the list reflection of growing anxiety over the civil war in Spain, which may provide the spark to touch off a general European explosion. Some analysts, however, expressed the opinion that the stock table might have to undergo further technical readjustments of its position before being able to resume the advance.

Steel stocks stiffened moderately but were unable to regain much of early losses that amounted to a point or more in U. S. Steel common, Bethlehem, Youngstown, and Crucible.

News from the drouth areas of a fresh spell of hot weather took its toll in the carrier section of the list. Union Pacific was the hardest hit, sustaining a loss of 2½ points. Great Northern gave up more than a point, while Illinois Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, and New York Central declined fractions.

Farm Implements Decline.

Losses in the farm implement section, which extended to as much as 4 points in J. I. Case, also were attributed to drouth news. Oliver Farm lost only a fraction, but Deere lost 2½ points and International Harvester dipped almost as much. Spiegel-May-Stern receded more than 2 points in the mail orders. Montgomery Ward and Sears-Roebuck lost less than a point each.

Chrysler gave up an early gain as motors moved lower. Metal shares also were lower.

A handful of miscellaneous resisted the trend. Stocks to gain a point or more included International Business Machine, General Refractories, American News, Crown Cork and Seal, American Brake Shoe, Ritter Dental, National Supply, and McCall.

American Telephone pushed ahead a bit, but other utility shares found the going heavy. Airplanes descended. Phillip Morris opened 4 points lower, but recovered a good part of the loss.

MEMBER BANKS EXPAND TOTAL OF BUSINESS LOANS

Commercial loans made by member banks of the federal reserve system continued to expand last week, rising to $3,683,000,000 for the week ended Aug. 12, an increase of $43,000,000 over the preceding week and a gain of $463,000,000 over the corresponding week last year.

Demand deposits increased $71,000,000 from the preceding week to reach a total of $14,752,000,000. Time deposits increased $6,000,000 to $5,021,000,000.

Holding of direct obligations of the United States government declined $62,000,000 to $9,380,000,000 on Aug. 12. On the same date last year holdings of these obligations aggregated $7,849,000,000. Other changes in position were negligible.

Following are comparisons of the principal assets and liabilities of the weekly reporting member banks of the federal reserve system in 101 leading cities of the United States as at the close of business Wednesday [last six ciphers omitted]:

URGES FEDERAL HOUSING UNDER LOCAL CONTROL

Chicago Group Asks Long Term Plan, Low Rents.

BY AL CHASE.

Decentralization of federal housing and its extension over a long period, with local control and rentals of not more than $6 per room per month, were urged in a letter sent to Public Works Administrator Ickes by the executive committee of the Chicago General Advisory Board on Housing, of which Gen. Robert E. Wood, president of Sears, Roebuck & Company, is chairman. The letter and a reply by Ickes were made public yesterday.

R. E. WOOD.

Gen. Wood asserted that a housing authority to operate the local housing projects of the PWA was essential and pointed out that under the present Illinois laws full taxes will have to be paid to the city by such an authority. No mention was made of the Chicago Housing authority named by Mayor Kelly on June 7, 1934, which has never functioned.

Urges Federal Subsidy.

Gen. Wood said that some form of subsidy must be set up to aid in properly housing the lower income group.

Almost simultaneously with the charges made by the Republican national committee that Ickes' Atlanta slum project, planned for families unable to pay more than $3.08 a room per month, will have rentals of $7.39, Gen. Wood's letter has this to say:

"The committee is unanimously of the opinion that if public housing in Chicago is to attain its object, rentals must be brought down to a basis of not over $6 per room per month, including heat, water and light.

"The committee would, therefore, welcome in any extension of the present PWA program the inclusion of further demonstration projects which would endeavor to provide minimum housing essentials without other amenities which would increase the rental."

Rap Elaborate Equipment.

According to the Republican committee criticism, Ickes "amenities" at Atlanta included "playgrounds, a wading pool, tennis courts, and a graveled parking space. Metal trimmed casement windows, asphalt tiled floors, linoleum covered floors in closets, on stairs, stair halls and kitchens. Hardware is of cast bronze.

"Apartments are completely equipped with radio outlets, modern kitchen equipment, garbage chutes, incinerators, electric fans in laundries and electric hot plates over which to dry the family washing. There are recessed porcelain bathtubs, porcelain enameled sinks and all bath fixtures are finished in chromium."

Criticism of the housing activities of the PWA in the letter to Ickes was directed at the size of the housing program and the centralization of the program in Washington.

Sees Errors in Program.

"Any administration, without previous experience, that attempts to spend $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 for a housing program in a space of two years, over a country with as widely varying conditions as the United States, is bound to make errors" Gen. Wood said in his letter to Ickes.

Ickes in his reply to Gen. Wood said: "I shall greatly welcome the establishment of a housing authority in Chicago with satisfactory legal powers. The matter of taxation, to which you refer, can, no doubt, be worked out."

On Gen. Wood's executive committee of the general advisory board on housing, which was appointed in February, 1935, are Graham Aldis, Henry P. Chandler, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, John T. Pirie, George A. Richardson, Col. Albert A. Sprague, Alfred K. Stern, John Stuart, and George W. Young.

Dixie-Vortex Writedown Changed, Due to New Tax

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Plans of the Dixie-Vortex company for writing down its good will and patents have been modified because of the federal surtax on undistributed earnings, it was announced today by Robert C. Fenner, president. Instead of writing off these items to the extent of $1,313,340, the write-down will be $813,340, leaving a balance on the books of $500,000, Fenner said. This amount is in addition to that still shown in the consolidated balance sheet as the actual cost of patents, less reserves.

Veterans' Bonus Payments Now Total $1,239,000,000

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Veterans' bonus certificates continue to drift into the country's banks for redemption into cash, a total of $20,300,000 having been paid out last week, bringing the total for the country to $1,239,000,000.

Tennessee Land Owners Sue to Block TVA Dam Project

The bill, filed in answer to a land condemnation suit brought by the TVA against W. T. Maddox, F. S. Maddox, and Ellie Maddox, charges that the purpose of the $32,000,000 project here is not for promoting national defense, navigation and flood control, as claimed, but is for the "distribution and sale of electrical current for profit" and that the act creating the TVA is "unconstitutional and void to the extent that it authorizes the Authority to build dams, power houses, etc., for the primary purpose of sale and profit."

Second Attack on TVA.

This is the second attack on the TVA here in as many weeks. A temporary restraining order was granted by Chancellor J. L. Foust last Tuesday blocking Chattanooga's move to get public distribution of TVA power.

The order, which was set for hearing tomorrow, prohibits the Chattanooga electric power board and the city of Chattanooga from signing a contract with the TVA; from issuing any part of its $8,000,000 power bonds and from making any move to construct a publicly owned distribution system.

Attorney Jere Tipton, who represents the Maddoxes, stated that if the contentions are upheld by the court, the construction of Chickamauga dam, in his opinion, would be blocked.

Charge Proceedings Are Illegal.

In resisting the condemnation proceedings, the bill asserts:

"The act of congress creating the Tennessee Valley Authority is unconstitutional and void to the extent that it authorizes the authority to build dams, power houses, etc., for the primary purpose of producing electricity for the purpose of sale and profit.

"The act has been so construed by the authority, which is in excess of the constitutional right of congress to grant. The act as construed and administered, is in violation of the tenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, and therefore beyond the authority of congress to grant."

SUE TO ENJOIN PLATTE VALLEY POWER PROJECT

Ogallala, Neb., Aug. 17.—(AP)—F. Q. Feltz, retired lawyer and farmer of Keystone, Neb., today filed suit in Keith county district court to enjoin the further operation of the 9,700,000 Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation district. The district, a PWA project, is nearing completion of its hydro-electric plant.

Feltz, who asserts he has owned riparian rights on land just below the Platte valley's diversion dam at Keystone for 48 years, contends his land is being destroyed by the project's diversion of water from the North Platte river watershed to the South Platte river watershed.

The action, he said, is based on the Nebraska Supreme court's recent ruling in the central Nebraska [tri-county] Public Power and Irrigation district water rights case in which the court ruled it was illegal to divert water from the Platte river watershed for use in the Republican river watershed.

He also contends the Platte Valley project's alleged diversion would establish a diversion principal and then Nebraska no longer could dispute the right of Colorado to make the trans-mountain diversions which are at issue before the United States Supreme court in the suit of Nebraska against Wyoming and Colorado over North Platte river water rights.

AMERICAN CHAIN PLANS CHANGES IN CAPITALIZATION

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The American Chain company has called a special meeting of common stockholders for Sept. 4 to vote on a proposed reclassification of 140,000 shares of authorized but unissued preferred stock, an increase in the authorized common stock to 500,000 shares from 357,143 shares, and the elimination from authorized capital stock of the preferred stock not reclassified when all of the outstanding shares of existing 7 per cent preferred have been purchased or otherwise retired.

These changes would be made in conjunction with a proposed new plan dealing with the present preferred stock on which dividends are in arrears and involving a new convertible preferred stock. Final details of the new plan have not been announced.

First Strike Under Lewis' New Steel Union Started

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The first strike among constituent lodges of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers since John L. Lewis began his campaign toward unionization of the steel industry was called today at two plants of the Standard Steel Spring company at Coraopolis, Pa. About 200 of 750 workers walked out upon summons of officials of Lodge 209, who asserted the management repudiated its agreement to recognize the union.

Federal Treasury Buys $15,466,700 Bonds in July

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Net market purchases of government securities for treasury investment accounts for July amounted to $15,466,700, compared with $30,765,000 in June, it was announced today. The treasury makes purchases for the veterans' administration, the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, its own account, and for other government agencies dealing in government securities.

NAZI POLICIES REVEAL GERMAN TRADE PLIGHT

leakage of its small remaining reserves of foreign exchange and gold by forcing each foreign country from which it buys to buy as much in return.

Most of the commercial treaties so far arranged fall into three groups.

The first group includes Great Britain, Belgium and France, to each of whom Germany sells more goods than it buys. In the case of these nations the German exporter delivers the foreign exchange derived from his sales to the Reichsbank. Part of this foreign exchange is used to service certain debts, such as the Dawes and Young loans and debts covered by the "standstill" agreement.

The balance of the foreign exchange is made available to German importers so that they can make necessary purchases abroad, provided the importer has official permission to buy abroad and provided he buys only goods from these particular countries. These nations require special consideration because they buy more than they sell, thus holding a club over the reich.

Agreement Less Favorable.

The second group of treaties — including those with Russia and certain South American states—are less favorable to the nations involved. If an Argentine exporter, for example, sells meat in Germany he receives payments in "blocked" marks deposited to his account in a German commercial bank.

These "blocked" marks are retained in the bank until some German exporter sells a bill of goods in Argentina. Then they are cleared, the Argentine meat merchant getting his cash in Argentine money derived from the sale of German goods in that country. Thus Germany always has a commercial debt to the countries involved in addition to any investment debt she may owe. The business man who exports to Germany under this arrangement waits 3 to 9 months for payment.

The third and most important type, the so-called "clearing" treaty now in force between Germany and 22 other nations, including Italy, Norway, Jugo-Slavia, Poland, Hungary and Lithuania, is even less favorable to the foreign business man who sells to Germany.

Assume All Risks.

The latter, unlike the business man in group 2, takes all the risks of possible fluctuations in foreign exchange quotations. The proceeds of his sales to Germany are impounded in the Reichsbank—instead of a commercial bank—and a special bureau, called the "German clearing office," allots him his payment when, as, and if German exporters sell an equivalent amount of merchandise in his country.

Germany's dissatisfaction with her American trade relations, in addition to the lack of a commercial treaty and the fact that the balance of trade is unfavorable to Germany, lies in the fact that even when she sells goods here American importers do not pay in American currency, which can be converted into additional foreign exchange. They pay mostly with registered marks, which are the proceeds of old German debts to the United States. Thus Germany reduces her debts by selling goods to this country, but she doesn't get the urgently needed foreign exchange.

SALE OF LUXURY GOODS SHOW SHARP UPTURN IN SECOND QUARTER

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—After slackening their improvement pace in the first three months of 1936, sales of "prosperity goods" spurted spectacularly in the second quarter, led by two outright luxury lines—sporting goods and luggage, the Northwestern National Life Insurance company reported today. Gains in the second quarter raised figures for the first half year well above those of the corresponding period of 1935 in all seven key lines of goods covered in the company's current "prosperity buying" survey.

Sales of sporting goods in the 236 department stores covered by the survey were 32.3 per cent greater for the second quarter and 24 per cent greater for the first six months than in the corresponding periods of a year ago.

Luggage sales, reflecting tremendously increased tourist travel, were a close second in the margin of improvement shown, with a gain of 30.9 per cent for the second quarter compared with a year ago, pushing dollar volume for the first half year 22 per cent ahead of the corresponding half of last year.

LARGE COPPER PRODUCERS MAY BOOST OUTPUT

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—Some of the larger domestic copper producers are considering plans for increasing output, it was learned today. An improved position, resulting from rising domestic consumption and control over production, was said to have led to a definite decision to expand in sections of the industry which had been operating at a rate well under capacity.

One of the companies mentioned is Kennecott Copper company. Officials admitted that such plans were being studied, but concerning the extent of the proposed production boost no information was available.

Domestic companies are not bound by any pact regulating production such as governs the activities of foreign companies. Under an agreement reached a few weeks ago foreign producers are now turning out metal on a somewhat larger scale than was provided under terms of a curtailment program adopted early in 1935. The rise was voted because of a largely increased demand.

Hecla Mining to Postpone Dividend; New Tax Cause

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The Hecla Mining Company's fourth quarter dividend, ordinarily paid Nov. 15, will be postponed until as late as practicable and the date and amount of distribution will be announced during the latter part of November, L. J. Hoban, secretary, announced today. Hoban said the reason is the revenue act of 1936. Distribution Nov. 15 would necessitate declaration in the early part of October, almost three months prior to the year end and too far in advance to intelligently estimate 1936 earnings and to guage the effect of the surtax, he said.

Newspaper Advertising Increased by Retailers

Advertising placed by retailers in newspapers of 66 major cities during the 32 weeks ended Aug. 8 was 27,229,882 lines larger than that placed in the same cities during the corresponding period of 1935, Advertising Age reported yesterday. Total retail advertising volume in these cities during the period was 524,363,000 lines, against 497,133,880 lines last year, a 5.5 per cent gain. For the week ended Aug. 8 advertising totaled 14,421,121 lines, an increase of 13.8 per cent over the like 1935 week.

Court Permits Prima's Officials to Operate Plant

Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday authorized officials of the Prima company, Chicago brewery which last Friday filed a voluntary reorganization petition, to remain in possession of the property and set Sept. 14 for a hearing on permanent possession pending reorganization. Judge Barnes also gave the company sixty days to file a new plan, and directed that no salaries be paid to officials or directors with the exception of $300 a week to G. C. Skinner, executive vice president, and $135 a week to Andrew J. Reen, secretary and auditor.

Lamp Company Announces 10 to 20 Pct. Cut in Prices

OUTLOOK FOR AVIATION COMPANIES IMPROVED BY OPERATING GAINS

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Earnings outlook for aviation companies has been improved by marked increases in operations, according to a report appearing in Poor's industry and investment surveys.

In the first half of this year 421,587 passengers, a 32 per cent gain over the same 1935 period, were carried in airplanes. Passenger miles flown increased 29 per cent.

"Air mail poundage continues to make new records with May volume running at 1,444,013 pounds, or 30 per cent over May, 1935," the report said. "Postoffice officials have estimated the volume for the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1936, at 15,200,000 pounds, a 41 per cent increase over the previous fiscal period.

"Even greater expansion has marked the air express division, with 2,911,775 pounds carried in the first six months, a 106 per cent gain over the comparable 1935 period. Such operating results are bringing most of the transport companies to a point where they can break even, with some even showing net earnings."

FOREIGN MONEYS STEADY DESPITE SPANISH CONFLICT

In the face of continued unsettlement in Europe over the fresh rebel victories in Spain, foreign currencies held remarkably steady in New York yesterday.

French francs improved, rising 3-16 point to close at 6.58 11-16 cents, and Dutch guilders gained 1 point to 67.92 cents. Swiss francs remained at 32.60 cents, but Belgian belgas lost ⅛ point to 16.85 cents. The British pound dipped ⅛ cent to $5.02⅝.

The first of the gold recently contracted for in Paris arrived in New York over the week-end. The Federal Reserve bank of New York reported the arrival of $8,962,400 in metal, of which $7,243,200 came from France, $1,183,900 from Mexico, $345,900 from England, and $189,400 from India. In addition, the bank was advised of the receipt at San Francisco of $1,441,000 of the metal from Hongkong. The Mexican shipment did not go into the United States' gold stock but was placed in the stock of the metal held here under earmark for foreign account.

I. C. C. POSTPONES JOINT RAIL-TRUCK FREIGHT RATES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today continued until Dec. 5 an order which, in effect, restrains Keeshin Motor Express company of Chicago and the Chicago Great Western railway from establishing joint rates for motor-rail transportation between the east and points in the midwest.

Originally, the commission ordered establishment of the new rates postponed until Sept. 6 in order that it might investigate their effect on public interest. The commission said today the additional period until Dec. 5 would be necessary to complete the investigation.

Under the proposed rates, Keeshin trucks would carry shipments from origin points to stations on the Chicago Great Western. The trucks would be loaded on flat cars, transported to points near their final destination and then would take the highway again to deliver goods to the doors of consignees.

Treasury Sells Note Issue at Rate of 0.194 Per Cent

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Taylor of the treasury announced tonight that an offer of $50,000,000 in 273 day treasury bills brought subscriptions of $182,740,000, of which $50,064,000 was accepted. The average price was 99.853, or at an average interest rate of 0.194 per cent.

2¾ Million Fees Asked in Missouri-Kansas Case

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Petitions for allowances aggregating $2,705,051 have been filed in Chancery court in the settlement procedure of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company receivership. Notices of a hearing on the petitions Sept. 9 are being sent to the 30,000 stockholders.

More of Leading Railroads Report Gains in Earnings

Improved earnings for the first six months of 1936 were reported yesterday by more leading railroads. At the same time trafic reports for last week, issued by other roads, disclosed an irregular trend.

For the first six months the Southern Pacific reported net income of $113,912 after taxes and charges, equal to 3 cents a share on 3,722,777 shares of capital stock, compared with a net loss of $3,323,895 in the first six months of 1935.

Had Loss Year Ago.

The Kansas City Southern showed net income of $210,448 after taxes and charges for the six months ended June 30, equal to $1 a share on the 4 per cent noncumulative preferred stock. This compares with a net loss of $774,147 in the first six months last year.

The Louisville and Nashville had net income for the half year period of $3,304,018 after taxes and charges, equal to $2.82 a share on 1,170,000 shares of capital stock, against net income of $1,465,021, or $1.25 a share, in the first six months a year ago.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system reported for the six months a net loss of $526,422, after taxes and charges. This compares with a net income of $1,424,398 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Freight Trafic Trends.

Freight trafic dipped on the Santa Fe, the Rock Island, and the Milwaukee railroads last week compared with the previous week. The Baltimore and Ohio reported a gain and the North Western's rose to another peak.

The five railroads reporting loadings all showed substantial gains over the year ago figures.

Wk. ended Aug. 15.	Prev. wk.	Yr. ago.
Milwaukee	31,050	32,103	26,525
Rock Island	24,404	25,416	21,434
Santa Fe	25,724	26,363	23,617

TRUSTEE URGES NEWMAN FIRM'S ASSETS BE SOLD

A petition recommending sale of the remaining assets of the W. J. Newman Construction company, which is being liquidated under Section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act, was taken under advisement yesterday by Charles T. Adams, referee in bankruptcy.

Bids aggregating $51,650 for the remaining assets, including all machinery and trucks owned by the company and an office building at 21 North Curtis street, were recommended for acceptance in the petition filed by Attorney Leslie E. Salter on behalf of Paul Klein-exel, liquidating trustee. The prospective purchaser was not disclosed.

Newman was accused by the federal government of evading $1,000,000 in income taxes. In a compromise settlement, the government agreed to accept $75,000, payable $1,500 every three months. Newman paid only $6,000 and the government therefore will get everything in the sale of the company's assets, it was said yesterday.

SAN FRANCISCO BANK TO DEFEND SUIT ON RESERVE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—(AP)—Officials of the Federal Reserve board said today that the San Francisco reserve bank would have charge of defending a suit brought there attacking the constitutionality of the reserve board's order increasing the legal reserve requirements of member banks.

The suit was instituted on Saturday by Andrae B. Norskog, of Los Angeles, who asserted in his complaint that the board's order was arbitrary and was an unconstitutional usurpation of the powers of congress.

The suit named only the San Francisco reserve bank and did not include the reserve board. For that reason, it was said, the defense would be left to the San Francisco reserve bank's legal staf.

TRADE FAILURES AGAIN DECLINE TO 16 YEAR LOW

New York, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—Business failures last week again scraped a new low point of the last sixteen years, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., reported today. The total for the week ended Aug. 13 was 149, which compares with 145 in the preceding week and 197 in the comparable period of 1935.

Few business failures of $5,000 or more in liabilities occurred. These numbered 82, which was 55 per cent of the total. In the preceding week, the percentage was 62.

Business failures in Canada aggregated 21, or four more than in the previous week. In the 1935 comparative, the total was 27.

Fleischmann Employes Get 10 Per Cent Pay Boost

Pekin, Ill., Aug. 17.—[Special.]—The two hundred employés of the local Fleischmann yeast plant have been given a 10 per cent increase in salaries, effective Aug. 15. The raise is a restoration of a cut made in 1931.

INSURANCE MEN BLAME FEDERAL POLICIES FOR DECLINE IN BUSINESS

Insurance men here yesterday gave some explanation of why new life insurance sales throughout the country during the first seven months of this year fell 4.3 per cent below a year ago, as shown in a recent report by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

"The business has been flat this year," one insurance man frankly admitted, explaining that the government's "easy money" policy has cut the companies' income on investments to such an extent that rates have had to be raised and dividends cut, discouraging new business in the insurance field.

In addition, agents for various companies have found a genuine fear of inflation among the people who are the larger buyers of insurance, principally for investment purposes. These people have expressed a desire to refrain from heavy insurance investment in view of the administration's fiscal policies, the agents said, as they suspect inflationary means will be used to cover governmental deficits. Under such circumstances they would realize far less purchasing power from their fixed insurance investment in a period when inflation would boost costs of living.

The small buyers of insurance are not affected so much by the inflation factor, but in this field the insurance men have run into real competition this year from makers of luxury goods, such as automobiles, radios, refrigerators, etc., toward which the money is drifting rather than into insurance.

FRENCH IMPORTS EXCEED EXPORTS IN LAST MONTH

Paris, Aug. 17.—[Special.]—French foreign trade returns for July, made public today, showed imports larger than a year ago, valued at 1,851,000,000 francs, against 1,742,000,000 francs in July, 1935. [The franc is currently quoted at about 6.59 cents.] Exports, on the other hand, amounted to 1,101,000,000 francs, against 1,102,000,000 francs in July last year, causing an increase in the trade deficit to 750,000,000 francs from 640,000,000 last year.

For the first seven months imports were valued at 13,804,000,000 francs, against 12,320,000,000 in the first seven months last year, while exports declined to 8,273,000,000 from 9,058,000,000. The trade deficit increased to 5,531,000,000 francs for the first seven months from 3,262,000,000 francs in the same period a year ago.

For the first seven months the volume of imports increased by 1,126,288 tons, while exports declined 360,810 tons.

Holly Sugar Will Build Plant to Process Beets

New York, Aug. 17.—(AP)—The Holly Sugar corporation today announced that construction of a new factory at Hardin, Mont., would start immediately with a view to having it completed in time to process the 1937 beet crop. The factory will be a 1,500 ton house, with a capacity to produce approximately 500,000 bags of sugar annually.

GARRICK THEATER FIRM FILES PLEA TO REORGANIZE

Plan Is Also Submitted to Federal Court.

A petition for reorganization under section 77B of the bankruptcy act was filed in the United States District court yesterday by the Garrick Building corporation, which operates the Garrick theater and office building at 64 West Randolph street.

LOUIS SULLIVAN.

The theater property is one of the best known in Chicago's rialto district, long housing the legitimate drama before being converted into a movie theater several years ago.

Attorney M. Robert Sturman, who filed the bankruptcy petition on behalf of the building corporation, which operates the property under long term lease, said that liabilities approximate $650,000, including an unpaid first mortgage of $537,000 and a debt to the Northern Trust company for tax advances amounting to $122,000. The Northern Trust is the trustee for the owner of the ground.

Lease Principal Asset.

According to the petition the principal asset of the building corporation is the leasehold which was obtained Jan. 21, 1920, and expires March 3, 1989. The case was assigned to Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward.

In presenting the petition, Sturman offered a plan of reorganization which he said had received the assent of 80 per cent of the bonds outstanding. He asked that the court approve the plan.

The reorganization plan provides that a new corporation be set up which would be known as the 64 West Randolph Building corporation to take over the assets of the old company, including the leasehold estate.

It provides that 5,850 shares of $2 par common stock be issued, of which 5,270 will be apportioned to the holders of first mortgage bonds on a basis of 1 share for each $100 of bonds now held. Present stockholders would receive 580 shares. The apportionment of the new common stock is on a basis of 90 per cent to the bond holders and 10 per cent to the present stockholders.

Reach Accord in Taxes.

The company owed taxes from 1928 to 1934 amounting to $155,097, paying off only $6,200. Under the reorganization plan the new company agrees to pay off the balance of $148,889 on or before Dec. 31, 1937. In return for this agreement the Northern Trust company, which advanced the taxes under its position as trustee, according to the plan, agrees to drop a judgment suit against the building corporation.

The Northern Trust, it was set forth in the petition, has agreed to reduce the annual rental from $65,000 to $27,000.

The Garrick Theater building was designed by the late Louis Sullivan, noted Chicago architect.

New York, Aug. 17. — Volume of trading in bonds on the New York exchange today was the smallest for a full session since Sept. 13, 1933. The day's turnover was only $6,145,000, par value, compared with $9,114,000 last Friday. On Sept. 13, 1933, transfers totaled $4,817,000. Sales of government bonds totaled only $170,000, against $980,000 Friday.

High Grade Issues Firm.

General improvement in the sugar situation resulted in a brisk demand for outstanding bonds of leading sugar companies. Franciscan Sugar 7½s added 4¼ points to the recent advance, while Camaguey 7s rose 1¼ points and Manati 7½s advanced a point.

Elsewhere throughout the domestic corporate section, however, prices fluctuated irregularly and displayed no definite price trend. Secondary rails were quiet and mixed, as were the pivotal industrial and utility loans.

Federal List Mixed.

Although trading in United States government bonds was about as quiet and narrow as has been witnessed in several weeks, three of the treasury loans established new high records since their issuance.

Net changes in the government group showed gains of 2-32 point to declines of the same amount.

A drop of 2¼ points in Italian government 7s to 80 featured otherwise routine dealings in the market for foreign dollar bonds. Other European issues, however, held steady to firm.

Massachusetts Investors Trust.

Investor's Guide: Will you kindly send me what information you have on the Massachusetts Investors Trust?—M. R. A.

Answer: Massachusetts Investors Trust was organized in Massachusetts in 1924 as an investment trust of the general management type. Investments include shares of railroads, industrial corporations, banks, insurance companies, and public utilities.

Directors have the power to borrow money up to 50 per cent of the liquidating value of the stocks held, but the trustees state that that is not the policy to borrow money for investment purposes.

The company reported the net asset value of its shares at $26.30 on June 30, 1936. This compared with $24.03 on Dec. 31, 1935, and $20.42 on June 30, 1935. Net assets on June 30 were $100,481,000.

Net income was $820,000 in the first quarter of 1936 and profit on sale of securities was $903,000. Net income in 1935 was $691,000 and profit on sale of securities was $2,054,000.

The company paid its 47th consecutive quarterly dividend on July 20, 1936, amounting to 21 cents a share. Three months earlier a quarterly payment of 21 cents was made.

The price at which the shares are offered is based on the liquidating value plus a premium of 8 per cent. The management receives compensation of 6 per cent of the trust's gross income, exclusive of capital gains.

We do not attempt to rate investment trust securities.

Illinois Central R. R.

Investors' Guide: Will you please advise me what part of the Illinois Central railroad system comprises the so-called "leased lines"? I would like to know the terminals and in what states they operate.—C. F. B.

Answer: Total main line track of the Illinois Central system is 4,973 miles. Of the total mileage 1,016 miles of track are owned by proprietary corporation and not formally leased; 1,527 miles are operated under lease for a specified sum. Leased lines are operated in all parts of the system's territory. Operations are mainly in Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee, Alabama, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Missouri, and Minnesota.

Average Gain for Session Is 20 Cents.

The hog market yesterday soared to new 1936 peaks as receipts fell to the lowest Monday mark in three months. Advances of 15 to 25 cents were scored in Chicago, with the top price rising to $11.85, or 20 cents above the close of last week. Eastern markets reported top hogs at $12.00 to $12.15, while the lowest of the big middle west markets sold top grades at $11.15.

The average price at Chicago advanced 20 cents over the close of the week to $10.45, a rise of 55 cents in six days.

Most of the closely sorted 190 to 250 pound averages sold at $11.60 to $11.80, with 260 to 300 pound butchers ranging from $11.00 to $11.55. Sows comprised about 50 per cent of the receipts, although the movement of this type showed some signs of decreasing.

Light Kinds Advance.

Pigs and unfinished lights that were swamping all markets ten days ago were scarce yesterday and shared in the full strength of the rise. Some of these are selling $1.00 to $1.50 above the recent low spot.

Cattle receipts were comparatively heavy, but a stronger undercurrent existed and many lighter weights and yearling steers sold slightly above last week's close. Top steers reached $10.00, the bulk selling from $7.75 to $9.25.

Best action centered in the yearling hefers again. These advanced 25 cents to $9.65, a new high for the season. There was less evidence of "drouth stock," and these shared in the better demand at stronger rates. Beef cows were steady.

Lamb Market Slumps.

The lamb market continued to run counter to the general trend. Prices in this division slumped 25 cents or more. Top natives to city butchers reached $9.75, the bulk selling at $9.00 to $9.50, with culls downward from $6.75 and buck native lambs down from $8.75.

Most fat range lambs ranged from $9.00 to $9.50, packers getting "seconds" at $7.75 to $8.25. Country buyers paid a new 1936 high of $8.35 for a shipment of range feeding lambs despite the weakness in slaughter stock the last few days.

WHY SHOP?

WE MAKE YOUR MORTGAGE WITHOUT DELAY OR TROUBLE FHA GOVERNMENT PLAN.

We are direct mortgage solicitors for various insurance companies and banks. We are anxious to make 4½% and 5% loans on homes and apartments up to 20 years. Also construction loans—and pay out while building is under way. Competent advice in architectural and other details; no commission on choice loans, a small commission on others. We protect attorneys, builders, and brokers. No red tape, no long street car rides. Yes or no in 24 hrs. Phone or write us. No obligation.

Killers Sentenced to Electric Chair—500 Spanish Rebels Burned to Death—Hunt Clews in Hotel Slaying
